BOND ISSUE BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE, ALSO CHARTER PLAN

Aldermanic Group to Send Proposals to Board Tomorrow — Mayor Urges Action on Financing.

The aldermanic legislation committee today approved a bill calling for a special election May 26 on the proposed $110,639,000 bond issue for municipal improvements.

It voted also to recommend passage of a bill for a special election June 21 on appointment of 13 freeholders to draft a new city charter.

Both actions were by unanimous vote.

Committee Chairman Anton Niemeyer said both measures will be presented to the Board of Aldermen tomorrow for final reading.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker has urged that the bill for an election on the bond issue be passed at once under suspension of rules. Since it carries an emergency clause, it would become effective immediately the Mayor signed it.

Legal requirements for advertising an election make it necessary for legislation to be enacted not later than Thursday if the bond issue is to be submitted to the voters on May 26.

The committee on legislation withheld immediate approval of the election bill last Thursday so that its members might question city officials about some of the projects in the bond issue program.

Tucker Questioned.

After interrogating Mayor Tucker about plans for park improvements, the members expressed their satisfaction with the bond issue program and voted to report the bill out with a recommendation that it pass.

Niemeyer said the bond issue election bill had been held up because some committee members wanted additional information about parks, playgrounds and street improvements proposed in the bond issue program. They believe that certain improvements of this type were promised when the 1944 bond issue was submitted, but never carried out, he added.

The 1944 bond issue program, amounting to $43,527,000, was drafted in the belief that the end of World War II would bring drastic curtailment of production and employment, and most of the projects were to be delayed until the expected recession. The slump failed to materialize, however. Employment went up, not down. So did prices and building costs, with the result that some of the bond allocations of 1944 proved inadequate to finance the intended projects in later years.

Didn't Get Park.

Alderman Everett Taylor, of the Twenty-seventh ward, said his neighborhood for many years had been promised a park at Lillian and Oriole avenues. The 1944 bond issue, which allocated $3,625,000 to parks and playgrounds, was to have provided this, but the park still has not been developed, he complained.

A park at Lillian and Oriole, to cost $75,000, is one of the projects in the new bond issue program.

A charter that will give St. Louis more home rule is one of the city's pressing needs, Mayor Tucker has stated in repeated appeals to the aldermen to authorize an election on this issue.

Typhoon Misses Okinawa.

MANILA, April 25 (AP)—An out-of-season Pacific typhoon was located about 400 miles southeast of Okinawa at 8 a.m. Manila time, the Philippine weather bureau reported today. It carried maximum winds of 90 miles an hour and had curved northeastward. It first had threatened Formosa and Okinawa.

EISENHOWER PLANS ATOM PEACE SHIP TO SAIL GLOBE

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower today unveiled plans to send a new atomic powered merchant ship around the globe in a dramatic demonstration of America's determination to win "a just and lasting peace."

The new vessel, the President said, would travel thousands of miles without refueling and "will demonstrate to people everywhere this peacetime use of atomic energy, harnessed for the improvement of human living."

Mr. Eisenhower disclosed his intention to ask Congress for funds to build the new ship in a speech at the annual luncheon meeting of the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. About 1300 publishers and editors were on hand for the start of newspaper week in New York.

The President coupled his surprise announcement of plans for the atomic-powered ship with a new plea for congressional enactment of the administration program to cut tariffs 15 per cent over the next three years.

Mr. Eisenhower made no direct mention of Red China's weekend offer to negotiate with the United States to relax tension in the Formosa area. But in an obvious reference to Communist China and Russia, the President said "certain dictatorships have engaged in a deliberately conceived drive which periodically creates alarms and fears of war."

Mr. Eisenhower spoke also of the "unprecentended crises of these days—packed with danger," and linked the idea of freer world trade to the battle against "godless Communism."

"Either we foster flourishing trade between the free nations or we weaken the free world and our own economy," the President said.

The Administration's bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act three years has passed the House but still faces rough going in the Senate.

Rejection of the program, Mr. Eisenhower said, "would constitute a serious setback to our hopes for global peace."

He said that on the other hand: "Two-way trade, I believe, is a broad avenue by which all men and nations of good will can travel toward a golden era of peace and plenty."

Mr. Eisenhower said his Administration "shall not be found bound by a slavish adherence to precedent or halted by the lack of it" in searching for enduring peace. It was against the background of that concept that he made this announcement:

"We have added to the United States program for peaceful uses of atomic energy an atomic-powered merchant ship. The

BIG 3 MINISTERS TO MEET IN PARIS MAY 8 ON PARLEY WITH RUSSIANS

U.S. Says West 'Hopes 4-Power Conference Can Meet as Soon as Possible' — 'Preliminary' Talks Set.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP)—The Western Big Three Foreign Ministers will meet in Paris May 8 "to discuss concrete plans for holding a four-power conference with the Soviet Government."

The State Department in announcing this today said the United States, Britain and France "earnestly hope that a four-power conference can meet as soon as possible."

The brief announcement did not say at what level it hoped the meeting with Russia could be held. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have said in the past that a Foreign Ministers' conference should precede any meeting of heads of state.

Russian View.

Moscow has indicated a desire for a meeting of Premier Bulganin with President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Eden. In talking to reporters at a diplomatic reception last Saturday, Bulganin said he was interested in such a conference and that it was up to Mr. Eisenhower and Eden to set a date.

(In London, Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan declared that Britain would gladly take part in talks with Russia "at any level, whether heads of government or foreign ministers," the United Press reported. Foreign Office sources said the type of meeting would depend very much on President Eisenhower's wishes.)

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer, told a press conference later today he knows nothing to substantiate a British newspaper's report that Mr. Eisenhower planned to meet with Bulganin and Eden in Stockholm.

Reference to Germany.

Suydam emphasized that when German problems are involved, the western nations are ready to have Germany not only consulted but an actual participant in their preparations for such a meeting.

Suydam termed the proposed conference with the Russians "a new attempt for the settlement of outstanding European problems."

In preparation for the May 8 Paris meeting, American, British and French technical experts will meet in London Wednesday to make what the State Department called "a preliminary study" of the problems to be discussed by the Foreign Ministers.

"The governments of France, the United Kingdom and the United States," the announcement said, "have consistently given proof of their desire to seek by negotiation the just and peaceful settlement of questions which might disturb the maintenance of enduring peace.

"Moved by the same desire, the three foreign ministers will meet in Paris on May 8 in order to discuss concrete plans for holding a four-power conference with the Soviet government.

"In accordance with usual practice they will also discuss this question with the Chancellor (Konrad Adenaur) of the German Federal Republic and ministers of other NATO governments.

"Experts designated by the three governments will meet in London on April 27 to make a preliminary study of these problems in preparation for the ministers' discussions.

"The three governments earnestly hope that a four-power conference can meet as soon as possible."

American Group Leaves.

Jacob Beam, director of the State Department's Office of Eastern European Affairs, and six assistants left yesterday by plane for London to represent the United States at the preparatory three-power talks.

American officials said they believed any four-power conference should deal strictly with European problems such as Germany's future and European security generally.

The May 8 date for the session of Big Three foreign ministers is one day before a meeting of the North Atlantic pact council which has been set for May 9-11.

Big 3 Envoys Meet on Austrian Treaty Talks.

VIENNA, April 25 (UP)—Envoys of the Western Big Three powers met today to prepare for a conference with Russia on an Austrian peace treaty next Monday.

The western powers proposed that a meeting of Big Four ambassadors be held here May 2 in notes to Moscow last Friday. The notes suggested that if and when the ambassadors reach agreement on a treaty the foreign ministers should then meet to sign it.

Moscow has not given a reply to the western proposal.

GENERAL USES 'STOOPNAGLEISM' TO END DISCUSSION

Here they were asking the House Military Appropriations subcommittee to approve $1,235,897,000 for "logistical support." Chairman George H. Mahon (Dem.), had asked them to explain "logistics" in everyday language.

Maj. Gen. F. A. Bogart quoted the 17-word dictionary definition: "That branch of military art which embraces the details of transport, quartering and supply of troops."

Mahon was still "a little fuzzy" about it.

Maj. Gen. D. F. Callahan came up with a "Stoopnagle definition" which ended the discussion: "Logistics is the stuff which if you do not have it the war will not run as well as if."

REDS PLAN TO SEND UNMANNED TANK TO EXPLORE MOON

LONDON, April 25 (UP) — Moscow radio said today Soviet scientists plan to explore the moon with a rocket-borne remote control caterpillar tank which will beam television signals to earth.

The broadcast said it will be possible to watch the tank's wanderings on a television screen.

Only after the unmanned tank has probed the mystery of the moon will men themselves rocket to the moon—perhaps within "no more than a year or two after the first flight," Moscow said.

The broadcast said "tugboat rockets" would help a tank-bearing spaceship offset the earth's gravity and that "refueling rockets" would replenish the power supply midway to the moon just as normal aircraft refuel in flight now.

"Designing of the apparatus required at both ends is a quite feasible engineering job," Moscow said. The broadcast said the spaceship will be operated by radio from the earth.

G.I.S OBEY ORDER TO WEAR TIES—GET LOUDEST THEY CAN

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 25 (UP)—American soldiers in Frankfurt followed Col. John H. Dilley's order to wear neckties in town last night with a vengeance that had startled Germans blinking.

Dilley, Frankfurt area subcommander who has blossomed into a fashion arbiter, told G.I.s to shed their sport shirts and put on ties after 6 p.m. when visiting town in civilian clothes.

The soldiers obeyed, but they wore the brightest and loudest ties they could find in Germany.

Many of the ensembles were set off by bright green or red baseball jackets.

3 MEN SOUGHT IN $1500 SAFE ROBBERY IN FLAT

90-Year-Old Woman Forced to Lie Under Sheet for Half Hour During Looting.

Police today were searching for three men who broke into a flat at 1017A North Eleventh street Saturday night and took $1500 from a safe after forcing a 90-year-old woman to lie in bed under a sheet for about 30 minutes.

The woman, Mrs. Margaret Lombardo, who had been left alone by her son, Vincent, a produce wholesaler, and grandson, Salvatore, was able to describe only one of the robbers. She said he was about 6 feet, 2 inches tall, weighed about 165 pounds, and wore blue overalls and dark gloves.

The robbers broke into the flat about 10:15 p.m. by entering the first floor of the building, where Lombardo conducts his wholesale business. They shattered a door and forced a bolt.

Ordered to Lie Still.

They climbed the stairs, Mrs. Lombardo said, and came into her bedroom. The man whom she was able to describe came up to her bed, pulled the sheet over her face and ordered her to lie still. He displayed no weapon but stood beside the bed while the other two men knocked the combination off the safe in the living room. They also ransacked the place.

About $1100 in currency, $400 in silver, an insurance policy, title to three automobiles and a truck, $100 defense bond and $600 in checks were taken from the safe.

The robbers placed the loot in a pillow slip from Mrs. Lombardo's pillow and left after cutting the telephone wires.

Mrs. Lombardo, who was extremely nervous and upset, made no effort to call police. Police learned about the robbery some time later when the grandson, Salvatore, came home and was informed by his grandmother.

Mostly Business Receipts.

Vincent Lombardo, who operates a fruit stand at Soulard Market as well as the wholesale business, said most of the money was business receipts. He said the robbers apparently knew his habits and came to his home a short time after he had left.

In January 1939, a safe was taken from Lombardo's Eleventh street home by robbers who abandoned it after forcing it open and removing $750 and a ring valued at $1000.

The robbery was the latest of a series in recent months in which holdup men have forced their way into homes of persons living in St. Louis and St. Louis county.

Victims included Mr. and Mrs.

Husband Must Pay Accident Cost of Eloping Wife, Court Says

PARIS, April 25 (UP) — A French court has ruled that a husband is legally responsible for accidents caused by his wife —even if she is eloping with another man in the husband's automobile.

The case that has French husbands muttering began April 1, 1953, when Odette Lachaume decided she would leave her husband. She and the other man set off in the family car.

The two drove as far as Epernay, east of Paris, where the car knocked down a trombone player.

Mme. Lachaume told police she had no license with her and it was her husband's car. The trombone player sued. Mme. Lachaume was found guilty of "imprudent driving" and her husband was ordered to pay the costs.

Last week, the husband appealed. His appeal was rejected.

CHOU SAID TO BELIEVE DOOR IS STILL SLIGHTLY OPEN FOR FORMOSA TALKS WITH U.S.

Hot Words for Chinese Leader

—Associated Press Radiophoto.

PAKISTAN LEADER SEES CHINESE RED WHO HAD CHILLED BANDUNG HOPES

Intimates He Raised Issue of Jailed Americans, Thinks Washington Should Agree to Informal Parley.

By OLEN CLEMENTS

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 25 (AP) — Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said today Premier Chou En-lai of Red China considers the "door to direct negotiations with the United States over Formosa is still open a slight crack."

Ali made his statement to reporters after a two and one-half hour luncheon talk with Chou. This was after the 29-nation Asian-African conference adjourned.

Chou jarred the closing session by declaring that his Government would not yield its "sovereign right to liberate" Chiang Kai-shek's island bastion. That chilled high hopes he had raised the day before by calling for direct talks with the United States to ease tension in the Formosa area.

Ali, known as a supporter of the West, told reporters he discussed all phases of the Formosa problem with Chou.

'Not Closed . . . Almost Closed.'

Did Chou consider that the State Department reply to his Saturday statement left the door open to further negotiation, Mohammed Ali was asked.

"He didn't exactly interpret it that way—though I did," he replied. "He felt that the door was not closed but almost closed and I told him it was still open."

Mohammed Ali said Chou "has an answer to the question of the disposition of Chiang Kai-shek." The Pakistan leader refused to say what it was.

He and Chou discussed the question of Russia also, Mohammed Ali said, but declined to give details.

He was asked if he planned a visit to China and whether Chou had renewed an earlier invitation and replied: "My memory has conveniently failed at this point."

Question of U.S. Airmen.

He did not say whether he had asked the Red Chinese Premier to release imprisoned American airmen as one means of showing sincerity for the negotiations.

Ali intimated, however, that he had raised the questioon, by saying: "There is the need to eliminate suspicion on both sides, and I believe China could help by releasing the American airmen or perhaps arranging for a Nationalist Chinese evacuation of the offshore islands."

The Pakistan leader had clashed frequently with Chou at the conference over the questions of Communist colonialism, control of all armaments and coexistence.

Mohamed Ali said, "The Chinese point of view is that it's America that does something to increase tension and the Chinese people are irritated about it."

Suggestion for U.S.

Mohamed Ali said he believed —and presumably he told this to Chou—that "the United States should ease this tension by agreeing at least to informal negotiations without conditions." And on the part of China the release of the imprisoned American airmen would be most "helpful."

The Pakistan leader said he is convinced by his conversation with Chou that "China is agreeable to discussing whether Chiang Kai-shek's government should be represented in negotiations."

"I told Chou En-lai that if I were in the position of the United States and had a good friend — Nationalist China — I would not throw him to—."

Here Mohammed Ali paused, laughed and said "I wouldn't want to use the same expression that I used in talking to Chou En-lai."

Mohammed Ali said the most immediate problem was that of the offshore islands.

Then he said the seating of China in the United Nations—a subject which was not raised in the Asian-African conference sessions—"could be raised."

Then, he added, "Ultimately the problem of Formosa might be solved by the United Nations."

There was no comment available from the Chinese Communist delegation on Mohammed Ali's version of his meeting with the Chinese premier.

Delegation members said Chou was "not available."

TRUMAN SAYS HE HAS NO WISH FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

Asserts He Wouldn't Serve if Elected, 'Still Working for Common Man.'

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 25 (UP)—Former President Truman in informal remarks at the Nashville airport today said, "I have no ambitions for public office . . . I am still working for the common man."

When asked by reporters if he might consider a nomination for office in 1956, Truman said he, like Gen. William T. Sherman, would only say, "if nominated, I will not accept . . . if elected, I will not serve."

The former President, just before his plane took off for Kansas City, was made an honorary lifetime member of the "Citizens for TVA." It was then that he made his remarks on politics.

Mayor George Dempster of Knoxville, president of the TVA group, told the former President, "We like people with guts. We think you've got more guts than an elephant."

"We'd like to trade a whole lot of people in Washington for you right now," he said.

TRUMAN INDORSES PEACE EFFORTS

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COSBY, Tenn., April 25—Harry S. Truman yesterday called for continuance of our efforts for world peace. With God's help, he said, we will get that peace and with it happiness for all mankind.

The former President, star attraction of a gathering of 25,000 in this small East Tennessee hill town, gave a sermon, as he termed it. He said that because it was Sunday he would not talk politics since six days a week was enough for any man to talk politics.

The occasion was the second Annual Festival of the Ramp, the ramp being a lowly member of the lily family which grows wild in these parts and tastes something like an onion coated with garlic. Some of the hardier souls in attendance ate the ramp cooked with fatback. Less venturesome attendants at the festivities contented themselves with barbecue beef and chicken.

The former President was here because of his friendship for 34-year-old Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, serving his second term, and being pushed by many as a possible candidate for Vice President in the 1956 national election.

Truman did not hurt Clement's chances for the nomination when he described him in an interview before his speech as the type of young Governor who will help keep this nation great and also keep it in the Democratic column.

Touches on Politics.

Even if it was Sunday, the former President could not refrain entirely from political references. He was speaking in the center of a Republican colony in Tennessee which gave him only 20 votes in the 1948 election and which is represented in Congress by B. Carroll Reece, a Republican.

Reece, who had accompanied the former President to services at First Baptist Church in nearby Newport earlier in the day, was one of the prominent Ten-

WHISKY FLAVORED ICE CREAM FOR BRITISH TIPPLERS

LONDON, April 24 (UP)—Britain, following up its invention of alcoholic milk, came out today with alcoholic ice cream for tipplers who cannot stand the taste of milk.

Peter Pioli, owner of the Morcream Co., announced he has four flavors of the spiked ice cream ready for production —whisky, apricot brandy, rum and creme de menthe.

Pioli said he got the idea from a friend who was bemoaning the lack of ice cream sales in cold weather.

"Why don't you add whisky or something to warm it up," the friend asked.

The minimum alcoholic content of the ice cream is about 5 per cent for the rum and whisky flavors, 4 per cent for apricot brandy and 2 for the creme de menthe.

PILOT BLACKS OUT, TALKED BACK TO CONSCIOUSNESS

BRUNSWICK, Ga., April 25 (UP)—A marine flyer blacked out yesterday 34,000 feet over the Atlantic when his jet fighter's oxygen system failed but his two wingmen "talked" him back to consciousness over their radios in time for the pilot to bail out of his spinning plane.

The pilot, Second Lt. Winston O. Goller, 24 years old, former Southern California football star, managed to eject himself from the jet at 17,000 feet and inflated his life raft after floating down to the water below.

Little more than an hour later, Goller was picked up by a helicopter from the Glynco naval air station here. A plane rushed him back to his home base at Cherry Point, N.C., where his wife was awaiting the birth of a baby.

Officials said Goller's FJ2 Fury jet went into a tight spin after an apparent failure of its oxygen system. However, his wingmen's voices over the plane's radio roused him in time to save himself from plunging into the sea in the jet.

HIGH WINDS DELAY ATOMIC BOMB TEST UNTIL WEDNESDAY

LAS VEGAS, NEv., April 25 (AP)—High winds over the Nevada desert today forced postponement of the big atomic Civil Defense open shot for at least 24 hours.

The announcement was given to observers by Dr. Alvin C. Graves, scientific chief for the tests. It means the test will not be held before Wednesday at the earliest.

The explosion, which will be twice as potent as those which ravaged Nagasaki and Hiroshima, will be touched off on a 500-foot tower near a small town built especially for the experiment.

U Nu Thinks Eisenhower Visit To Asia Would Improve Relations

By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 25—Prime Minister U Nu of Burma, in answer to a question by the Post-Dispatch correspondent, said he thought a visit by President Eisenhower to Asia "would help to dispel misunderstandings and promote better relations.

U Nu pointed out that Mr. Eisenhower has never visited many of the Asiatic countries, and therefore his knowledge of them is based on reports of other officials. He said the President could never have satisfactory impressions of Asia until he got them first-hand.

All of the moral influence of free Asia has been mobilized here for the purpose of forcing Chou En-lai of Red China to behave like an Asian instead of a Communist. That purpose was accomplished when Chou announced that "the Chinese government is willing to sit down and enter into negotiations with the United States." In that statement Chou attached no strings and set no limits.

Talks Deemed Impossible.

Immediately after that statement reached Washington word was returned here that the State Department had greeted Chou's offer with suspicion and had repeated the insistence that no conference could be held unless Chiang Kai-shek also participated. This writer was with a leader of the Red Chinese delegation when Washington's answer came. Conditions imposed by Washington, he said, clearly make any conference impossible.

The next event was Chou's closing statement to the conference in which he, having received Washington's answer, promptly withdrew most of the substance of his own offer. A conference with the United States, he said, "should not in the slightest degree affect the just demand of the Chinese people to exercise their sovereign rights in liberating Taiwan."

It was at this point, when all hopes for a peaceful settlement of the Formosa crisis seemed lost that U Nu discussed the suggestion that President Eisenhower come to Asia and see for himself.

Question Asked.

The question asked U Nu by this writer was whether, after the Bandung conference, he thought there should be a meeting, presumably in Asia, between the chiefs of state of some Asian countries not directly involved in current tensions and the President of the United States, leading to a conference with broader participation to at-

Palace Maid's Complaint Becomes An Affair of State in Britain

LONDON, April 25 (UP)—Her Majesty's government stepped into a labor dispute at Her Majesty's own house today.

The dispute involved only one housemaid and the room in which she lives, but because the maid and room are at Buckingham Palace it became a top-level matter.

The maid, Miss Polly Stewart, filed an official grievance charging she had been asked to move out of the room she had occupied for years in the palace.

The complaint went through channels from the palace to the Civil Servants Union which said it would take up the matter today with the Ministry of Labor.

The ministry represents the Crown in all palace labor matters. The union has represented the palace maids since 1946 when they won the right to join even though the maids are not civil servants.

DULLES DECLINES TO COMMENT ON CHOU'S CALL FOR PARLEY WITH U.S.

Returns From Weekend Rest, Says He'll Think About Proposal After He Gets to State Department.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —Secretary of State Dulles returned to Washington from a long weekend rest today, declining any immediate comment on Red China's call for direct negotiations with the United States.

Two Questions.

Newspaper men had time for two questions:

1. What are the chances of getting together with Red China?

2. Could he say anything about Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's call for talks on Far East tension points?

To the first he replied, "I'll think about that after I get to the State Department."

As to commenting on Chou's statement, he said, "No, not a thing."

Reaction among members of Congress ranged from that of Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, who said the United States should accept Chou's offer, to the position of Senator Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, who opposed even exploratory talks with the Communists.

The Senate Democratic leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, said the Administration should give "careful consideration" to George's call for talks with the Red's, but added that Chou's insistence that Peiping has the right to take over Formosa casts doubt on the sincerity of his offer to discuss peace.

Senator Case (Rep.), South Dakota said in a statement that some people think there are times for "nose punching" but President Eisenhower does not.

Asserting that Mr. Eisenhower is following a course of "prudent strength and patient dealing with the vexing problems of the world," Case said:

"Some people think we should put a ship on the shores of Quemoy and Matsu nearest the coast of China and defy the Reds to touch it. Ike does not. 'War Is War.'

"Some admirals and some generals think we should regard wars as inevitable and strike a 'preventive' blow. Ike does not. The President knows that war is war whether you call it preventive or defensive.

"Some people believe that basically the longing for peace is in the hearts of the common people everywhere. The President is on their side."

Senator Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, proposed that the United States test Red China's sincerity by seeking to renew United Nations efforts to gain a cease-fire in the Formosa area.

Senator Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, also urged that the talks be held through the United Nations. "Every time we bypass the U.N., we weaken it and every time we bypass the U.N. we come out much less than good," he said.

M'MILLAN VIEW ON CHINESE OFFER

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan said today Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's Bandung statement on Formosa "suggests a readiness to enter into negotiations."

He added at once, in answering House of Commons questioners: "The British government welcome any genuine effort to find a peaceful solution to the Formosan question."

MacMillan went on: "There are, of course a number of difficulties to be overcome in any such negotiations, including the question of how the parties most directly concerned are to be brought together."

He was referring to the avowed refusal of the Nationalist and Communist Chinese to sit at the same conference table.

MacMillan pledged: "The British government will continue to use all their influence to bring about a cease-fire and to promote an atmosphere within which a peaceful settlement could be approached."

REICH REDS WARN WEST OF GREATER 'INCONVENIENCES'

BERLIN, April 25 (AP)—East Germany said yesterday if the West continues to withhold recognition of its Communist government, new and "greater inconveniences" will be clamped on Soviet-surrounded West Berlin.

Deputy Prime Minister Otto Uuschke said current harassment of West Berlin would not have begun if the non-recognition policy did not exist. He specifically named the sharply increased road tax on Western trucks as one of the present harassments.

It was the first time since the tax was imposed April 1 that East Germany has conceded the measure was a means to secure governmental recognition. For the record, they have said the increased taxes were needed to keep the roads in shape.

Top-Level Sessions on Formosan Issue Will Be Resumed Tonight

Radford and Robertson Confer With Chiang for 6 Hours on 'Over-All Situation.'

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 25 (AP)—Top-level sessions on the Formosa situation will be resumed tonight. There still has been no hint as to the specific nature of the emergency mission of two high United States officials.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson conferred with President Chiang Kai-shek for six hours Sunday, shortly after their arrival.

Comprehensive Talk.

A Chinese source said they discussed the "broad, over-all situation" in the Formosa area, not merely the question of the Matsus and Quemoy, Communist-menaced offshore islands.

Radford and Robertson came to Formosa hurriedly to confer on the United States-China mutual defense pact under what the State and Defense Departments described as "the tense situation which continues in the area." However, Secretary of State Dulles said Wednesday "no crisis is involved."

Radford and Robertson were to dine with Chiang again tonight and it was said the situation would be discussed further after dinner.

On this conversation would depend, it seemed, whether Radford and Robertson depart for home tomorrow or stay over for more conferences with Chiang.

Radford and Robertson, Ambassador Karl Rankin and other American military and civilian officials, conferred among themselves today but the subject matter remained secret.

Some Chinese said "maybe the Americans are pondering Chiang's reply or waiting instructions from Washington" but majority opinion was that Chiang was thinking over some sort of American project for the Formosa area.

The idea that the visit of Radford and Robertson was a step toward American abandonment of Quemoy and Matsu was losing ground.

Chinse officials who were so gloomy yesterday were noticeably less so today.

FOREIGN CIVILIANS TO GET ½ BILLION U.S. PAY IN 3 YEARS

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —The Defense Department estimates that in a three-year period it will pay more than $500,000,000 in wages to the foreign civilians it employs in Europe and North Africa.

This is aside from the millions spent in those countries by United States military personnel and their dependents.

The Defense Department paid more than $153,250,000 to some 149,000 foreign civilians in France, Germany, Italy, Spain, the United Kingdom and North Africa during the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

It estimates the payments will increase in the current fiscal year to more than $171,000,000, to some 152,000 foreign employes, and in the fiscal year ending in mid-1956, $183,000,000 to about 150,000 "native son" workers.

The figures were given in budget hearings by the House Appropriations subcommittee. The testimony was made public today.

RED CHINA PUTS 41 TO DEATH AS FOLLOWERS OF CHIANG

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — Communist China held a mass trial of 219 counter-revolutionaries and executed 41 immediately, Moscow radio reported in a Tass dispatch from Peiping yesterday.

In the trial of "Chiang Kai-shek gangsters," 22 others received death sentences but were granted two years respite in which to expiate partly and seek to earn clemency. Another 150 were condemned to various terms of penal servitude and six others were exempted from punishment "in view of their full admissions of crimes, where not of a grave nature."

NEGOTIATIONS ARE RESUMED IN MONSANTO PLANT STRIKE

Representatives of Monsanto Chemical Co. and 1500 striking AFL Chemical Workers resumed negotiations this afternoon at the office of the United States Conciliaion Service. The meeting was conducted by Conciliator Nicholas Fillo.

The chemical workers are demanding an increase of 13 cents an hour. Their union, Local 16, rejected a company offer of 5½ cents, plus an adjustment amounting to one-half cent an hour.

ARGENTINE PRIEST ARRESTED FOR DISRESPECT TO PERON

BUENOS AIRES, May 25 (AP) —The Rev. Egidio Esparza, was arrested by federal police after mass yesterday in the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Eucharist. He was charged with disrespect for the government for criticizing President Juan D. Person's regime from the pulpit.

A group of men in the church shouted denunciations of the priest during his sermon. Then they left the church and brought back the police to arrest him. He was the nineteenth priest jailed since a dispute started more than five months ago between Peron and church authorities.

At most other Buenos Aires churches, priests cautioned worshipers to avoid trouble next Sunday when Argentina's organized workers will stage a big May day celebration. Catholic leaders fear the celebration may touch off disorders against the church.

RULING ON REVIEW OF DEPORTATION ORDERS IN COURT

Cases May Be Instituted Without Alien Being in Custody Under New Decision.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —The Supreme Court today ruled deportation orders may be reviewed by the courts under the Federal Administrative Procedure Act as well as by habeas corpus petition.

Effect of the decision is to make it a little easier for an alien to fight deportation. He can start his case without himself being in custody—a necessity in habeas corpus proceedings.

Justice Black delivered the 6-to-3 decision in the case of Mampril Sequeira Pedreiro, of New York, who has been ordered deported to Portugal. Concurring were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Clark, Douglas, Frankfurter and Harlan. Justice Minton wrote a dissenting opinion, joined by Justices Reed and Burton.

The decision was one of two handed down by the court today before taking a recess until May 9. In the other, the court upheld 6-to-2 the contempt conviction of Michael J. Regan, a resigned New York City policeman who refused to answer questions before a Kings county (N. Y.) grand jury as to whether he had accepted bribes from bookmakers or other gamblers while he was a plainclothesman. Regan was sentenced to a year.

Justice Reed delivered the majority decision. Justice Black wrote a dissenting opinion, joined by Justice Douglas. Justice Harlan took no part.

Regan said that before being questioned by the grand jury he signed a waiver of immunity under threat of being fired. Black, speaking for himself and Douglas, said the court's holding "appears to approve a dangerous technique whereby both state and Federal Governments can compel people to convict themselves out of their own mouths."

12 U.S. VETERANS OF ELBE ACCEPT RUSSIAN INVITATION

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —Twelve American soldiers decided yesterday to accept an invitation from a Russian soldier group to celebrate in Moscow the tenth anniversary of their link-up on the Elbe river in World War II.

A group which has adopted the name "American Veterans of the Elbe River Link-Up" announced that an acceptance has been cabled to the Moscow group.

Joseph Polowsky, Chicago, secretary of the group wanting to make the Moscow trip, said the acceptance message read:

"We American Veterans of the Elbe River Link-Up, meeting in our tenth anniversary reunion in Washington, D. C., thank you for your cordial invitation to attend the V-E day ceremonies in Moscow May 9, 1955, as your guests.

"We accept your invitation. We will leave for Moscow in a few days.

"We look forward to meeting you again and hope that our reunion will contribute to the establishment of the free and peaceful world we fought for 10 years ago."

ADENAUER PARTY IS REBUFFED IN STATE ELECTION

HANNOVER, Germany, April 25 (AP) — Final returns today from legislative elections here in West Germany's third largest state handed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-American foreign policy a sharp rebuff.

The Anti-Rearmament Socialists, who have governed the state of Lower Saxony since the war, ran far ahead of Adenauer's Christian Democrats in voting yesterday for a new 161-member state parliament.

The Socialists polled 1,182,066 votes (35.2 per cent of the total) to elect 59 deputies, while the Christian Democrats won 43 seats with a total vote of 893,917.

Six other parties won seats: The rightwing German party (DP) 20, the Refugee party (BHE) 18, Free Democrats (FDP) 12, Nazi-like German Reichs party 6, Communists 2 and Centrist party 1.

Despite the prestige defeat for Adenauer, the lack of a Socialist majority raised the possibility that the Chancellor's backers might supplant the Socialists. Heinrich Hellwege, national chairman of the German party, called today for a 93-vote rightist coalition of the Christian Democrats, the Free Democrats, the Refugees and his own party. All four are partners in Adenauer's federal government.

The key to such a grouping appeared to be the Refugee party, which for the last four years has been allied with the Socialists in the state government. There was no immediate indication how the Refugees would react to Hellwege's proposal.

Control of Lower Saxony is vital to Adenauer's plans for rearmament. He needs the state's five seats in the upper house of the federal parliament, the Bundesrat, to give him a two thirds majority there. Without such a margin, the Socialists in the Bundesrat could stall the mass of laws needed to set up the 500,000-man army planned under the Paris treaties.

DeGaulle's Party Suffers Setback in Regional Elections.

PARIS, April 25 (UP)—The party founded by Gen. Charles De Gaulle suffered a political debacle in France's Sunday regional elections. Parties of the government coalition held their majority.

The Social Republicans, who took over from the Rally of the French people when De Gaulle personally withdrew from politics last year, lost more than half its seats on departmental general councils, roughly equivalent to state assemblies.

Other parties ranging from the Communists to the far right gobbled up the Social Republican losses and the parties of the government coalition of Premier Edgar Faure kept their overwhelming majority.

Russia to Free 613 Austrians, Hand Over 74 as War Criminals

39 Others Recently Sentenced as Spies to Be Turned Over When Soviet Troops Withdraw.

MOSCOW, April 25 (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet yesterday announced the decision to free 613 Austrians serving sentences in the Soviet Union, the news agency Tass reported. The report did not say when the prisoners would be released.

A Moscow radio broadcast said 74 others—"whom the Soviet authority concerned could not find it possible to release in view of the gravity of the crimes they committed on the territory of the U.S.S.R."—will be handed over to the Austrian government as war criminals.

39 Sentenced Recently.

In addition, 39 Austrians recently sentenced for spying will continue to serve their sentences in the U.S.S.R. but will be handed to Austria when Soviet troops withdraw from Austria, the broadcast said, quoting a Tass dispatch.

On present schedules, that is supposed to take place before the end of 1955.

Tass said these decisions were made by the Supreme Soviet's Presidium as a result of the request made by Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab on his recent visit to Moscow.

Text of the broadcast statement, as monitored here:

"As has already been reported in the press, at a reception held held by K. E. Voroshilov in honor of the Austrian government delegation on 13th April this year, the Austrian federal chancellor, Herr J. Raab, handed to the chairman of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet Presidium, K. E. Voroshilov, a message from the president of the Austrian republic, Theodor Kornere, which contained a plea to pardon the Austrians who are serving sentences in the Soviet Union for crimes committed against the Soviet Union during the war.

"The Presidium of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet has given consideration to this request of the President of the Austrian republic.

Tenth Anniversary.

"In this connection with the tenth anniversary of the re-establishment of the Austrian republic as a result of Austria's liberation from Hitlerite domination by the Soviet army, and wishing to contribute to a further strengthening of friendship and co-operation between the Soviet and the Austrian peoples, the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet Presidium has found it possible to release, ahead of time, 613 Austrian citizens who are serving sentences in the Soviet Union and to allow them to return to Austria.

"As regards another 74 sentenced Austrian service men whom the Soviet authority concerned could not find it possible to release from serving their sentences in view of the gravity of the crimes they committed on the territory of the U.S.S.R., the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet decided to hand over the above mentioned persons to the Austrian Government as war criminals.

"Thirty-nine Austrian citizens who have recently been sentenced for active espionage against the U.S.S.R. in favor of foreign intelligence services will continue to serve their sentences in the U.S.S.R. but will be handed over to the Austrian authorities at the time of the Soviet troops withdrawal from Austria."

NORTH VIET NAM, LAOS SIGN PACT

Friendship Accord Said to Include 5 Coexistence Principles.

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 25 (AP)—The Indochinese kingdom of Laos and neighboring Communist-controlled North Viet Nam signed an agreement in the Asian-African conference here not to molest each other.

Details were not disclosed, but Laotian officials said it was based on the five principles of coexistence sponsored by India's Prime Minister Nehru. These principles call for:

Mutual respect for each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty; mutual non-aggression; mutual non-interference in each other's internal affairs; equality and mutual benefit; and peaceful coexistence.

Diplomatic officials in London said Thursday British Prime Minister Eden had requested Nehru personally to investigate a suspected Communist plan to take over Laos.

Laos, along with South Viet Nam and Cambodia, was granted independence by France last year. The London informants said Eden had information to the effect Red guerrillas in Northern Laos, aided by the Communist Vietminh government in North Viet Nam, were defying the recognized government of Laos. This would be a violation of the Geneva agreements ending the Indochina war.

By the United Press.

Indonesia and Afghanistan signed a treaty of friendship Sunday night at conclusion of the Asian-African conference.

Afghanistan, a land-locked nation bordering on Russia, is being wooed by both the United States and the Moscow Government. Indonesia is neutral in the East-West struggle.

WELFARE PLANS TO COST U.S. $12,268,000,000 NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP) —The Tax Foundation reported yesterday that the Government will spend $12,268,000,000 for domestic social and economic programs in the next fiscal year.

The foundation, a private research organization, said the funds will go for business, agriculture, veterans, home owners and tenants, labor, and "general economic and social benefits."

The figure represents about 20 per cent of the total national budget, it said. Veterans will receive the biggest slice — $4,640,000,000. Money spent to help business will total about one billion dollars, the report said.

FOUR KILLED, 20 INJURED IN TORNADO IN ALABAMA

HARTSELLE, Ala., April 25 (AP)—A tornado hit this community yesterday and left four dead, 20 to 25 hurt, and damages estimated at $750,000.

Fifteen persons were taken to hospitals. Forty houses were destroyed, 30 more damaged and two churches blown away. Damage to buildings alone was placed at near $750,000.

The tornado ripped along a 20-mile area from near Piney Grove to just south of Hartselle, cutting a swath one-quarter to one-half mile wide. The section is about 75 miles north of Birmingham.

TRUMAN SAYS ADMINISTRATION IS TURNING TVA 'OVER TO RICH'

Tells Nashville (Tenn.) Airport Crowd Resources Are Being Given Away, Public Power Sabotaged.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 25 (UP)—Former President Harry Truman charged today the Eisenhower Administration is "giving away" the nation's natural resources to "special interests."

Truman made his accusation before an airport crowd that gathered to see him made an honorary life-time member of the "Citizens for TVA."

Truman said the Dixon-Yates private power contract is "no good," and added that "you can't set idly by and let these people (in Washington) sabotage the TVA."

Truman said the TVA's creation had made possible other public power projects all over the nation. He said if it had not been for the agency, "there never would have been rural electrification."

"And as long as I live, I shall continue to fight for such things," he said.

By the Associated Press.

"Without TVA, the South would never have the industrial centers it now has," Truman said.

He said "this Administration" went into office with the objective of "ruining TVA" by turning it over to the "rich." Truman said he has been interested in TVA since he first voted for it in 1934.

Truman added:

"You can't sit by and let these people sabotage TVA . . . unless we get in there and work (for preservation of TVA) we'll lose all we've gained in 20 years . . . wait a minute, wait a minute here. I didn't mean to get all wound up."

PUTS DIXON-YATES PROFIT AT 100 PCT.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 25—An unsuccessful bidder on the West Memphis (Ark.) power project has charged that the Dixon-Yates utility combine stands to make a profit of 100 to 200 per cent on its contract with the Government.

Walter von Tresckow, New York financial consultant who headed a syndicate which bid on the project, said Dixon-Yates would make $125,000,000 more than it claimed over the minimum 25-year-life of the contract.

In a letter to Representative Melvin Price (Dem.), East St. Louis, a member of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, Von Tresckow urged the committee to hold new hearings on the contract and give "the whole matter a thorough airing."

A spokesman for the committee said he knew of no plans to hold further hearings on the Dixon-Yates deal. He said Von Tresckow's letter apparently was sent only to Price and the committee had not been informed of the request for additional hearings.

AEC Criticized.

The letter criticized the Atomic Energy Commission and the Budget Bureau, as well as Edgar H. Dixon and Eugene A. Yates, partners in the power group whose bid for the West Memphis plant was accepted by the AEC.

"A detailed analysis of the contract, entered into by the AEC at the direction of the President, brings to light some startling facts which are widely at variance with statements made by Dixon-Yates, the AEC and the Bureau of the Budget," Von Tresckow wrote.

He said "detailed examination of the record" would show that:

1. "Dixon-Yates indicated that the cost of power would be 3.990 mills per kilowatt hour. The actual cost of power will be 5.353 mills per kilowatt hour, or 34 per cent higher than the indicated figure.

2. "Dixon-Yates claimed that their profit would be limited to a maximum of $600,000 per year. The actual profit will be a minimum of $5,000,000 more per year than the claimed minimum and may reach as much as $12,000,000 more.

100 to 200 Per Cent.

"Dixon-Yates claimed that they would receive no more than a 9 per cent return on their investment, whereas they will actually receive from 100 to 200 per cent per year return on their investment.

"This sum is $125,000,000 more for the minimum period of contract (25 years) than claimed by them.

3. "The statement was made by the AEC and the Bureau of the Budget that power costs under the Dixon-Yates proposal would probably be cheaper than under the Von Tresckow proposal.

"The actual facts are that the Von Tresckow proposal would cost $125,000,000 less and that, in addition, Dixon-Yates would make a profit of $125,000,000 more. The difference between the two proposals is actually a minimum of $250,000,000 and could be as much as $400,000,000, for a contract period of 25 years.

4. "Memphis has announced that it will build its own generating station if the Dixon-Yates plant is built. Under those circumstances, there would be no market for the Dixon-Yates power in the western Tennessee area of the TVA system. To meet the needs of this area is the specific purpose of the Dixon-Yates plant.

"Even though not one kilowatt hour of electricity is delivered by Dixon-Yates to the TVA, the AEC will be required to pay $11,058,800 per year to Dixon-Yates. This amount pays for the cost of the plant and a profit to the Mississippi Valley Generating Co."

Under the Dixon-Yates contract, the private power combine will build a $107,250,000 steam generating plant at West Memphis to supply 600,000 kilowatts of electricity through the Tennessee Valley Authority system to replace power diverted to the AEC at Paducah, Ky. Construction of the plant will be handled by a subsidiary corporation, Mississippi Valley Generating Co.

Charges Juggling.

Von Tresckow previously has charged that the Government deliberately juggled figures to make the rejected bid look $5,151,000 too high.

In a comparison of costs of the generating plant under his bid and that of Dixon-Yates, he renewed his contention that his proposal would cost $90,000,000, compared with Dixon-Yates's $107,250,000.

The cost comparison, attached to the letter to Price, listed various capacity charges, including interest, amortization, labor and insurance, as being higher under the Dixon-Yates proposal. These, Von Tresckow said, would bring up eventual cost to the Government.

"Dixon-Yates, the AEC and the Bureau of the Budget have deliberately misrepresented the cost of the power to be delivered by Dixon-Yates to the TVA," Von Tresckow asserted. He added that "Dixon-Yates did not accurately state the facts about the profits they would make under the contract."

The joint committee held hearings on the controversial contract last November. Later, Democrats on the committee urged that the Dixon-Yates deal be reopened.

Von Tresckow said there was a "carefully-planned lack of information publicly available before the contract was signed."

"Now that the facts are available, it is the belief of our group that the best interests of the country would be served if the joint congressional committee on atomic energy gave the whole matter a thorough airing."

3 ST. LOUIS LAWYERS NOMINATED FOR JUDGE

They Are Named for Circuit Post Made Vacant by Retirement of Flynn.

Three St. Louis lawyers were nominated by the Eighth Circuit Judicial Commission today for the circuit judgeship made vacant by the retirement last April 1 of Judge William B. Flynn.

The nominees, all Democrats, are: Franklin E. Reagan, 54 years old, 4525 Lindell boulevard; John C. Casey, 44, 6635 Neosho street, and Robert N. Jones, 47, 5366 Cabanne avenue.

Judge Lyon Anderson, presiding judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals and head of the five-member circuit judicial commission, announced the names had been sent to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly.

One of the three nominees will be chosen by Gov. Donnelly to fill the $14,000-a-year post, under the nonpartisan court plan.

Reagan received his law degree from the University of Missouri in 1926 and has been practicing law for 29 years. He was prosecuting attorney of Boone county from 1929 to 1933. From 1933 to 1939, he was assistant attorney general of Missouri. He is married and has one daughter.

Casey was graduated from St. Louis University Law School in 1933. He served on the board of freeholders for the metropolitan sewer district in 1952-53, and was a member of the St. Louis Council on Human Relations in 1954-55. He is married and has three children.

Jones attended the University of Missouri and the State Teachers College at Kirksville, receiving B.A. and B.S. degrees. He took his law degree at City College of Law and Finance, St. Louis, in 1936. From 1933 to 1936, he was deputy collector of internal revenue in St. Louis. He is married and has a daughter.

The three nominees were selected from a total of 35 applicants for the circuit judgeship, Judge Anderson said.

DAVID EISENHOWER GETS POLIO SHOT, 'DIDN'T HURT'

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 25 (AP)—"Gosh, that didn't hurt at all," said President Eisenhower's 7-year-old grandson today after he had taken his Salk polio vaccine shot.

The boy, David Eisenhower, son of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, was one of the 380 first- and second-grade pupils at the public school on this army post to get the first of the series of the shots.

CONVICTION OF WOMAN OF THEFT CHARGE REVERSED

Conviction of Mrs. Maxine Irene Bray on a petty larceny charge, resulting from the theft of a $23 dress from a store, was reversed today by the St. Louis Court of Appeals. The case was sent back to Judge Louis Comerford's Court of Criminal Correction for a new trial.

Mrs. Bray, a machine operator, was convicted by a jury Jan. 28, 1954, and sentenced to a year in the workhouse and fined $100. The appeals court held that certain evidence had been admitted in error during the trial.

Mrs. Bray, a Negro, gave an address in the 1400 block of Webster avenue.

2 BABY LLAMAS READY TO GO OUT ON ZOO WALKWAYS

Paul and Barbara, baby llamas, are now three weeks old and are ready to go forth into the great world, greeting children on the walkways of the St. Louis Zoo, Director George P. Vierheller announced today.

The llamas are graduates of Keeper Eddie Becker's don't-be-afraid-of-the-little-folks indoctrination course, Vierheller said. They have gotten accustomed to being petted by Becker, who has been bottle-feeding them for 10 days.

Paul is snowy white in color while Barbara is black, brown and white. They were named yesterday after Paul Max, 12 years old, and Barbara, 8, children of Dr. and Mrs. Paul F. Max, 12 Dromara road, Ladue.

Vierheller said the names seemed appropriate because the Max children got along famously with the llamas when permitted to fondle them on a zoo visit.

DAYLIGHT TIME IN EFFECT; MOST CONFUSION IS OVER

Daylight saving time, a chronological device that prevents early-rising St. Louians from getting sunburned on their way to work and makes for a longer evening, became effective early yesterday. By this morning, most of the confusion was over.

Railway and bus lines, which remain on central time schedules through the year, reported the usual bewilderment, with some instances of patrons arriving an hour ahead of schedule. Airlines which quote daylight time, made the transition smoothly.

"It wasn't quite so bad this year as last," a Union Station spokesman said, but railway employes were resigned to the fact that some people never would be quite sure whether daylight time was an hour ahead of train schedules or an hour behind them.

Many public clocks in St. Louis were not advanced to conform to daylight time until after 8 a.m. today, so early commuters had the illusion of being an hour early to work. Next Sept. 25 it will be time to set the clocks back an hour, and the lost 60 minutes will be regained.

PERJURY CHARGE FOR W. G. ADRIAN IN RACKET INQUIRY

Belleville Union Agent Accused of False Denial of Deal With Contractor.

William G. Adrian of Belleville, business agent of Local 101, AFL Pipefitters' Union, who was indicted on a racketeering charge last October, surrendered today at East St. Louis on a new indictment charging him with perjury in connection with the investigation of labor racketeering in southern Illinois.

The new indictment, returned last week and suppressed pending Adrian's arrest, alleged that the labor boss committed perjury when he denied under oath before the grand jury March 17, 1954, that he had entered into agreements with a contractor to split any savings on the contractor's estimated labor costs.

The contractor with whom Adrian allegedly entered into an agreement on two East Side construction jobs was identified in the indictment as the Mechanical Contractors & Engineers, Inc., Atlanta, Ga. The firm was a sub-contractor in construction of a 1000-unit Wherry housing project at Scott Air Force Base in 1951 and bid on part of a contract for Belleville's new $5,000,000 St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The indictment was in three counts. The first count alleged he perjured himself when he denied proposing to James Reeves, superintendent for the Atlanta firm, that he would assist in saving money on labor costs on the Scott base job and would expect 50 per cent of the savings, payable in cash.

The second count also dealt with testimony about the Scott base contract. The third count alleged Adrian committed perjury when he denied making a deal to share any savings on labor costs on the hospital contract which the company failed to obtain.

Adrian, who lives at 700 Union avenue, Belleville, was released on $3000 bond. He previously had posted $20,000 bond on an indictment charging him with extortion of $5108 from two subcontractors constructing facilities at Scott Air Force Base subsequent to January 1952.

FIRECRACKER SET OFF AS PRANK IN MOVIE, TWO FINED

A loud explosion startled the audience at the Fox Theater, 527 North Grand boulevard about 10:30 o'clock last night, at a showing of "New York Confidential," and many persons rushed for the aisles.

Police soon found that a youth had set off a firecracker as a prank.

Officers saw three youths hurrying out a side exit and stopped them, and reported that one of them, Thomas E. Schneider, 18 years old, of the 6300 block of Oakland avenue, admitted lighting the firecracker.

Schneider and Lyal Chase, 17, of the 1000 block of Tamm avenue, were fined $75 each in police court today on peace disturbance charges, but Judge Robert G. Dowd stayed the fines and put them on probation for six months. One condition is that they must not go to the Fox Theater for that time. A 15-year-old companion was turned over to juvenile authorities.

SCOUT, 15, KILLED WHEN TREE FALLS ON TENT IN STORM

3 Others Sleeping With Roxana Boy Escape Injury—Property Damage By Wind.

A 15-year-old Boy Scout was killed and property was damaged in a series of storms in the St. Louis area over the weekend.

Arthur Mikkelson Jr., 403 Maple street, Roxana, was sleeping in a tent with three other boys late Saturday night when a dead oak tree about one foot in diameter was snapped off by the wind and fell on him. The boys were on a camping trip near Hartford.

Harry Leamy Jr. of Roxana was pinned by the branches but managed to free himself, and the others, Pat Leamy and Walter Mawdsly, escaped injury. Three other tents were struck by falling limbs and four were blown down but there were no other injuries.

Two hundred Scouts and leaders encamped Friday, but all but 50 went home after a storm that night. After the Saturday night tragedy the camp was broken up and all returned home.

Scoutmaster William Baker of Wood River called for an ambulance and drove to Hartford through heavy rain for help. Later he was taken to Wood River Hospital for treatment of shock. Harry Leamy was treated for bruises and shock and dismissed.

In St. Louis, two automobiles were damaged yesterday by a falling tree that was uprooted by the wind. The machines were parked unoccupied in the 2700 block of Madison street, and were owned by James Robinson, 2724 Madison, and L. J. Morgan of 2719. The tree, a 40-foot sycamore, crushed the tops of the cars and displaced some pavement bricks.

A window 6 by 8 feet at the Missouri Grill, 701 North Twelfth street, was blown in but no one was injured.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Yount, 2618 Accomac street, was struck by lightning late Saturday night. A partition was damaged and plaster fell, but no one was hurt.

Electric power failures occurred in many scattered areas of the city and St. Louis county yesterday. Union Electric Co. reported most of them were minor and of short duration, caused by falling limbs.

SPEEDING ARRESTS OVER WEEKEND DECLINE 9 PCT.

Arrests for speeding in the 48 hours ended at 7 a.m. today were 9 per cent below the heavy number of the previous weekend, Capt. Troy Ferber, acting head of the police traffic division reported today.

There were 196 arrests, compared with 216 in the corresponding period a week ago. The 196 figure, however, is somewhat higher than normal. There were 59 other violations by moving vehicles.

Twenty-nine motorists were arrested for having improper driver's or vehicle licenses, seven for having defective lights and six for using Hollywood-type mufflers.

Traffic fatalities so far this year total 25, compared with 41 at the same time last year.

Expansion of Facilities at Lambert Field Under Consideration.

A total of $1,435,486 would be spent to expand Air National Guard facilities at Lambert-St. Louis Field under a proposal made in Washington, it was announced today.

Testimony by Air National Guard officers before an appropriations subcommittee of the House of Representatives was made public, disclosing the program.

The following projects were proposed: Hangar, $699,600; aircraft parking apron, $199,090; warehouse, $174,283; paint, oil and "dope" storage, $4050; aircraft fuel storage, $74,000; motor pool parking, $12,000; motor service shop, $48,815; crash-truck station, $37,395; roads and utilities, $105,000, and engineering service, $81,253.

Col. Charles H. Dubois, base commander and commander of the 131st Bombardment Group of the Air National Guard, said there is "dire need" for the new facilities. He said efforts have been made since 1948 to get more funds for the improvements.

The Air National Guard's facilities at Lambert-St. Louis Field, built in 1934 to house one small organization, have become inadequate, Col. Dubois said.

He said it is hoped eventually to increase the facilities at Lambert-St. Louis Field enough to make it possible to bring all Air National Guard units together there. At present there are about 1400 Air National Guardsmen training at three local bases—Jefferson Barracks, at an installation near the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. and at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

Dubois said the Air National Guard is now negotiating a lease with the city for property on which the new structures would be built.

INOCULATIONS IN FULL SWING IN SCHOOLS HERE

Adequate Supply of Vaccine for Private Use Not Likely for Another Month.

Inoculation of St. Louis and St. Louis county first- and second-grade school children with Salk polio vaccine continued today with the program in full swing in public and parochial schools.

Meanwhile, negligible quantities of vaccine were arriving for private use and representatives of pharmaceutical manufacturers said it likely would be a month before adequate supplies were available for private inoculation of children outside the free school program.

Physicians have pointed out, however, that late May or early June will be sufficiently early to administer the vaccine in time to protect children, since the polio season in St. Louis normally is in July and August.

So great has been the emphasis on the free program sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that a shipment of vaccine, intended for private use by St. Louis physicians, was diverted to the foundation about 10 days ago, it was learned today.

The shipment, of an unannounced quantity, was to have been the second sent to St. Louis by Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit. At the last minute it was relabeled and sent out as a foundation shipment, a company spokesman said.

The foundation program calls for administration of the first and second immunization "shots" from two to four weeks apart, with the third, or booster inoculation from seven months to a year later at private expense.

A special half-hour program will be presented at 10 o'clock this evening on Post-Dispatch Television Station KSD-TV, with films and talks by physicians, health officers and others directing the immunization program here.

CHOU REPORTED TO SEE CHANCE FOR U.S. TALKS

conference was marked by frequent clashes between pro and anti-Communist elements. But it reached last-minute agreement on the major issue that nearly caused a stalemate—the touchy colonial question.

After hours of deliberation a subcommittee finally came up with an acceptable resolution condemning colonialism "in all its manifestations." It carefully avoided specifying either Western or Communist colonialism.

Both sides in the cold war seemed to have profited during the parley.

There was little or none of the bitter condemnation the West had expected from the formerly subject peoples. Anti-Communist spokesmen captured the initiative at the outset of the conference with telling blasts against Red imperialism. Western observers were particularly impressed with the anti-Communist stand of Ceylon's Premier Sir John Kotelawala, one of the five conference hosts.

On the Communist side, Chou devoted himself mainly to winning friends. He attracted considerable favorable attention by refusing to pursue the arguments with his anti-Communist critics. The strategic Indochinese kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos both espoused Indian Prime Minister Nehru's neutralist policy, which Chou favors for the rest of Asia. And the Chinese Premier's gesture on the Formosa issue was applauded generally, although some delegates were skeptical that anything concrete would result.

The resolutions drawn up at the parley covered a wide field, ranging from demands for a bar on manufacture and testing of nuclear weapons to cultural co-operation among Asian and African peoples.

Final Communique.

The final conference communique outlined these principal stands — in addition to that on colonialism—adopted during the meeting:

1. Universal membership in the United Nations to promote world peace—an oblique reference to Red China's demands for a seat in the world organization. It was the closest the conference came to backing Peiping on that score. The communique did name specifically, as qualified for admission, Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libya, Nepal and a "unified Viet Nam."

2. Economic co-operation among the Asian-African nations "on the basis of mutual interest and respect for national sovereignty."

3. Cultural understanding among nations through co-operation. This stemmed from the resolutions condemning colonialism and racialism.

4. Full support for the principle of self-determination "of peoples and nations as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations." The conference agreed on a seven-point blueprint for co-existence, including opposition to collective pacts designed "to serve particular interests of any big powers."

5. Support for the "courageous stand taken by the victims of racial discrimination, especially by the peoples of African, Indian and Pakistani origin in South Africa."

6. Support for the rights of the North Africans to self-determination, a reference to the nationalist demands in the French territories there. France was urged to bring about a peaceful settlement "without delay."

7. Support for the "rights of the Arab people of Palestine" and a call for a peaceful settlement there. Though the resolution did not mention Israel by name, its anti-Israeli intent was clear.

Sweeping Resolution.

The resolution on nuclear weapons was sweeping. It called for an end to production, experimentation and use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons and effective international control to carry out such a prohibition.

The compromise resolution condemning colonialism named neither old-time Western colonialism, which many Asians condemned, nor "Communist colonialism," which Kotelawala, among others, had assailed.

The delegates agreed to leave the decision whether to hold another conference next year to the five sponsoring countries—India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia.

Burma's Premier U Nu said he thought another parley would be held then in Cairo in answer to an invitation by Egyptian Premier Nasser.

At the final session, Chou and the other delegation leaders had five minutes each to sum up their views.

Chou repeated his call for direct negotiations with the United States but made no reference to the United States airmen still held in prison by his Government. Some persons at the conference had thought he might announce their release as a further step in the attitude of friendliness and co-operation he displayed through the conference.

Nehru was understood to have urged Chou to free the Americans to help relax international tensions.

Following up his bid Saturday for direct talks with the United States, Chou told the closing session:

"China and the United States should sit down and ease tension in the Taiwan (Formosa) area.

"This should not in the slightest degree, however, affect the exercise of the (Communist) People's Republic of China of its sovereign right in the liberation of Taiwan."

Nehru, following Chou to the rostrum, said the conference would give Asia and Africa a new influence in the world. "We want to be friends and to co-operate with the West," Nehru said. "But we will only co-operate as equals."

Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, the conference chairman, expressed the wish that the rest of the world would note the conference sessions "in the same spirit of good will, tolerance, forbearance and wisdom as was so admirably displayed during this conference."

The chief spokesman for the anti-Communist nations at the conference also voiced satisfaction. Iraq's Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali, one of the strongest, said the conference "will go down in history as a great world event." Brig. Gen. Carlos Romulo of the Philippines said he was impressed by the "sincere attempt of all present to create, not a lasting organization, but a lasting effect."

Kotelawala told reporters as he boarded his homeward-bound plane that the possibility of unleashing a third world war if Red China tried to take Formosa by force made Chou agree to negotiate.

Turkish delegate Fatin Rustu Zorlu, in his final speech, indicated satisfaction that the conference had at least discussed Communist expansion, as well as Western colonialism. In an obvious reference to Communism, Zorlu scored "new types of colonialism practiced by a certain international doctrine through infiltration, subversion, or the use of force."

Japanese delegate Tatsunosuke Takasaki said the conference was "an historical occasion for the world" and that his country was happy to have participated.

TRUMAN SAYS HE HAS NO WISH FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

Noting this, Truman said he was here to "preach a sermon in this great Republican district and see if I can't convert them to my way of living." The crowd roared appreciately as he said with a grin that "Congressman Reece won't agree with me despite all I have done to try to convert him."

He was applauded again as he acknowledged Gov. Clement's introduction of him as a great American from whom the crowd would hear words of wisdom. Truman said he was proud to have Gov. Clement as a friend. He added "he measures up to any of them."

A Serious Mood.

Despite witty references to Republicans and the horrors of the ramp, the former President was in a serious mood as he told his listeners that he was there to express to them some ideas "I have accumulated in a long period, and a stormy one of public service."

"When people gather as we have today to associate with friends, discuss their situation in the family, the town, the county, the state, even in the world, when people can express their opinions freely and argue the merits of the case and be free, I say we have about reached the ideal of living together as God almighty, the Creator of us all, intended," Truman said.

"Let us all put forth every effort of which we are capable to maintain this republic of ours. Let us instill the coming generation with a love for it. Let us continue our efforts for world peace and with God's help we will get that peace and happiness for all mankind."

Job, the former President said, has always been cited by teachers and instructors as a symbol of patience and the reason is that he stood by his principles and his belief in good. But Job also could be called the greatest complainer about his troubles of "anyone on whom we have a record."

"We have people around us all the time who have miseries in their backs, their feet, their heads, their hearts," he said. "Do you know what's ailing them? I am of the opinion that most of them think only of themselves, their troubles and their purported ailments."

'Give Instead of Take.'

There are so many things in this world which we can improve, he said, and so much good we can do if we think of giving instead of taking."

"Not financial giving," he said, "but giving of yourself for the happiness and welfare of others. Money giving is great if you have it, but such gifts do not set you right with the Creator of heaven and earth if your heart isn't right."

Like the ramp, Truman said, some people are strong with the airs they give themselves, or are strong in their opinions. "Only an understanding of the viewpoint of others can make you tolerant, reasonable and a good citizen," he said. "The reason for the greatness of this republic of ours was the ability of our forefathers to understand other viewpoints and ideas than their own.

"We have the greatest form of government in the history of the world because we believe that the other fellow has the same rights we claim for ourselves.

Calling freely on the Bible to back up his remarks, the former President said that "when you give of yourself to the happiness and welfare of your neighbors, your friends and even those you do not especially like, without hope of reward, you build character for yourself and help the community in which you live to become a better community."

Mentions Davy Crockett.

Truman was cheered loud and long when he said that there ought to be a statue at the state capital in Nashville of Davy Crockett, the hero of the Alamo, who was born on a mountain top in Tennessee, much like the one from which Truman was speaking. He noted that when he was presiding judge of the Jackson county court many years ago he had erected in Kansas City a statue of Andrew Jackson, a Tennessean.

He personally supervised the research into getting the dimensions of the statue perfected to Jackson's height, built and cut of clothes. There is a statue of Jackson in Lafayette park in Washington but, Truman said, "it is an impossible man on an impossible horse."

Truman had a very busy schedule yesterday. He spent last night at the home of Governor Clement in Nashville and left by special plane provided by the Governor for Kansas City this morning.

On his arrival yesterday morning he was taken to the home of Kenneth L. McSween, close political associate of Gov. Clement. There, before and after his attendance at church services, he held open house for hundreds of visitors who dropped by to shake his hand, including Senator Estes Kefauver. A hillbilly band on the spacious front porch provided music. Since it was Sunday there was no dancing.

He was given a rousing ovation on his arrival at the Cosby Festival Grounds. It had been anticipated that there would be a crowd of 50,000 on hand when he appeared. But continuing rains through Saturday and yesterday kept the attendance down.

It was sprinkling when Truman and his party reached the speakers' stand. Truman made a one dollar bet that when he started talking the sun would come out. It did.

ADMITS 14 BREAK-INS IN SOUTHWEST ST. LOUIS

A man who said he was Elies L. Karlos of South Bend, Ind., yesterday admitted breaking into 14 homes in southwest St. Louis between April 6 and 21, police reported today. Loot totaled $24 in cash and a rifle valued at $75.

The rifle was recovered from a motel on U.S. Highway 66 in St. Louis county, where Karlos had been staying. He was arrested Friday when seated in an automobile in the alley behind the 5800 block of Mardel avenue by Patrolmen Walter Eiseman nd Phillip Antoon of Hampton avenue district.

The automobile, they said, fitted the description of one seen by a resident cruising in alleys in southwest St. Louis the day before. Karlos said he obtained $18 in one break-in, $6 in another, the rifle in the third and nothing in the other 11, police reported. He was held suspected of burglary.

HARRIS SPARROW SIGHTED ON BIRD WALK IN PARK

About 25 kinds of birds were spotted yesterday on the bird walk in Forest Park. Martin Schweig Jr., bird walk chairman for the Audubon Society of St. Louis, said the most unusual variety was the Harris sparrow, rarely seen in the park.

The sparrow was seen by Rex Conyers, head of the science department of University City High School. Despite a light drizzle the bird walk started at 7:30 a.m.

Industry's $1,280,000,000 postwar expansion program

Keeps dollars moving and business growing in St. Louis

Industrial expansion in the St. Louis area is the greatest in all its history. Of the more than $1,280,000,000 invested in manufacturing facilities during the postwar years, a record-breaking $900,000,000 has been invested during the last four years.

Together with this tremendous expansion program, Metropolitan St. Louis has realized a net increase of 324 industrial plants in the past six years.

This area-wide industrial activity reflects the soundness of the St. Louis economy ... with some 3,000 firms manufacturing 5,000 products ... and no more than eight per cent of St. Louis labor employed in any one industry.

The vast postwar expansion of St. Louis industries is a vote of confidence in the future of St. Louis ... an area where continued industrial growth will create jobs, keep dollars circulating and insure community-wide prosperity. First National Bank in St. Louis enjoys working closely with St. Louis industry ... and we are enlarging and modernizing our building, almost doubling our facilities, to keep pace with industrial expansion.

SENATE ASKED TO APPROVE TAX AGREEMENT WITH ITALY

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —President Eisenhower today asked Senate approval of two conventions between the United States and Italy intended to prevent double taxation and tax evasion.

This country is trying to negotiate similar agreements with most of the countries with which it has diplomatic relations.

Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration are now developing specifications. I shall shortly submit to the Congress a request for the necessary funds together with a description of the vessel.

"The new ship, powered with an atomic reactor, will not require refueling for scores of thousands of miles of operation. Visiting the ports of the world, it will demonstrate to people everywhere this peacetime use of atomic energy, harnessed for the improvement of human living. In part, the ship will be an atomic exhibit; carrying to all people practical knowledge of the usefulness of this new science in medicine, agriculture and power production.

"In every possible way, in word and deed, we shall strive to bring to all men the truth of our assertion that we seek only a just and lasting peace.

"There is no precedent for the nature of the struggle of our time."

The new merchant ship would take its place with the world's first atomic-powered submarine, this country's Nautilus, already in operation, and a second atomic submarine now being built by the United States.

The Atomic Energy Commission declined comment on the President's speech, and the Maritime Administration reported it does not know yet what size, type, or speed of ship would be proposed nor where it would be built, how soon, or at what cost.

A spokesman for the agency said the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Corp. announced some time ago that it was studying the problems involved in marine propulsion by atomic energy. The company has done some non-marine work for the AEC.

The agency spokesman said the Maritime Administration had been "keeping abreast" of this work, and the development of the atomic energy engine for the Nautilus.

Fund Request To Be Made.

The agency was scheduled to present its appropriation request to the House Commerce Appropriations Committee today. However, a spokesman said, estimates for the atomic-propelled ship would not be included today but would be requested later in a supplemental appropriations request.

The President told his audience of publishers and editors that America's newspapers "have traditionally been a guarantee that truth will reach every part of our country and all the free peoples of the world." He said it never was more important than it is today that the people of the entire world have free access to the truth.

And he asked: "Cannot you, men of the pen, propagate knowledge of economic truth just as your professional forebears spread the truths that inspired our forefathers to achieve a national independence?

"For, when all people, everywhere, understand that trade is a fertile soil for the growth of a shared prosperity, of all kinds of co-operative strength, and of understanding and tolerance, the fruit thereof will be another historic step on the road to universal peace."

Departing briefly from his prepared address Mr. Eisenhower said:

"I have heard you referred to as a one-party press.

"If that is true, I do trust that the purpose and aim of your party is to spread the truth. If that is so, I apply for membership."

'The Greatest Paradox.'

In talking about international crises, with those created by Red China and Russia obviously in mind, the President declared:

"Every day, in our newspapers, we are confronted with what is probably the greatest paradox in history.

"Out of an instinctive realization of the horror of nuclear war the hunger of virtually every human being on this planet is for tranquil security, for an opportunity to live and let live, for freedom, for peace. And yet, defying this universal hunger, certain dictatorships have engaged in a deliberately conceived drive which periodically creates alarms and fears of war.

"In our uneasy portwar world, crises are a recurrent international diet; their climaxes come and go. But so they have—in some degree—since the beginning of organized society. By their effect on human action, the peril within them is either magnified or diminished."

The President went on to say that a crisis "may be fatal when, by it, unstable men are stampeded into headlong panic."

"Then — bereft of common sense and wise judgment—they they hastily resort to armed force in the hope of crushing a threatening foe, although thereby they impoverish the world and may forfeit the hope for enduring peace.

"A crisis may likewise be deadly when inept men—unsure of themselves and their cause—are smothered by it in despair. Then, grasping at any straw of appeasement, they sell a thousand tomorrows for the pottage of a brief escape from reality."

A crisis also is "the sharpest goad to the creative energies of the men," the President said, "when they recognize it as a challenge to their very resource, and move to meet it in faith, in thought, in courage." He said that under those circumstances men "can act for today in the light of generation still to come."

Then he declared: "The American people, 164,000,000 of us, must recognize that the unprecedented crises of these days — packed with danger though they may be—are in fullest truth challenges that can be met and will be met to the lasting good of our country and the world."

The President declared that America's two great objectives—"mountain peaks that tower above the foothills of lesser goals"—are:

1. Global peace "based on justice, mutual respect and co-operative partnership among the nations."

2. An expanding American economy, "whose benefits widely shared among all our citizens, will make us even better able to co-operate with other friendly nations in their economic advancement and our common prosperity."

On the second point, the President plugged hard for his international trade program.

"We have an unmatched production system. But even our economy will not thrive if confined to our own land. So to sustain our own prosperity and economic growth we must strengthen the economic bonds between us and others of the free world.

"Thus we confront the Communists with a vast and voluntary partnership of vigorous expanding national economies whose aggregate power and productivity, always increasing, can never be successfully challenged by the Communist world."

As he has done on other occasions, Mr. Eisenhower predicted that with continuation of current rates of increase, the gross national product of the United States will climb by 1965 to 500 billion dollars or more. That compares with about 357 billions last year.

"To abandon our program for the gradual reduction of unjustifiable trade barriers — to vitiate the Administration proposals by crippling amendments —would strike a severe blow at the co-operative efforts of the free nations to build up their economic and military defenses," the President said.

"It could result in increasing discrimination against our exports. It could lead to widespread trade restrictions and a sharp contraction in world peace. It could mean a retreat to economic nationalism and isolationism. It would constitute a serious setback to our hopes for global peace."

SAYS NEW FAMILY OF WEAPONS IS BEING DEVELOPED

Air Force Budget Director Reveals Nature of Secret Project at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP) —The Air Force is working on a hush-hush program which could produce "an entirely new family of weapons on very short notice."

This was disclosed today with publication of testimony given at a House Appropriations subcommittee hearing on March 10 in support of the $32,373,000 project.

The project was discussed only in the broadest terms and all details were put off the record, but there appeared to be little doubt that it involves development of new methods of delivering atomic weapons against an enemy.

'Program 299.'

In presenting the project before the subcommittee, Maj. Gen. Frank A. Bogart, Air Force budget director, referred to it as "Program 299 . . . a classified project."

The principal witness was Col. John G. Duffey, chief of armaments for the supply and services directorate. His formal statement also was submitted to the subcommittee off-the-record.

But he said on the record in reply to one question that "the research and development effort" under the program "is still very active, and we could be confronted with an entirely new family of weapons on very short notice."

By the Associated Press.

The committee also made public testimony by the Air Force's Chief of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, who said Red China's air force could be doubled or tripled "overnight" from Russia. He said Pieping's "rapidly expanding system of bases . . . gives the Communists the ability to move in aircraft rapidly from the Soviet Union."

Early this month, President Eisenhower, in discounting predictions of a possible Red attack on Quemoy and Matsu islands by April 15, said the Communists still lacked sufficient airfields and supply bases to support such an assault.

Twining said that of an estimated 20,000 Soviet combat planes, thousands of jet fighters and bombers now can reach targets in Western Europe, Alaska, Japan or the Philippines. He testified Russia may have in quantity production the new Type 39 bomber, which could "hit any important target in Europe, Asia or North Africa." The Soviets have developed a new heavy long-range jet bomber, the Type 37, "aimed squarely in our direction," he added.

The United States plans a total of 23,000 planes, Twining said. By early 1956, all medium bomber units will be equipped with powerful jet B-47s. During this year, heavy bomber units will begin getting the new intercontinental B-52. Twining reported "good progress" toward developing an atomic-powered airplane capable of "unlimited range."

10,000 M.P.H. Missile.

The Soviets, he said, are "putting vast resources" in the race to develop a workable 10,000-mile-an-hour intercontinental ballistic missile "with sufficient range to destroy targets in the United States." The United States has given top priority to this weapon, because these missiles "with intercontinental ranges present a defense problem more difficult than any faced before in history."

Maj. Gen. Bogart testified that the Air Force says it has slashed $950,000,000 off its conventional bomb program for the current year in view of its growing stockpile of nuclear weapons.

Trevor Gardner, an Assistant Secretary of the Air Force, in a letter to Representative Holifield (Dem.), California, chairman of the House Military Operations subcommittee, said the Air Force says it is "strongly opposed" to any centralization of basic research for the Armed Services in a single Defense Department agency.

Gardner's letter was published in the transcript of hearings before the House Appropriations subcommittee. Holifield's committee had recommended a systematic basic research program for all the Armed Services.

$7,000,000 FOR MEDICAL SCHOOL HONORING EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, April 25 (UP)— More than $7,000,000 has been raised for the construction of a medical school honoring Dr. Albert Einstein, who died last week, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement was made at the inaugural dinner of the Society of the Founders of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University. The college, to cost a total of $10,000,000 will admit its first class next September.

SEALSKINS BRING $101.45, UP 21 PCT. FROM OCTOBER

Black Alaska fur sealskins brought an average price of $101.45 in the semi-annual auction today at the Fouke Fur Co. showroom, Fourth and Market streets. The price is 21 per cent higher than the last auction in October.

Increasing fashion importance of the Alaska skin, coupled with continuing demand from Europe, caused the higher price, a company spokesman said. Representatives of Italy, France and Canada took part in the bidding.

About 33,000 skins, including 25,500 owned by the United States Government, will be auctioned today. Others will be sold for the account of Uruguay and the Union of South Africa. The Fouke concern is the only agency authorized to conduct sealskin auctions in the United States.

MAJOR CRIMES UP 19.3 PCT. HERE IN 3-MONTH PERIOD

Rise in Commissions in City Is Compared to First Quarter of 1954 —Figures Cited.

Major crimes in St. Louis increased by 19.3 per cent in the first three months of this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1954, the Police Department told the Post-Dispatch today.

Murders, manslaughters, burglaries, larcenies and automobile thefts were up over the first quarter of last year. There was some reduction in the number of rapes, robberies and aggravated assaults reported to police.

The total of major crimes in St. Louis in January, February and March was 7935, representing an increase of 1285, or 19.3 per cent, over the 6650 reported in the same months last year.

Included in this year's crimes were 31 murders and manslaughters, 1789 burglaries, 3770 larcenies and 1338 automobile thefts. There were 851 more larcenies, 392 more automobile thefts and 123 more burglaries than during the same period in 1954. The number of murders and manslaughters increased by six.

In the first quarter, there were 70 rapes, 522 robberies and 415 aggravated assaults reported. In the corresponding period of 1954, the totals in these categories were: Rapes, 74; robberies, 543, and aggravated assaults, 487.

February was the worst month for major crimes in the city, with a total of 2796 this year. January and March ran about even, with 2560 and 2579, respectively.

Police said they solved 1696 crimes during the first three months of this year—an increase of 64, or 4 per cent, over the same period in 1954.

GEN. PARTRIDGE TO COMMAND U.S. CONTINENTAL AIR DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP) —Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Far East Air Forces, will become the new chief of the United States Continental Air Defense Command, it was disclosed today. Lt. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, head of the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., will succeed him in Tokyo.

President Eisenhower nominated Partridge, 55, to continue as a four-star general in a new assignment which he did not announce. Kuter, 49, was given a fourth star. He has been a general officer since he was 36.

Partridge will succeed Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw as head of the joint Air Force-Navy-Army command.

Maj. Gen. Patrick W. Timberlake was nominated to be a lieutenant general in his new assignment as Allied Air Force commander in southern Europe. Maj. Gen. Clarence S. Irvine, deputy air materiel commander at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, O., was nominated to be a lieutenant general.

The President also nominated retired R. Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid for reappointment as a member of the National Security Training Commission.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., April 25—Selection of a jury to try James W. Stidham, ex-convict, for the murder of Walter Lee Donnell of St. Louis last Sept. 22 during a riot at Missouri Penitentiary began today in Butler county circuit court here.

Prosecuting Attorney James T. Riley of Cole county, from which Stidham took a change of venue, said the 24-year-old Stidham, serving a sentence for robbery at the time, was leader of a murder plot against Donnell. The state will seek the death penalty for Stidham, Riley said.

Twenty-one convicts, subpenaed as witnesses, were scheduled to arrive today in a prison truck, under heavy guard. Rollie Laster, one of the convicts who attacked Donnell, was sentenced to death for the murder in Cole county circuit court last January. An appeal is pending.

MEDAL OF HONOR FOR YOUTH WHO DIED SAVING PATROL

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP) —An 18-year-old infantryman, who gave his life so his patrol could withdraw in the face of intense enemy fire, has won the nation's highest award for heroism.

The Defense Department announced last night the award of the Medal of Honor to Pfc. Charles H. Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norvin N. Barker of Pickens, S. C., who was last seen charging the enemy as the patrol withdrew at Sakkogal, Korea. The citation read:

"Pvt. Barker's unflinching courage, consummate devotion to duty and supreme sacrifice enabled the patrol to complete the mission and effect an orderly withdrawal to friendly lines, reflecting lasting glory upon himself and upholding the highest traditions of the military service."

ROBBED OF $800, WATCH

Mrs. Edna Smith was robbed of $800 and a wristwatch early yesterday by a man who threatened her with a knife, she told police.

Mrs. Smith, a Negro, said the robber accosted her as she entered her apartment, which is at the rear of her shoe shine parlor at 1917 Franklin avenue.

SYMINGTON SAYS U.S. FIGHT FOR ISLES IS UNLIKELY

President Has Been Told Quemoy, Matsu Are Not Vital to Formosa Defense, He Asserts.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 25—Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, a member of the Armed Services Committee, believes that President Eisenhower will not use American military forces to defend Matsu and Quemoy, the offshore islands in the Formosa strait held by the Nationalist Chinese.

Appearing yesterday on the television program "Meet the Press," Symington said that the President's top military advisers had testified before his committee that the small islands are "not essential" for the defense of Formosa.

The Missouri Senator was emphatic that Formosa itself should be defended from Red Chinese aggression and said it might be necessary to station American troops there.

Intercontinental Missiles.

Symington, a former Secretary of the Air Force, said that in his opinion Soviet Russia is ahead of the United States in the development of intercontinental ballistic missiles, supersonic rocket projectiles with a range of some 10,000 miles. He said the Russians had the advantage of the knowledge of the German scientists who developed the destructive V-2 rocket used in the last war. He said the United States should work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to catch up with the Russians.

Answering a pointed question, Symington said he expected to lead the fight in the Armed Services Committee and on the Senate floor to increase President Eisenhower's military budget. He said he was against cutting the Marine Corps by 29,000 men, all volunteers, while other young men are being drafted.

Asked whether he was among those "mealy mouthed Senators" who former President Truman said "kissed President Eisenhower on both cheeks," Symington replied he had been called many things but never "mealy mouthed." He said he expected to take the Senate floor to criticize the President and his civilian advisers who put "figures before defense."

Begs Off on McCarthy.

The Missourian, who is also a member of the Government Operations Committee, asked to be excused from answering questions about Republican Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. He said he never talked about the affairs of the Wisconsin Senator unless McCarthy was present.

As in the past, Symington asserted that he was "not available" for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination and that his objective has been and is "to be a good Senator from Missouri." His name has been included in recent Gallup polls among those with nation-wide support for the nomination.

BAO DAI WARNED TO FIRE DIEM OR FACE CIVIL WAR

Rebel Army Spokesman Delivers Message to Absentee Viet Nam Chief of State.

SAIGON, Indochina, April 25 (UP)—A rebel army warned Chief of State Bao Dai today to fire American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem by Sunday or face a full civil war.

A spokesman for the Binh Xuyen society which spearheads the opposition "unified front" armed struggle against Diem delivered this ultimatum to the absentee former emperor:

"His majesty must decide before the end of April whether to dismiss Diem. If he does not it means civil war which at the same time will sweep away the dynasty."

The warning from the gang of ex-river pirates came as the harried Premier sent national army planes into the air to flood the country with leaflets urging the population to back his government in a nation-wide referendum.

The leaflets called on the populace to answer three questions by telegram or letter: (1) Do you favor general elections for a national assembly; (2) Do you favor unifying the army; (3) Do you favor total sovereignty and the consolidation of Viet Nam's independence.

The opposition front made up of the Binh Xuyen, the Hoa Hao Buddhist sect and part of the Cao Daist sect rejected outright the referendum plan proposed by Diem.

The front distributed its own leaflets today urging the south Viet Namese to answer the same question. But the front added one more: Shall Diem remain Prime Minister?

"No matter what the result of the referendum," the sects said, "We will refuse to back a government headed by Diem."

RED CHINA-E. GERMAN PACT

TOKYO, Monday, April 25 (AP)—Red China and East Germany signed a trade and pay ment agreement in Peiping yesterday, Peiping radio said today.

The broadcast, heard here, said China will export minerals and ores, animal products, foodstuff, silk and other products. East Germany will provide China with power generating equipment, metal rolling equipment, machinery, precision optical instruments, chemicals, fertilizers and other products.

"Gee! Is that what they mean by red-hot water, Mister?"

Rusty-red water from a water heater may fool a little boy. But the plumber knows it comes from a tank that keeps producing red-rust.
Ask your plumber about the tank in the Ruud Alcoa Alloy Automatic Gas Water Heater. He'll tell you it's made of a special Alcoa Alloy that cannot produce red-rust—ever!
So, for sparkling-clean hot water always—from a tank that will outlast ordinary tanks by many years—get a new Ruud Alcoa Alloy Water Heater. It will keep pace with any automatic washer. And—no more rusty-red hot water!

YOU GET THESE OTHER FEATURES, TOO!
• Costs less to own and operate • Uses GAS ... fastest automatic fuel
• Any temperature you want, up to 190°
• Optional convenience: 2 temperatures from the same tank at the same time.
• Rated 10 year warranty • Long, trouble-free service ... and many others

11 DIE IN CLASHES BETWEEN FRENCH, REBELS IN ALGERIA

ALGIERS, April 25 (AP)—Scattered weekend clashes between French security forces and guerrilla bands resulted in 11 deaths in troubled Algeria as Moslem faithful began the month-long observance of Ramadan, a period of strict fasting.

Eight Algerians died in fighting with the French and two were found bound, their throats cut by unknown assailants. One French paratrooper fell in battle with guerrillas in northern Algeria.

In Rabat, French Morocco, French authorities announced today the arrest of 179 Moroccans charged with plotting to prepare a revolution against French rule in this North African protectorate.

NEW TREMORS JAR GREEK CITY, 19,000 ARE HOMELESS

ATHENS, April 25 (AP) — Seven light tremors shook Volos during the night and early this morning, collapsing a number of buildings already weakened by the heavy shocks of April 19 and 21.

Mayor George Kartalis said 15,000 of Volos's 53,000 population have abandoned the city and 19,000 persons are without shelter of any kind.

An official estimate said 80 per cent of Volos's houses are uninhabitable. The announced death toll to date is seven.

NAVY HAS STORED 60-YEAR SUPPLY OF HAMBURGER

Hoover Group Finds 'Great Waste' in Food, Clothing Buying of All Services.

The New York Herald-Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 25—The Hoover Commission took a hard look at the $3,400,000,000 a year the Government spends for food and clothing and estimated last night the taxpayers could be saved $340,000,000 annually by better management.

In another of its series of reports, the commission found that the Navy has on hand enough canned hamburger to last it 60 years at the present rate of consumption. It has an eight years' supply of blue trousers. The Army has a 10.6 years' supply of women's wool serge taupe uniforms. The Air Force has a three-to-five years' supply of blue uniforms, and the Marine Corps has more than three years' supply of some types of uniforms.

Actual purchase of food and clothing, principally by the armed services, runs about $1,700,000,000 a year, the report said, but the over-all cost is double that sum when additional expenses of planning, distribution, warehousing and other management are considered.

'Great Waste' Reported.

"Great waste, duplication, overlapping and an unnecessary number of agencies concerned with food and clothing" was reported. The Navy was charged with holding old packs and supplies of foods which other services needed.

In the Army alone the inventory of operational apparel supplies as of June 30, 1954, was found to be $464,300,000. Its reserve stocks of apparel amounted to $837,362,000.

The task force found too many service depots in operation, and "tremendous" quantities of depot stocks believed to be far in excess of what was needed for the operating levels set by the armed services.

The Marine Corps at current strength could be equipped with green coats for 3.2 years from the stocks on hand. Its stock of green trousers was called sufficient for 3.5 years.

Canned Hamburger.

In the matter of food, the task force found that the 14 naval supply depots in this country in 1954 had on hand 886,020 pounds of canned hamburger, of which 97,643 pounds were bought in 1950 and 221,638 pounds in 1951. At the present rate of consumption this supply would be enough to last for 719 months.

The task force also found in these depots, 1,330,026 pounds of canned beef and gravy, some of which was bought as far back as 1948. The supply would last for 79 months at the recent rate of use. The same depots had enough canned ham chunks to last for 75 months. Much of it dates back to 1950 and 1951.

Central Buying Recommended.

To remedy these and other conditions, the commission recommended:

Creation within the Department of Defense of a central agency to handle procurement, distribution, warehousing and management of the food supply for all the armed services.

Establishment of a similar central agency to take over full responsibility for clothing supplies for the armed services.

Study by the central subsistence agency officials of the recommendations of the task force for improvement of financial controls over the supply of food and clothing for the services.

Assumption by the General Services Administration of full responsibility for procurement and distribution of food and other common-use items for all civilian agencies in government; and development of cross-servicing arrangements with the Army's Quartermaster General market center in this work.

AIR ACADEMY COST PER CADET MORE THAN WEST POINT'S

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —"Operational" costs of the temporary Air Force Academy at Lowry Air Force Base at Denver for the year beginning July 1 will average $7100 for each cadet.

The figure does not include pay of cadets, subsistence, or capital outlays. The Air Force expects to have 300 cadets enrolled at the academy during the year.

Cost figures were made public today by the House Appropriations Committee, on the basis of testimony of Air Force officers at hearings on Air Force appropriations.

The comparable cost for a cadet at the military academy at West Point is $5300 a year. "The difference is due to flying costs, including incentive pay for approximately 50 per cent of the staff and faculty," an Air Force statement to the committee said.

PAUL THOMPSON WINS STATE CHECKERS TITLE

Paul Thompson, 6230 Garfield avenue, Berkeley, won the State Checkers Tournament for the second consecutive year last night.

Other winners in the tournament, held over the weekend at the Railroad Y.M.C.A., 201 South Twentieth street, were, in Class A: Leslie Dailey, 1206 Shawmut place, second place, and Earl Arnold, Downtown Y.M.C.A., third.

In the class B tourney William Carlin, 2030 East Harris avenue, and Grady Beckham, Joplin, tied for first place. Third place winner was Robert Schmidt, Carthage.

U.S. MILITARY CUTS COFFEE, CIGARETTE RATIONS IN EUROPE

HEIDELBERG, Germany, April 25 (AP) — The United States Army and Air Force in Europe today announced cuts in cigarette and coffee rations effective May 1. The forces are waging a campaign against black marketing.

Cigarette allotments will be reduced from 15 to 10 packages weekly in Germany and France. The limit of 10 has been in effect in Britain for two years. Persons who certify they smoke more can get as much as five packs additional per week.

The present one-pound monthly coffee ration for personnel living in barracks will be eliminated. Military personnel living in their own quarters can still get four pounds a month.

Both coffee and cigarettes are sold to service personnel in post exchanges and comissaries. The Army said surveys showed present rations exceed actual needs.

A number of American Army wives have been caught in the campaign against black marketing. Military courts fined some of them for bartering post exchange coffee and cigarettes.

PREMIER SAYS JAPAN IS FIRMLY WITH WEST

Hatoyama Asserts Ties With Reds Do Not Mean Acceptance of Communism.

TOKYO, April 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Hatoyama said today Japan is "firmly resolved" to an "attitude of anti-Communism," and pledged anew his adherence to democracy, peace and individualism.

Striking at critics of his moves toward closer ties with the Soviet Union and more trade with Red China, he explained:

"Normalization of diplomatic relations with Communist countries is one thing and the acceptance of Communism is another."

It was perhaps Hatoyama's strongest anti-Communist statement in the two months of his new administration.

Speaking before the reconvened Diet (Parliament), the Premier advocated a six-year defense build-up, full participation in projects for economic rehabilitation of Asia, a stabilized economy, construction of 420,000 new homes, a $90,000,000 tax cut and reform of the school system.

He said Japan is firmly in the Western camp and spoke of "the cardinal principle" of co-operation with the United States.

The Diet, soon to begin consideration of the cabinet's $2,777,000,000 budget bill, also heard Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu warn of the danger of atomic war.

Emperor Hirohito opened the new Diet session with a request that the Diet stabilize the people's welfare, develop Japan's economy, and do all possible to further world peace.

The budget bill includes $368,500,000 for Japan's defense—$242,000,000 for its self defense forces and $126,500,000 in services and cash toward the joint cost of keeping United States forces here for Japan's defense.

Diet members will start hearings on the budget Wednesday.

U NU FAVORS VISIT TO ASIA BY EISENHOWER

tempt to alleviate prevalent fears and to bring about world peace.

U Nu's answer was:

"The President of the United States has never visited most of the countries of Asia. His knowledge of Asia is therefore based on reports made to him by his officials posted in Asia.

"However objective these reports may be, the President's impression of Asia still remains second-hand. This can never be as satisfactory as a first-hand impression which can only be obtained by a personal visit. I feel that such a visit would help to dispel misunderstandings and promote better relations.

"For Burma's part, we would welcome such a visit.

"In my view, consideration of the kind of move which is contemplated in your question should follow such a visit by the President of the United States."

The same question had been submitted by this writer to the heads of state of all of the Asian-African conference inviting countries—U Nu, Prime Minister Sir John Kotelawala of Ceylon, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, Prime Minister Ali Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia and Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan.

1954 CRIME RATE UP 5 PCT.; 2,267,250 MAJOR OFFENSES

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The crime rate in the United States took another 5 per cent jump in 1954, with major offenses estimated at 2,267,250, Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

This translates into one major crime committed every 13.9 seconds.

Hoover noted that last year was the seventh consecutive year in which the crime rate rose, and the third straight year in which more than 2,000,000 serious offenses occurred.

The statistics, published in the FBI's annual "Uniform Crime Reports," showed that although the nation's population grew by 7 per cent since 1950, the crime rate was increasing by 28.7 per cent during the same period.

241 AIR FORCE MEN OUSTED SINCE 1949

913 Civilian Employes Have Lost Jobs in Loyalty, Security Programs.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP) — The Air Force has dropped 241 officers and enlisted men under the operations of various loyalty and security programs since 1949, it was disclosed today.

In addition, 913 civilian employes were eased off the Air Force payroll since 1947 and deemed to be security risks.

The figures were given to a House Appropriations subcommittee recently by Maj. Gen. J. F. Carroll, a former Federal Bureau of Investigation inspector who is director of the Air Force's Office of Special Investigations. His testimony was made public today.

In his appearance before the subcommittee Carroll said that none of the ousted officers and airmen were spies for Russia.

But, he added, "all of them . . . were deemed to have backgrounds or beliefs which indicated that they had either an affiliation with the Communist movement or sympathetic association with individuals who were affiliated with the Communist movement, or a sympathetic association with activities of the Communist movement and so forth.

"None of them were spies and none of them were saboteurs. They were deemed, however, to be security risks to the extent that it was not considered to be consistent with the national interest to retain them in an affiliated status in the Air Force."

As for civilian employes, he said, in addition to those removed from the payroll, 34 employes have been suspended and 550 are now in various stages of processing under the security-loyalty program.

MAY 7 IS PROCLAIMED MISSOURI BOYS TOWN DAY

Saturday, May 7, has been proclaimed "Boys Town of Missouri Day" by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly. The non-profit, non-sectarian home for neglected boys near St. James will be dedicated at ceremonies starting at 2 p.m. that day.

In his proclamation, Gov. Donnelly urged Missourians to take note of the "contributions Boys Town of Missouri has made to the welfare of our state, and to lend generous and enthusiastic support to this worthwhile organization."

William F. James, president of the institution, invited the public to attend the dedication and inspect the home. Boys Town of Missouri was opened in June 1949.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY MAKES 2658 HOME VISITS

Members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society made 2658 visits to homes of the poor in the first quarter of this year compared with 1312 in the corresponding period of 1954, Msgr. John J. Butler, executive secretary, said yesterday.

In a report to the organization at its quarterly meeting at St. John's Church, Msgr. Butler said expenses in the three-month period totaled $78,975, representing a 30 per cent increase over the amount spent in behalf of needy families in last year's first quarter.

U.N. ADMITS AIR VIOLATION OVER N. KOREA, DENIES 11

PANMUNJOM, Korea, April 25 (AP) — The United Nations Command today admitted one air violation of North Korea territory, but rejected Communist charges in 11 other cases.

"We deny these allegations and we further demand you cease making charges based on careless reporting," Navy Capt. William C. F. Robards, the U.N.C. secretary, reported.

Joint security area secretaries of both sides attended the 19-minute session. Robards said investigation disclosed four U.N. aircraft crossed the demilitarized zone and flew over Kumsong and other places before returning south on March 15.

SOUTHEAST ASIA DEFENSE GROUP OPENS PARLEY

Some 75 military experts from the United States, Britain, France, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand began a secret one-week meeting to map a coordinated master plan.

Their task was given to them by the Manila pact meeting in Bangkok last February.

"The time in the hands of free nations is short," British delegate Maj. Gen. Eduardo Colville told the Bangkok meeting. "It is imperative that we agree immediately on plans for united military action."

Pakistan's Lt. Col. A. Bilgrami said the conference "could very well shape the future of southeast Asia" and that "time is short for everybody."

Plea for United Defense.

Brig. Gen. Pelagio Cruz of the Philippines appealed for united defense "without further delay." He said "together we can stand and roll back the menace to our way of life."

The military conference got under way against the background of the Formosa crisis and the worsening situation in Indochina. It was the first full-scale meeting of the military group.

No agenda was announced but it was understood the group would discuss establishment of a mobile striking force, the contribution of each nation to the force, establishment of a central training group, formation of a joint intelligence agency and agreement on use of airfields in each nation.

Military experts were aware of the futility of trying to match Red China's huge army on a man-to-man basis. No joint army was planned but rather there would be a mobile striking force which could hit back at aggression anywhere. The United States would be expected to supply most air and naval forces.

Strict Safeguards.

Strict security measures were enforced in this mountain resort city. Even some low-ranking members of the Philippines delegation were not allowed to enter the hall when Lt. Gen. Jesus Vargas, chief of staff of the Philippines armed forces, opened the session.

Vargas told the conference the military agreement of the treaty nations "is now being translated into action" and "when the strength of the free nations are pooled together aggressors and aggression cannot prevail."

Informed sources said the military experts would consider a "master plan" emphasizing strategic air power, based on Clark field in the Philippines and Singapore in Malaya—with an advance base in Bangkok.

COMMUNISTS SLIP AGAIN IN AUSTRIAN SOVIET ZONE VOTE

VIENNA, April 25 (AP)—Returns today from the Soviet occupation zone's first local council elections in five years showed the Communist party has lost still more of its minority voting strength.

The results indicated the Red party members are abandoning the cause in droves in preparation for the anticipated end of the occupation.

About 9000 fewer votes were cast than in 1954 balloting for the provincial legislature. This time the Communists polled 12,107 votes less than last year. The neo-Nazi party, the League of Independents, suffered even greater losses.

The two parties forming the federal government coalition, Chancellor Raab's conservative People's party and the Socialists, took 92 per cent of the vote. The coalition leaders hailed the result as a triumph for their foreign and domestic policies.

The government cause was strengthened by Moscow's recent announcement it was ready to end the occupation in exchange for a pledge of Austrian neutrality.

EINSTEIN LETTER CITES MINORITY'S ONLY DEFENSE

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—In one of his last letters, the late Dr. Albert Einstein said that the "only defense a minority has is passive resistance."

The letter, published in the current issue of the Reporter magazine, was written by Einstein on Nov. 24, 1954 to Arthur Taubb, of New Haven, Conn.

Taubb had chided the famous scientist for Einstein's earlier remark that he would "rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler" than a scientist or a scholar if starting a career today.

Referring to his original statement, Einstein wrote Taubb:

"I wanted to suggest that the practices of those ignoramuses who use their power to tyrannize over intellectuals must not be accepted by individuals without a struggle.

"Spinoza followed this rule when he turned down a professorship at Heidelberg and (unlike Hegel) decided to earn his living in a way that would not force him to surrender his freedom.

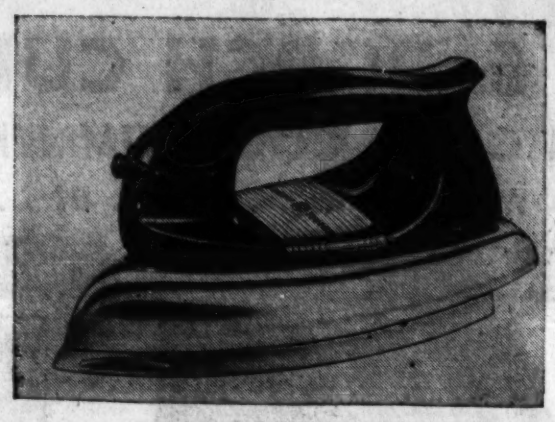

"The only defense a minority has is passive resistance."

FINAL COMMUNIQUE AND RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT BANDUNG

Asian-African Delegates Express Full Support of U.N. Charter on Human Rights and Self-Determination, Deplore Racial Segregation in Africa and Elsewhere.

BANDUNG, INDONESIA, April 25 (AP)
The text of the final communique approved at the closing session last night of the Asian-African conference:

THE ASIAN-AFRICAN CONFERENCE, convened upon the invitation of the Prime Ministers of Burma, Ceylon, India, Indonesia and Pakistan met in Bandung from the 18th to 24th April, 1955. In addition to the five sponsoring countries, the following 24 countries participated in the conference:

Afghanistan, Cambodia, the Peoples' Republic of China, Egypt, Ethiopia, the Gold Coast, Iran, Iraq, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Lebanon, Liberia, Libya, Nepal, the Philippines, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Thailand, Turkey, the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, the state of Viet Nam, and Yeman.

(A) ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

1. The Asian-African conference recognized the urgency of promoting economic development in the Asian-African region. There was general desire for economic co-operation among the participating countries on the basis of mutual interest and respect for national sovereignty. Proposals with regard to economic co-operation within participating countries do not preclude either the desirability or need for co-operation with countries outside the region, including the investment of foreign capital. It was further recognized that assistance being received by certain participating countries from outside the region through international or under bilateral arrangements had made valuable contribution to the implementation of their development programs.

2. Participating countries agreed to provide technical assistance to one another to the maximum extent practicable in the form of: Experts, trainees, pilot projects and equipment for demonstration purposes, exchange of know-how and the establishment of national, and where possible, regional training and research institutes for imparting technical knowledge and skills in co-operation with existing international agencies.

3. The Asian-African conference recommended: Early establishment of a special United Nations fund for economic development, allocation by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development of a greater part of its resources to Asian-African countries, early establishment of international finance co-operation which should include in its activities the undertaking of equity investment, and the encouragement to promotion of joint ventures among Asian-African countries in so far as this will promote their common interest.

4. The Asian-African conference recognized the vital need for stabilizing commodity trade in the region. The principle of enlarging the scope of multilateral trade and payments was accepted. However, it was recognized that some countries would have to take recourse to bilateral trade arrangements in view of their prevailing economic conditions.

5. The Asian-African conference recommended that collective action be taken by participating countries for stabilizing international prices of and demand for primary commodities . . . and that as far as practicable and desirable they should adopt a unified approach on the subjects in the United Nations permanent advisory commission on international commodity trade and other international forums.

Diversification of Exports.

6. The Asian-African conference further recommended that Asian-African countries should diversify their export trade by processing their raw material wherever economically feasible before export; inter-regional trade fairs should be promoted and encouragement given to the exchange of trade delegations and groups of business men; the exchange of information and of samples should be encouraged with the view of promoting inter-regional (trade) and normal facilities should be provided for transit trade of land-locked countries.

7. The Asian-African conference attached considerable importance to shipping and expressed concern that shipping lines have reviewed from time to time their shipping rates, often to the detriment of participating countries.

It recommended the study of this problem and collective action to induce shipping lines to adopt a more reasonable attitude. It was suggested that a study of railway freight transit rates may be made.

8. The Asian-African conference agreed that encouragement should be given to the establishment of national and regional banks and insurance companies.

9. The Asian-African conference felt that an exchange of information on matters relating to oil, such as remittance of profits and taxation, might eventually lead to formation of common policies.

Nuclear Energy.

10. The Asian-African conference emphasized the particular significance of the development of nuclear energy for the Asian-African countries. The conference welcomed the initiative of the powers principally concerned in offering to make available information regarding the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes, urged speedy establishment of an international atomic energy agency which should provide for adequate representation of Asian-African countries on the executive authority of the agency, and recommended to Asian and African governments to take full advantage of training and other facilities in peaceful uses of atomic energy offered by countries sponsoring such programs.

11. The Asian-African conference agreed to the appointment of liaison officers in participating countries to be nominated by their respective national governments for the exchange of information and ideas on matters of mutual interest. It recommended that fuller use should be made of existing international organizations, and participating countries who were not members of such international organizations but were eligible should secure membership.

12. The Asian-African conference recommended that there should be prior consultation of the participating countries in international forums with the view, as far as possible, to furthering their mutual economic interest. It is, however, not intended to form a regional bloc.

(B) CULTURAL CO-OPERATION

1. The Asian-African conference was convinced that among the most powerful means of promoting understanding among nations is development of cultural co-operation. Asia and Africa have been the cradle of great religions and civilizations which have enriched other cultures and civilizations while themselves being enriched in the process. Thus the cultures of Asia and Africa are based on spiritual and universal foundations. Unfortunately, cultural contacts among the Asian-African countries were interrupted during past centuries.

The peoples of Asia and Africa are now animated by a keen and sincere desire to renew their old cultural contacts and develop new ones in the context of the modern world. All participating governments at the conference reiterated their determination to work for closer cultural co-operation.

2. The Asian-African conference took note of the fact that the existence of colonialism in many parts of Asia and Africa, in whatever form it may be, not only prevents cultural co-operation but also suppresses the national cultures of peoples. Some colonial powers have denied to their dependent peoples basic rights in the sphere of education and culture, which hampers development of their personality, and also prevents cultural intercourse with other Asian-African peoples. This is particularly true in the case of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, where the basic right of the people to study their own language and culture has been suppressed. Similar discrimination has been practiced against African and colored people in some parts of the continent of Africa.

The conference felt that these policies amount to a denial of the fundamental rights of man, impede cultural advancement in this region and also hamper cultural co-operation on a wider international plane. The conference condemned such denial of fundamental rights in the sphere of education and culture in some parts of Asia and Africa by this and other forms of cultural suppression.

In particular, the conference condemned racialism as a means of cultural suppression.

3. It was not from any sense of exclusiveness or rivalry with other groups of nations and other civilizations and cultures that the conference viewed the development of cultural co-operation among Asian-African countries. True to the age-old tradition of tolerance and universality the conference believed that Asian and African cultural co-operation should be developed in a large context of world co-operation.

Outside Cultural Contacts.

Side-by-side with the development of Asian-African cultural co-operation, the countries of Asia and Africa desire to develop cultural contacts with others. This would enrich their own culture and would also help in the promotion of world peace and understanding.

4. There are many countries in Asia and Africa which have not yet been able to develop educational, scientific and technical institutions. The conference recomended that the countries of Asia and Africa which are more fortunately placed in this respect should give facilities for the admission of students and trainees from such countries to their institutions. Such facilities should also be available to Asian-African people to whom opportunities for

Nationalist Veto of Chou's Offer Takes U.S. Off Hot Spot

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

WASHINGTON, April 25.

RED CHINA'S OFFER to negotiate with the United States may have been no more than a tactical move in the propaganda war. But if it had been a genuine effort to get together to ease the tensions threatening war in the Far East, the United States would nevertheless have found it difficult if not impossible to enter those negotiations.

If this proves to have been merely another round in the propaganda contest, it is still too early to say who has won it. For a period of 24 hours the world was electrified by what seemed a real hope that peace could be arrived at around the conference table. Then having held out this hope, Chou En-lai, the Communist premier and foreign minister, qualified it, if in fact he did not withdraw it altogether, by insisting on the continuing right of Peiping to "liberate" the island of Formosa.

Reply by U.S.

In that same interval, however, the United States had replied to Chou's offer with the qualification that any conference must include a representative of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists. And George K. C. Yeh, the Nationalist foreign minister, had said without any qualification that they would never sit down at a conference table with representatives of Communist China.

Thus the Nationalists seem to exercise a veto over American foreign policy in the Far East. That is how it will look to the Asians who were so eager to believe at the Bandung conference that Chou's offer would lead to negotiation and a peaceful settlement. This was true not merely of the neutralists such as Prime Minister Nehru of India but of such friends of America as Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan.

It was just a year ago that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles entered a conference at Geneva over Indochina with Chou heading a delegation from Peiping. At that conference Dulles was under a very grave handicap.

In the first place, he had no bargaining position. He could make no concessions that might induce the Communists to come to a reasonable settlement of a war that in effect they had already won. But even more important, Dulles felt that his mere presence at the conference table with the Communist Chinese was a heavy liability. He remained at Geneva just one week without ever having so much as glanced in the direction of Chou.

Rebuked by Knowland.

When he got back to Washington, he was soundly rebuked by Senator Knowland, the Republican leader in the Senate, and by other stanch defenders of Chiang. In the year that has

Bar on Use Of Nuclear Arms Urged

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 25 (AP).
Following is a resolution on mass destruction and disarmament adopted yesterday by the Asian-African conference:

THE Asian-African conference, having considered the dangerous situation of international tension existing and the risks confronting the whole human race from the outbreak of global war in which the destructive power of all types of armaments, including nuclear and thermonuclear weapons, would be employed, invites the attention of all nations to the terrible consequences that follow if such a war were to break out.

The conference considers that disarmament and the prohibition of the production, experimentation and use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons of war are imperative to save mankind and civilization from the fear and prospect of wholesale destruction. It considers that the nations of Asia and Africa assembled here have a duty toward humanity and civilization to proclaim their support for the prohibition.

The conference considers that effective international control should be established and maintained to implement such prohibition, and speedy and determined efforts should be made to this end.

Pending total prohibition of the manufacture of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons, this conference appeals to all powers concerned to reach agreement to suspend experiments with such weapons.

The conference declares that universal disarmament is an absolute necessity for the preservation of peace, and requests the United Nations to continue its efforts, and appeals to all concerned speedily to bring about the regulation, limitation control, and reduction of all armed forces and armaments, including the prohibition of production, experimentations and use of all weapons of mass destruction, and to establish effective international control to this end.

Freedom and Peace Termed Interdependent; Tolerance Sought

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 25 (AP).
Here is the text of a resolution on world peace and co-operation adopted yesterday by the Asian-African Conference:

THE ASIAN-AFRICAN CONFERENCE gave anxious thought to the question of world peace and co-operation. It viewed with deep concern the present state of international tension with its danger of an atomic world war. The problem of peace is correlative with the problem of international security. In this connection all states should co-operate, especially through the United Nations, in bringing about the reduction of armaments and the elimination of nuclear weapons under effective international control. In this way international peace can be promoted and nuclear energy can be used exclusively for peaceful purposes. This would help answer the need, particularly of Asia and Africa, for what they urgently require are social progress and better standards of life in a larger freedom.

Freedom and peace are interdependent. The right of self-determination must be enjoyed by all peoples, and freedom and independence must be granted with the least possible delay to those who are still dependent peoples. Indeed all nations should have the right freely to choose their own political and economic systems and their own way of life in conformity with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

Free from mistrust and fear, and with confidence and good will toward each other, nations should practice tolerance and live together in peace with one another as good neighbors and develop friendly co-operation on the basis of the following principles:

1. Respect for fundamental human rights and for the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

2. Respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all nations.

3. Recognition of the equality of all races and of the equality of all nations large and small.

4. Abstention from intervention or interference in the internal affairs of another country.

5. Respect for the right of each nation to defend itself singly or collectively in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.

6. (a) Abstention from the use of arrangements of collective defense to serve particularly interest of any of big powers.

(b) Abstention by any country from exerting pressures on other countries.

7. Refraining from acts or threats of aggression or the use of force against the territorial integrity of the political independence of any country.

8. Settlement of all international disputes by peaceful means such as negotiation, conciliation or arbitration as well as other peaceful means of the people's own choice in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.

9. Promotion of mutual interest and co-operation.

Respect for justice and international delegations.

The Asian and African conference declares its conviction that friendly co-operation in accordance with these principles would effectively contribute to the maintenance and promotion of international peace and security, while co-operation in the economic, cultural and social fields would help bring about common prosperity and the well-being of all.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Looking Back at Yalta

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Ten years of Republican blasting at the Yalta conference has been crowned by phenomenal success. The Democrats have now arrived at the point where they regard Yalta as a family skeleton, better kept hidden away in a closet.

But why?

Publication of the Yalta text has proved only one thing. That the late President Roosevelt had one purpose in mind when he made the agreement, erroneously labeled by the Republicans as a "sell-out" to Stalin. That purpose was to end the war victoriously against the Japanese with as little loss of American lives as possible.

The Republicans have made much of their claim that Roosevelt gave Far Eastern concessions to the Russians, knowing at the time that we would soon possess the atom bomb. But even if that claim is true, it only proves that Roosevelt made an error in judgment.

Our top military planners were saying at the time of Yalta that the war with Japan would last another 18 months after Germany's defeat. That was why our Joint Chiefs of Staff asked Roosevelt to get a promise from Stalin to intervene in the Far Eastern conflict.

Thus what have we? Nothing but an error in military judgment prompted by a President's desire to save American lives.

Housing for the Elderly

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Inasmuch as elderly people like nice homes in nice locations, a housing project for elderly people built close to the downtown area does not seem proper.

My idea is to build a home in Benton Park or Lafayette Park, or to take over a large building on Tower Grove avenue near Shaw's Garden.

A Mountain of Terms

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A Nashville newspaper recently reprinted a short editorial from your paper. It concerned the rapid increase of new words in the English language, and bewailed the fact that these artificially constructed words are apparently displacing the ones honored by time and tradition.

There is probably considerable justification for this thesis, especially in view of the mountain of terms coined by the advertising industry; but the example given was a singularly unfortunate choice. The word which seemed to be the last straw for your writer was "audiology." The writer was disturbed by the fear that this term would replace the words "hearing" and "deafness."

I should like to reassure the writer on this point. Audiology is the study of hearing and deafness, just as sociology is the study of peoples and society; psychology is the study of mental and emotional processes, biology is the study of living organisms, etc. Does the use of these words mean that the words "people," "mental processes," and "living organisms" are no longer in use? The reason that there were so few "-ology" terms in Shakespeare's day was that there was very little in the way of scientific study of such topics being carried out at that time. I am sure that your writer is not complaining about the increase of scientific knowledge and study.

He should realize, then, that when a new discipline is born, it requires a name. Shakespeare would not recognize the word "penicillin," either. Should it not have been discovered, or should it be nameless?

Perhaps the writer is disturbed about the "audio-" prefix. Why not "hearingology?" Only that "audiology" certainly is more euphonious. The prefix is perfectly respectable, being found in such everyday words as "audit," "audience," "audible," and "auditorium."

Encroaching on Secrecy

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I read that Mr. M. E. Morris, Director of Revenue for Missouri, plans an intensive campaign for collection of the state income tax.

To quote Mr. Morris: "All we need is the front page of a federal return." This, according to reports, would be microfilmed.

I thought federal income tax returns were confidential! Will someone enlighten me? I pay my state income tax, but such a method seems an encroachment on all our rights! E.H.B.

Utilities and Millstones

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

With reference to your recent editorial, "Sauce, But Not for the Gander," just where is there any comparison between the local utility and that of the TVA? It would be of much interest since one is a private corporation and the other is a millstone around the taxpayer's neck.

Let's try to do a little better next time—more truth and less blarney.

Backward Step in Law

Creation of a United States Administrative Court, as recommended by the new Hoover Commission, calls for serious second thoughts. The proposal, which stems from a "task force" headed by James M. Douglas of St. Louis, would turn over the quasi-judicial functions of the various federal agencies—the Trade Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Communications Commission, the Reserve Board, the National Labor Relations Board, the Civil Aeronautics Board and so on—to the new court.

The question arises at once whether the creation of such a court might not undo much that was gained by the development of administrative law. The specialized agencies were set up for the regulation of activities in diverse specialized fields, activities to be fully understood only by those with more specialized knowledge than is to be reasonably expected of a judge. Congress, of course, is the only source of basic regulatory statutes, but the agencies apply them and deal with violations.

This raises the complaint that they are empowered to act both as prosecutor and judge. In a way, there is some foundation for this. But in practice, the agencies have divided their functions between attorneys who act as prosecutors and trial examiners who fulfill the judicial role. And the board members, appointed by the President, have the final word.

* * *

Further, proceedings by these agencies resemble judicial trials. The respondent and his lawyers are afforded opportunity to question witnesses, introduce evidence and in other ways to make his own case. There is the further right of direct appeal to the Appellate Courts if he feels a decision was not based on substantial evidence or was made contrary to law.

This handling of technical issues by specialized commissions undoubtedly has avoided years of protracted litigation in the courts. There a judge without benefit of the pertinent background would have to decide on the basis of conflicting "expert testimony." The task might well be even more difficult for a jury.

The Douglas proposal does attempt to meet this weakness by suggesting division of the proposed court into sections, each to deal with some specialized field. But would this not be just about what the agencies are now doing? Would the judges not need their own staffs of experts to guide them?

* * *

Former President Hoover and five other members of his commission refused to sign this recommendation although they did send it on to Congress. A prime function of the commission is to suggest ways of reducing governmental expenditures; this plan would inevitably increase them. But as one commission member, Democratic Representative Chet Holifield of California, strongly warned, its adoption would lead to far more serious difficulties than its cost.

Administrative law long ago justified itself in practice. It has been called the greatest advance of jurisprudence in modern times. It keeps a new and wide area of the law up to the tempo of commerce and industry.

Flaws have been found in one agency and another from time to time just as flaws have been found in the courts. But the corrective would seem to be remedial action within the agencies rather than pushing an intelligent procedure half-way back into the morass it is designed to dry up.

Cheers Don't Always Win

Now that the National Collegiate Athletic Association has listed football games to be telecast next fall, coaches can begin dress rehearsals for the starring casts. With the weather and pitching arms just warming up, it is a little early to be excited about football, but the TV schedule has some interesting points.

Chief among these is that Big Ten conference teams hold a major interest in the eight scheduled games. The Far West, Southwest, East and Southeast each offer one, but the Midwest, as represented by the Big Ten and nobody else, has three.

Street-corner alumni will not argue about this entertainment, because the Big Ten plays fine football. And five special regional games are also allowed for TV, so local interest will have its Saturday on the viewing screen too. Oklahoma and Missouri might even show up one day. Who knows?

But the Big Ten schools were the ones most loudly and bitterly opposed to last year's "monopolistic" pattern set by the N.C.A.A. They wanted their rights to the airwaves. This year they will get them. Does it pay to yell at the referee?

Appeal From the Papagos

Geiger counters are clicking over the Papago Indian reservation in southern Arizona. Are the Papagos becoming rich and happy because of the uranium search? They are not. For, The Christian Science Monitor reports, the Papagos do not hold mineral rights to reservation land.

When Woodrow Wilson established the reservation in 1917, mining rights were somehow withheld. Nobody now seems certain whether mining interests exerted pressure, as the Papagos suspect, or whether this was simply an oversight. In any case, the Papagos are said to have the only Indian reservation to which the United States has not ceded mineral rights.

This means not only that the Indians may be cheated, if uranium is located in great quantities on their land. It means, even without that prospect, that their land may be gobbled up by outsiders filing mineral claims (20 acres to a claim). This is already happening.

The Papago tribe represents probably the oldest living Americans, and very nearly the poorest. It would be a shameful business for the United States Government to stand by while they lose not only a chance for some prosperity but their only lands as well. Congress owes them far more than that. At least it owes them a bill to protect their arid property.

Ball Players and Evening Gowns

Science brings up the darndest difficulties.

From New York comes the sad-making news that the breaking of a collarbone has interrupted—maybe ended—Jerry Coleman's brave battle to get back into the Yankees' regular lineup.

From San Francisco comes the announcement of two University of California medical scientists that the human collarbone is utterly useless. It might have been a protective device in sword-hacking days, they say; but even this we doubt on comparison of an anatomy class skeleton's collarbone with a collection of swords, battle-axes, maces and such carried at Crecy, Agincourt, Hastings, the Boyne and other fields of honor, earlier and later.

All of which adds up to one more objection to that old wives' tale about Nature producing, in the human frame, the most perfect of machines. Here is a spare part which can only send baseball players to the hospital and make a good many women wonder how they can possibly get by in decolletage.

May Peace Be the Winner

Cold war habits of mind have led many of us to think of an international conference as something to be won or lost, like a ball game. The Bandung meeting of 29 Asian and African nations never was such a conference and it is idle to tally up a "score" of Western vs. Communist gains.

True, the Communists succeeded in keeping out of the declaration against colonialism phrases that would have identified Communist satellites as victims of colonialism. True, the friends of the West succeeded in getting into the declarations recognition of the right to join regional defense organizations such as NATO and SEATO.

But the significance of the conference did not lie in any such balancing of Communist against Western points of view. The dominant theme was rather the determination of these African and Asian nations to stand forth as independent and self-respecting entities pledged to no other nation's interest.

They consciously shied away from organizing a bloc or a "third force." They recognized among themselves differences on many issues, some having allied themselves with the West and others having determined to stay clear of all alliances. Yet they all did have one common denominator—a proud and fierce dedication to their own independence and freedom of action, in many cases lately won.

This independence can be useful to the world and valuable to the cause of peace. The great powers need to be reminded from time to time that they do not speak for everybody, even though they command more force than others. The world belongs to neither of the major contending blocs. In the task of fashioning peace the militarily weak but historically and numerically great Asian and African peoples have something to contribute.

It is not at all far-fetched to guess that Chou En-lai's offer to negotiate on Formosa and other Far Eastern questions may have resulted from a sensing of the strong moral pressure at Bandung for conciliation and peace. It is appropriate and promising that not only India but Pakistan and other nations have now joined in as mediators between Peiping and the West.

The most important thing that happened at Bandung may have been the emergence of Communist China from its isolation and retreat. After Bandung it will be more and more difficult for any part of the world and particularly for the United States to pretend that the Peiping Government is not there. Communist China is a fact to be faced.

The County's New Police Chief

The job facing the new St. Louis county police superintendent is primarily one of organization. It requires a man of professional competence and long experience, and a desire to meet a new situation. The new County Police Board believes it has found just such a man in Albert E. DuBois, a deputy police commissioner with 23 years behind him on the police force of Philadelphia.

Mr. DuBois faces a difficult situation in the county. Here is an area of a half-million citizens, with an increasing law enforcement problem and a most confused and incomplete answer to it. On top of the many city police forces in the county, the Sheriff's office enforces the law for unincorporated areas. Moreover, Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley may refuse to relinquish his authority to the new county police unless a test suit clears up the matter of jurisdiction.

The County Counselor's office has been instructed to file this suit. It would be quicker, however, if Missouri Attorney General John M. Dalton brought the suit immediately before the State Supreme Court. Time is growing short. The new police and their new superintendent are supposed to take over law enforcement on July 1. St. Louis county ought to have one county-wide police force on that date and not two.

Judicial Note Among Lies

In ordering new trials for two Communists and upholding convictions of 11 others, United States District Judge Edward J. Dimock established a sound judicial basis for viewing the lies of Harvey Matusow.

All 13 secondary Communists in New York demanded a new trial after Matusow, paid witness and professional liar, asserted that he had lied about them in their first trial. Judge Dimock ordered second trials for Alexander Trachtenberg and George B. Charney on grounds that Matusow's testimony might well have affected the guilty verdict against them. The Judge rejected the appeals of the others because Matusow's testimony was not an important factor in those cases.

This is a judicial differentiation which, of course, was to be expected of a jurist in the position of Judge Dimock. It is noteworthy now because of the illogical reactions which greeted Matusow's rejection of his previous testimony for the Justice Department.

In view of the difficulty of establishing whether Matusow was lying when he testified against Communists, or lying when he testified for them, the field was open for people to believe what they wanted to believe. Senator Eastland of Mississippi, starting a Senate inquiry, indicated that he believed Matusow was lying the second time around, but not the first. "Just a stooge," the Senator said of the Government's witness.

A court, fortunately, cannot make such quick and easy assumptions but must deal with the evidence at hand. Defendants, whoever they are, must be protected against perjured testimony if it affects their trial. That is exactly how Judge Dimock ruled.

To Keep Channel 9

Greater St. Louis's educational television station, KETC, is a going concern. It has just moved into fine new studios at the northwest corner of the Washington University campus. It has won national honors and local acceptance. Now, what of its future?

Channel 9 needs $400,000 for operating expenses in 1956 and 1957. The money collected in the past put it on the air. It needs $300,000 a year to stay on the air, with about $135,000 of that pledged from local school systems.

The fund which KETC now seeks is not small, unless it is considered against the returns to television viewers. For $400,000 represents less than a dollar from each owner of a TV receiver in this area. Parents who have seen their children look and learn with Channel 9, and citizens who have watched the stirring presentation of public issues and cultural progress, should agree that is not too much.

"CAN'T YOU JUST PRETEND YOU'RE A REPUBLICAN?"

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Noting power and sensitivity of monopoly press, educator says it is our one uncriticized institution; urges agency to appraise its work; editor replies that danger is not power but docility; fear of making anybody mad hinders search for the truth.

From Two Addresses to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington

ROBERT M. HUTCHINS
President, Fund for the Republic

When I was here last, I said, "The greatest aggregation of educational foundations is the press itself."

I joined in another effort in your behalf in 1947, when the report of the Commission on the Freedom of the Press appeared. The commission said, "The outstanding fact about the communications industry today is that the number of its units has declined . . ."

You were furious. Your president issued a statement in six paragraphs, in three of which he said that the members of the commission were "left-wing," and in all of which he stated his conviction that, since most of the members were professors, nothing they said could be of any importance, although it might be dangerous.

A kind of neurotic sensitivity is characteristic of the press. You are the only uncriticized institution in the country. You will not criticize one another, and any suggestion that anybody else might do so sets you to muttering about the First Amendment.

Does any one feel strongly that a city ought to have several newspapers in order to offer the community a greater variety of comic strips, breakfast menus and cheesecake? If this is the actual nature of a newspaper, the fewer papers the better.

The Meaning of 'Free Press'

What the framers of the First Amendment had in mind was debate, a great continuing debate, with the people hearing all sides and getting all the facts. The Founding Fathers did not foresee that 94 per cent of American cities and 18 American states would be without competing papers. The debate has become a soliloquy.

The purpose of a newspaper, and the justification for the privileges of the press, is the enlightenment of the people about their current affairs. A newspaper that is doing this job well is a good newspaper, no matter how deficient it may be in astrology, comics, crime and Republican propaganda. A newspaper that is doing this job deserves protection against Government, and it will certainly need it.

Our question is how to maintain the good newspapers in the faith and how to convert the others. I think you should reconsider your opposition to the principal recommendation of the Commission on the Freedom of the Press. That was that a new agency be established to appraise and report annually upon the performance of the press.

Do Readers Have a Choice?

Can you say that you have given Americans the material they need to reach a conclusion on the choice between coexistence and no existence, between seeking peace through purchase and intimidation and seeking it through total, enforceable disarmament, the choice between competing nationalism and world law?

And what of freedom in the garrison state? When the official line permitted, you have sallied forth, as when you gallantly led the troops from the rear in a belated attack on Senator McCarthy.

See the blacklist spreading in industry. Listen to the wire-tapping, to the cry of "Fifth Amendment Communist," to the kept witnesses roaming the land. The most distressing part is not that these things happen, but that the free press appears to regard them as matters of routine.

You are educators, whether you like it or not. You make the views that people have of public affairs. No competition can shake you from that position. You will lose it only if you neglect it.

JONATHAN DANIELS
Editor, Raleigh News and Observer

Dr. Hutchins, your presence here is the best evidence that the lay critic is not only needed, but recognized as a need by the American press. It seems to me a fortunate fact that everybody from Presidents down in the United States knows how the press should be run—and they are very often right.

But I should like to say that as a newspaper man for more than 30 years, it seems to me you have missed some of our greatest faults. I doubt that they are venality and vulgarity. Our greatest real dangers are that as we have become fat and proud, we have also become dignified and docile.

That docility needs to be well understood. It has nothing to do with the ancient charge that newspapers let advertisers dictate to them. Large business interests do not dictate to publishers now. They are it. Nothing has so much gained in truth in our times as the venerable statements that more people are bribed by their own money than anybody else's.

'A Mincing Neutrality'

In many instances one ownership of both papers in a town has led not to domineering tactics but to what Horace Greeley long ago called a "gagged and mincing neutrality" in local affairs. Count their sins as great as we may, one of the great virtues of condemning the Communists is that few of them live within our circulation areas. Today newspapering is as anxious as any other businesses not to make anybody in the immediate neighborhood mad.

It is regarded by many as pure progress that the old-fashioned, outspoken party organs have all but disappeared in America. In local affairs, however, independence has become an editorial word for namby-pambiness. And in national affairs the so-called "one-party press" only proved its power after five bad tries.

The strangest docility of the dignified press lies in the freedom of the press. The press is always stoutly maintaining in print its right to access to news. In practice the press has often collaborated in important matters in preserving barriers between the news and the reader.

Not Designed for Dignity

The American press cannot safely become a V.I.P. sharing the company, hearing the confidences, participating in the secrets of other and sometimes even more important people. It cannot arrange "off the record" sessions and condemn them at the same time.

It is not a trade designed for dignity. There is, of course, something basically disreputable about any business devoted to prying into matters. It is a nosy business. And it should remain so.

Certainly there are members of the press—whole newspapers in the press—doing that job well. Yet somehow it seems to me that as the American press has become more and more aware of its dignity, it has become less and less able to go bald-headed after the whole truth and not merely the released fact.

What worries me is that the American press which is confident that it is the best press with the greatest know-how in the world today seems to me inadequate to the needs of the democracy of which is is a part. My own feeling, Dr. Hutchins, is that we do not need to get any closer to the notion that we are educators, but farther from it.

The American press will serve democracy best when it understands that freedom is a local story. If we do that job well no one could ask that we do more.

Between Book Ends

A G.I.'s Ordeal of Love

A CEREMONY OF LOVE, by Thomas Williams. (The Bobbs-Merrill Co., 288 pgs., $3.50.)

Peter Larson, 19, without combat experience, reenlists with the Army of Occupation in Japan immediately after the end of World War II. He has been taught Japanese in an Army school. He meets Jan., a Nisei, who is, ironically, more American in behavior and feeling than Peter. But because of her Japanese heritage she represents to Peter a harmonious blending of East and West and a solution to his inner struggles. Their love affair, intense and tortuous, ends on a feeble note. The author with more valid reasons at hand chooses to blame its failure on the fact that Joan is an "older woman." (She is 26.)

Thomas Williams

The real energy and directness of the book are reserved for the major psychological theme of Peter's relationships within the rigidly structured masculine Army world. Here the author shows an affectionate and relaxed ear for Army speech, and a natural audacity which is disarming. His deference and delicacy in handling both the scenes of Japanese life and the affair with Joan tend to suggest that he equates Oriental mystery with femininity while timidly remaining on the periphery of both. Nevertheless, we are given glimpses of Tokyo, Yokohama, and of Nikki, the latter reminiscent of a Hiroshiga print.

For those interested in adolescent struggles in or out of the Army, or for those who hunger for things Japanese, this book, a first novel, will be satisfying. LOUISE V. M. GOLD.

One for the Young

SPACE CAPTIVES OF THE GOLDEN MEN, by M. E. Patchett. (Bobbs-Merrill, 222 pgs., $2.50.)

"Space Captives of the Golden Men" has the qualities usually found in juvenile novels. The heroes are brothers, fifteen and thirteen years old. The action is fast and sustained. Adults almost invariably are slow and plodding and easily outwitted (probably as the result of having been conditioned by such stories when young). The goodies and the baddies are easy to tell apart (a good many children never outgrow this fallacy). And, finally, the day is saved by the intelligence, courage and luck of the youngsters, and almost in spite of the adults.

Since nearly all of the action takes place on a space ship and in caves in the Moon, the book obviously qualifies as science fiction by all present standards. Completing the syllogism, "Space Captives—" is successful, juvenile science fiction. JOHN S. HARRIS.

More Irish Talent

THE RED PETTICOAT, by Bryan MacMahon. (Dutton, 219 pgs., $3.)

Bryan MacMahon is a relative newcomer on the Irish literary scene, having won acclaim with his first collection of short stories in 1949. The present group of 20 tales is as fresh and inventive as the first offering and the novel that followed.

One could say more about these stories were it not for the fact that Mr. MacMahon is only one of a dozen authors all doing excellent work in the same "humor and pathos" genre. The marvel is that little Ireland has produced writers in numbers all out of proportion to her dwindling population. In addition to giants like Shaw, Joyce and O'Casey, there have been hundreds of MacMahons digging literary plutonium from a seemingly inexhaustible mine of folklore.

Too Risky to Revise U.N. Charter Now

WASHINGTON.

WHAT WE ONCE LOOKED FORWARD to as a project of great opportunity, revision of the United Nations charter to strengthen that international organization, has become clouded with uncertainty and doubt and disillusionment.

This project is the subject of public hearings here by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It has come to the fore because the United Nations has on its autumn agenda the question of whether to call an international conference to consider revision of the U.N. charter adopted at San Francisco in 1945. That charter itself provided for a review after 10 years to see whether it should be revised.

Mrs. Roosevelt

The Senate committee's hearings here, which followed those of a special subcommittee during the past year in various parts of the country, already have revealed two dampening tendencies.

Truman and Hoover Views.

One is here at home and one in the world at large. These have produced a cautious attitude not only in the State Department but also among prominent personages outside who have a deep concern about the U. N.

Among the latter who have appeared before the Senate Committee are former Presidents Truman, in whose administration the U. N. was created, and Herbert Hoover, as well as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who enjoyed a long service in the U. N.

Current tensions between the West and the East have created an atmosphere which, it is felt, would not be conducive to calm and constructive consideration of U. N. revision. The other discouraging factor is the anti-U. N. and anti-international spirit abroad in our country.

Bricker for Hamstringing.

Though recognized as representing only a minority, nevertheless it is virulent. It is seeking a target upon which to unleash itself. Such a target would be offered by a broad program of U. N. charter revision sponsored by our Government.

Interesting in this general aspect was the testimony, before the Senate committee of Senator John W. Bricker (Rep.), Ohio, a recognized critic of the U. N. The Ohio Senator welcomed a conference to revise the U. N. charter, not for the purpose of widening its authority and field of action but to narrow its already limited jurisdiction and in a way to hamstring its operations.

It is the fear of such onslaughts on existing powers of the U. N., inadequate as they are, which has driven the State Department into a defensive position in which its main aim is to preserve the U. N. from being weakened. Our Government took a position some time ago through Secretary of State Dulles that it would give its vote in the U.N. for holding a revision conference when the matter comes up. Now it is plain this will be done with fingers crossed.

'Losing What We Have.'

The State Department attitude is similar to that expressed before the Senate committee by former President Truman, who said:

"I am sure the charter is susceptible to improvement. That is true of all documents written by human hands. But we ought not to underestimate the difficulties and dangers involved in trying to get improvements at this time. And we ought to be extremely careful not to lose what we already have in the United Nations, because what we have is very essential to world peace."

In fact, Mr. Truman said had it not been for the U.N., "the events of these last 10 years would again have plunged the world into unlimited international warfare."

Controversy would be expected to be injected into a U.N. revision conference by Russia and her satellites—among other things, over Communist China's desire to be admitted to the U.N. Congress went on record again last year against admission of Red China to the U.N. in a rider attached to the Mutual Security Act of 1954.

Harriman's Hints on Reds.

The negative attitude of our Government on U.N. charter revision is disappointing to organizations that have looked forward to the projected conference as a means of creating in the U.N. a body of world law that would be really effective in a world that huddles under the threat of the hydrogen bomb. But in view of world tensions, the Administration can now see no hope for such.

Everything has turned out quite different from the anticipations held 10 years ago, though we who were at San Francisco were given hints of Russia's expansionist aims that induced the "cold war."

They came from Averell Harriman, then our ambassador to Russia, who brought to our delegation at San Francisco a warning of Russia's postwar intentions.

They came also in reports that indicated how this expansion already was in motion, specifically, in the case of Poland where Russia was abandoning her pledge at Yalta to allow free elections.

ART SECTION EXHIBIT OPENS AT THE GUILD

By HOWARD DERRICKSON

An exhibition of 52 paintings, drawings, prints and sculptures opened yesterday at the Artists' Guild, 812 Union boulevard. This is the annual display by the guild's art section, limited to professional members. Uneven in quality, the collection nevertheless includes much fresh, original work.

The section's eight-member executive committee chose the show, which as a whole is more representational than any other group exhibition this season to date. Abstractions constitute less than 10 per cent of the collection.

Prizes, distributed by Emil Frei as sole juror, went to the most adventurous and striking entries. Winners were announced Friday. Checks were presented at yesterday's reception by Siegfried Reinhardt, chairman of the section's executive committee.

Warren Spaulding's "The Contemplation of Nature," which took first, is a bright and bold composition in the German expressionist tradition, depicting the pensive artist seated and rapt in study of his inspiration—birds, greenery and the human form, which is echoed, strangely, not only in a mirror, but, in contours of an ornate chair, coal stove, watering can and oil lamp.

By contrast, Arthur Kanak's second-place "Land, Water and Sky" is a deliberately understated, restrained landscape marked by Oriental charm and economy of means.

Werner Drewes's "Blue Fish," a color woodcut that won third prize, is a finely designed representational still life with muted harmonies of greens and blues surprisingly close together in key.

Eda Lincoln Cushing's "Edge of Night," oil-and-wax painting that won first honorable mention, is strong in the artist's most characteristic qualities. Spectral suggestions, foreboding atmosphere and an all-enveloping mystery are conveyed with a minimum of representational elements and a maximum of sensuous appeal, through complex handling of pigment.

Carmen Bahr Kress and Alexandra Korsakoff-Galston were given second and third honorable mentions, respectively, for paintings included in their recent solo shows.

The guild display extends this season's trend toward emphasis on painting and neglect of sculpture. Sole sculptors represented are Elizabeth Phelan, with three exquisite small carvings in wood, soapstone and alabaster, and Fred Dreher, with a deft mobile.

The show will close May 3.

BOOK FAIR OFFERS FIRST EDITION OF 1860 LINCOLN WORK

A first edition of one of the first two books about Abraham Lincoln, subsequently the subject of a greater mass of writing than any other comparable figure, will go on public sale today at 6 p.m. at the Book Fair at Temple Israel's Leon Harrison auditorium, 5017 Washington boulevard.

Proceeds of the fair go to the Nursery Foundation of St. Louis, a Community Chest agency and the city's first inter-racial, nonsectarian day-care center. Books, donated by many St. Louisans, total more than 100,000 in umber and sell for as little as 5 cents.

The Lincoln book, costliest single item on sale, has been priced at $25, being topped only by complete sets. Titled "Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin," it was published by Follett Foster & Co., Columbus, O., in 1860, the year the pioneer Wigwam edition of "Life and Speeches of Lincoln" was issued in New York.

Other "finds" offered at the fair include an 1833 Noah Webster "Elementary Spelling Book," for $10, and first editions of works by Mark Twain, Eugene O'Neill, Erich Maria Remarque and Ernest Hemingway. The fair will continue today until 10 p.m. and will run from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday.

LITTLE SYMPHONY TO OPEN SUMMER SERIES JUNE 10

About 4000 letters were mailed today to former season ticket subscribers to the Little Symphony Concerts announcing the opening concert of the summer series Friday, June 10, at Washington University Quadrangle.

Members of the junior committee of the Little Symphony association addressed and stamped the envelopes last night under the direction of Miss Marilyn Schneider, chairman.

PANEL TALKS ON FRENCH POET

A public discussion of Jules Laforge, French symbolist poet who lived from 1860 to 1887, will be conducted today at 8:15 p.m. at the Y.M.-Y.W.H.A., 724 Union boulevard, under auspices of the Curled Wire Poetry Group, it was announced by Miss Kathrene Casebolt, chairman.

Participants will include Charles Guenther, St. Louis poet and translator; Claude Linn and Philip A. Parshall Jr., students of the French symbolist movement.

Sculptor W. S. Allward Dies.

TORONTO, April 25 (AP) — Walter Seymour Allward, one of Canada's leading sculptors, died yesterday at the age of 78. He was known particularly as the creator of Canada's national World War I memorial on Vimy Ridge.

Rathbone Leaves for Boston, Praises City's Artistic Growth

Museum Director Here Since 1940 Predicts Bright Future for Institution in Farewell Statement.

Perry T. Rathbone, who left St. Louis yesterday to take up his duties as director of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, made a farewell statement on the recent history and the future of the City Art Museum. He had been director here since 1940.

He is driving to Boston in his 1936 Ford phaeton. Mrs. Rathbone and the three Rathbone children will remain in St. Louis through the school year to permit the two older children, who are enrolled in school here, to complete the academic term.

Charles Nagel will succeed Rathbone here.

In leaving St. Louis and its museum, Rathbone said:

"Looking back over 15 years, I want first to pay tribute to the museum as it existed in 1940, the creation of many gifted and devoted men and women over a period of 30 years.

"With splendid collections, beautifully arranged, and with a distinguished staff, the St. Louis museum was justly envied by many cities of the country. It is immensely gratifying to me that the museum has been able to expand its life since then under my directorship.

"Thanks to a devoted and far-seeing board, and a devoted, very gifted staff and to hundreds of generous St. Louisans, the museum has made many advances since then.

"The collections have been enlarged with many works of international significance, and the museum has been fortunate to present exhibitions of unprecedented importance, such as the Berlin Masterpieces, the Vienna Treasures, the Mississippi Panorama, Masterpieces of French Drawing from the Louvre, the Van Gogh Exhibition and Westward the Way.

"Many magnificent gifts have been received, such as those of Samuel C. Davis, J. Lionberger Davis, Morton D. May, Mrs. Mark C. Steinberg, Sydney M. Shoenberg, Horace Morrison and Mrs. F. H. Cook.

"Of greatest significance was the founding of the Friends of the Museum in 1952, which has created greater participation on the part of the public, has been responsible for notable gifts to the museum and the foundation of the Permanent Fund for acquisitions.

"Finally, it is a satisfaction to point to the first expansion of the museum building in 50 years in the creation of the new restaurant.

"Few museums in America attract such a constant and deeply interested public to their doors. Few museums enter so deeply into the whole life of the community.

"I am fully confident that under the directorship of my successor, Mr. Charles Nagel, not only a museum man of great distinction but a loyal and devoted St. Louisan from birth, the museum will continue to flourish and expand its productive and refining influence in our society."

COMPTON, 4 OTHERS WIN FELLOWSHIPS

Ex-Chancellor to Use Guggenheim Grant for Atomic Studies.

Former Chancellor Arthur H. Compton of Washington University and four other members of the university's faculty have been awarded John Simon Guggenheim Fellowships, it was announced today.

The other recipients of awards, which vary in amount, are: Mrs. Liselotte Dieckmann, associate professor of German; David Lipkin, professor of chemistry; George E. Mylonas, professor of art and archeology, and Frank Vandiver, assistant professor of history.

Compton, distinguished service professor of natural philosophy, will use his grant for studies on development of the atomic bomb, on uses of atomic energy, and for work in the field of natural philosophy. He plans to write a book.

Three-Year Award.

The award to Compton is for a three-year period. The other four awards are for one year. Compton, who lives at 625 South Skinker boulevard, had an important role in development of the atomic bomb in World War II. He is a physicist.

Mrs. Dieckmann will make historical studies on the idea of hieroglyphics as a literary symbol. She will visit the Warburg Institute, London, and the Bibliotheque National, Paris, to gather material for a book. She lives at 425 Marion avenue, Webster Groves.

Lipkin, formerly with the Scientific Laboratory at Los Alamos, N. M., will study the chemistry of nucleic acids and organic phosphorus compounds generally. Part of his research will be done in Europe. He lives at 6924 Millbrook boulevard.

To Continue Excavations.

Mylonas, who is chairman of his department, will continue excavations of the Greek city of Eleusis, where he has been working for three summers. He will leave for Greece in May and return here in September. He lives at 550 Bedford avenue, University City.

Vandiver will gather material for a book on Gen. Stonewall Jackson of the Confederate Army, visiting libraries and historic spots in the South. He lives at 8637 Brookshire avenue, Clayton.

Grants totaling $968,000 were made to 248 Americans. The Foundation was established in 1925 by the late Simon Guggenheim, United States Senator from Colorado, and by Mrs. Guggenheim. The five-member committee of selection for the awards included Edgar Anderson, professor of botany at Washington University.

POPE URGES SCIENCE, PHILOSOPHY MERGER

He Proposes Joining the Two for a Final Assault on Earthly Mysteries.

VATICAN CITY, April 25 (UP) Pope Pius XII yesterday called on science to join forces with philosophy in a final assault upon remaining earthly mysteries to give an all-embracing view of the visible world.

"We think that natural sciences, in permanent contact with a philosophy of critical realism, can arrive at an all-embracing view of the visible world which would, to some extent, satisfy the quest and ardent desire for truth," the Pontiff said.

He called scientists "discovers of the intentions of God" and "authorized interpreters of nature" who see the universe "assembled as in a single book."

One of the chief future goals of science, after having conquered many mysteries of earthly matter, is a "synthesis of all knowledge," the Pope said.

He said this should lead to an understanding of "the true unity of a living being" after many problems have been solved.

"But can experimental science solve these problems by itself?" the Pope asked.

"One must answer in the negative," he said, explaining that science "descends ever more deeply into the hidden recesses of things, but it must halt at a certain point when questions arise which cannot be settled by means of sense observation."

At that point science "needs a light which proceeds in the inverse direction. . . which is capable of revealing to him this truth which science is unable to obtain by its own methods since it entirely escapes the sense."

WILLIAM CHARLES HONORED

William Charles, president of Experience, Inc., has been awarded honorary life membership in Senior Citizens of America, it was announced today. A retired certified public accountant, Charles has received the St. Louis Citizens' Award and has served on the St. Louis Board of Education and other civic committees.

Experience, Inc., was founded a year ago by Charles, the late A. P. Greensfelder, Prof. Willis H. Reals of the Washington University education department, and Dr. Edmund Vincent Cowdry, professor emeritus at the Washington University School of Medicine.

PERLEY A. DATES FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Perley A. Dates, city supervisor of electrical inspection, will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Hoffmeister undertaking establishment, 6464 Chippewa street, with burial in St. Matthews Cemetery.

Mr. Bates, 68 years old, died yesterday, apparently of a cerebral hemorrhage, at his home, 6110 Arendes drive. Before joining the city in 1920, he was an electrical contractor and supervisor of the Western Electric shop here. He was supervisor of electrical inspection from 1931 to 1939 and again since 1941.

He was a past president of the St. Louis branch of the National Association of Electrical Inspectors and a member of the Electrical Board of Trade. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen B. Dates; a son, Donald Dates, and a sister.

COMPOSER HINDEMITH GETS $34,000 SIBELIUS PRIZE

The award was established in 1951 in honor of Finland's great composer by shipowner Antti Wihuri. Because Sibelius will be 90 next December, two prizes are being given this year. The first was awarded last month to Russian-born Igor Stravinsky, who now makes his home in California.

Hindemith, now 59, went to Yale University, in the United States, after the Nazis condemned his music as un-German.

JUDGE M'MULLAN ELECTED BY CATHOLIC MEN'S GROUP

Circuit Judge David A. McMullan of St. Louis was elected vice president of the National Council of Catholic Men at the closing session of the thirty-fifth annual meeting yesterday in Boston.

Re-elected president was Albert J. Sattler of New York City. The officers were named to two-year terms. The council adopted resolutions calling for encouragement of low-cost housing, new federal laws protecting migratory labor and proper religious observance of Sunday.

THREE STUDENTS ON TRIP

Three St. Louis area high school students left here today on an expense-paid trip to visit New York and Washington D.C. They won the trip in a model United Nations General Assembly debate last October and will visit U.N. headquarters in New York.

The students are Wendell Barber, Affton High School; Robert Schneider, Ladue High School, and Miss Jo Anne Spratte, Brentwood High School.

CATHOLIC WOMEN BACK PLAN FOR SCHOOL BUSSES FOR ALL

A resolution urging that the state provide free transportation for all school children, instead of limiting it to those in public schools, was adopted yesterday by the St. Louis Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women in its convention here.

In other resolutions, the council objected to "suggestive dances and costuming" in some television programs, urged modesty in dress by women, opposed "right to work" laws, advocated elimination of discriminations because of race, color or creed, and recommended changes in the country's immigration policies.

The two-day convention at Rosati-Kain High School closes today. Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter was celebrant at a pontifical high mass at St. Louis Cathedral this morning for the 3000 delegates.

L. C. LEIMKUEHLER DIES; MECHANICAL ENGINEER

L. Clarence Leimkuehler, mechanical engineer for Cupples Products Co., died yesterday at Barnes Hospital following an operation for a brain tumor. He was 55 years old and lived at 475 East Jackson road, Webster Groves.

He was graduated from Washington University in 1921. Surviving are his wife and a brother, F. Ray Leimkuehler, architect for the St. Louis Board of Education. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Mittelberg undertaking establishment, 23 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, with burial in Valhalla Cemetery.

HONOR FOR ADM. RICKOVER

NEW YORK, April 25 (UP)—R. Adm. Hyman Rickover, the guiding genius of the world's first atomic-powered submarine, will receive the 1955 Eggleston medal, Columbia University's highest alumni award for "distinguished engineering achievement," it was announced yesterday.

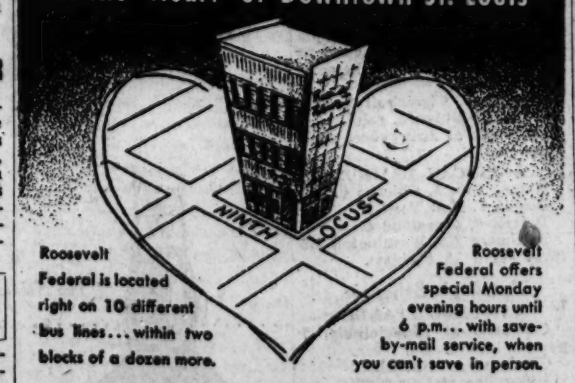

Tomorrow's Events

WRAY'S COLUMN

Derby Still No Setup For Standout Nashua.

NASHUA'S victory over Summer Tan will no doubt send him to the post an even money or shorter odds choice for the Kentucky Derby provided nothing happens to alter his status meanwhile.

He should be favored now, since he has made good in all four of his tests at the this year, three times at the longest distance three-year-olds have yet raced.

He came from behind to nose out his standout rival, Summer Tan, Saturday, encouraging the thought that he will win by a bigger margin at the longer Derby distance. With the Derby only two Saturdays away, the case in favor of the son of Nasrullah is strong, with Blue Ruler, Roman Patrol, Royal Coinage and other top horses declared out.

* * *

The Summer Tan diehards argue otherwise. . . . Stubbornly they bypass the obvious Nashua argument that the rivals already have met five times with Nashua winning four. . . . They now point out that Summer Tan has raced twice this year ond only once at the 1⅛-mile test. . . . They believe Summer Tan was not quite up to the longer race, but will be ready for the Derby distance (10 furlongs) two weeks hence. . . . It's a valid conjecture.

* * *

Odds-On Derby Choices Have Been Knocked Off.

BUT Summer Tan isn't the only obstacle Nashua may have to surmount. . . . There's still possibility of accident, of bad racing luck, of an unfavorable track condition or of an X horse—some Bold Venture (20 to 1) or unsuspected Gallahadion (35 to 1) to frustrate the odds-on favorites, as happened in the cases of Bimelech and the great Brevity.

* * *

In addition there are some known tough competitors still likely to be sent to the post, such as Swaps (Santa Anita Derby winner), Jean's Joe, Honey's Alibi, Saratoga and others.

* * *

The last-named Saratoga has raced well this year . . . Saturday he won the Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel in fast time and from a field of several Derby eligibles. . . . Saratoga hooked up with Nashua early in the season in the Flamingo stakes at 1⅛ miles and finished second, forcing Nashua to a drive after the Nasrullah wonder horse had brushed him nearing the finish.

* * *

Saratoga is, as the boys say, bred in the purple—both dam and sire being imported. . . . His sire Blenheim II is regarded as one of the greatest of the many breeding farm stallations imported from England and Ireland.

* * *

We're not trying to knock over Nashua—he is the logical choice for sure. . . . Yet it could be that in a field which may number 15 things may not go so well with him. . . . And with Summer Tan likely to improve off his race of Saturday the Derby still shapes up as a good horse race—not merely a duel.

* * *

WE feel rather sympathetic with Don Cockell, the well-upholstered British heavyweight ring champion. . . . Now training in California for his title match with Rocky Marciano, May 16, at San Francisco, he must be surprised, even dismayed at the widespread opinion circulating in this country that he has about as much chance with Rocky has an olive has at a cocktail party. . . . He has even been referred to as "the condemned man."

* * *

It is refreshing, however, to read interviews with Don. . . . They reveal a cheerful viewpoint and a healthy confidence. Cockell displays a good-humored tolerance of writers who disparage his chances.

Asked what he thought about news writers who predict an easy victory for Champion Marciano, he commented:

"They've a right to their opinion. . . . What newspapers say won't have any bearing on the fight."

Interesting are some other questions asked of him by Royal Brougham of the Post-Intelligencer, in Seattle, where Cockell twice fought Harry Mathews, knocking him out once. . . . For example, asked if he thought he could take Rocky's punches, Don replied:

"I'll have to sample them first. Why don't you ask me if Marciano can take Cockell's punches?"

* * *

COCKELL'S replies to other questions reveal that he has studied the pictures of Marciano's fights with Charles, that, being faster than Rocky, his speed will be an important asset in landing punches.

* * *

Asked if he planned to outbox Rocky or wade in to trade punches, he observed:

"I always fight a battle as it comes. . . . I expect to be punching hard and hope I can hit hard enough to win by a knockout."

* * *

In the meantime, there's a new note in the publicity, supplied by John Simpson, Cockell's manager. . . . He tells that "Nature Healer" Sydney Miller of London is giving Cockell "thorough treatment," to build up confidence in Don.

* * *

Bucs Win First on A Dizzy Sunday

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—How high is up? How low is down? Ask the Chicago White Sox. Manager Marty Marion's hearty crew climbed the highest mountain and probed the deepest sea over the week end.

The White Sox zoomed into the thin air of outer space Saturday to humble Kansas City, 29-6, tying a modern record.

Then they turned around Sunday and dove 20,000 fathoms into the deep blue to absorb a 5-0 shutout from the same Kansas City A's, with Alex Kellner applying the whitewash for the Athletics.

After that dizzy reversal and some other eye-popping events, it's no wonder both leagues have an open date today. They need time to catch their breath, as well as travel, before the first intersectional series open Tuesday.

1. Pittsburgh finally won its first game at Philadelphia 6-1, after losing eight in a row. One more drubbing would have tied the modern record for most defeats at the start of a season (set by Brooklyn at nine in 1918). The Sunday curfew turned the second game into a suspended game with the Phillies leading 2-0 in the eighth.

2. The New York Giants scored six runs in the tenth inning but barely managed to hold the fort as Brooklyn bounced back with five runs in an 11-10 thriller.

3. Willard Nixon, the old Yankee killer, beat New York for the sixth straight time, allowing only two singles in a 1-0 Boston Red Sox victory.

4. Sam Jones, always a sore-armed disappointment at Cleveland, pitched a two-hitter against Cincinnati for a 2-1 victory, his second of 1955 for the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game was rained out in the third inning.

5. Saul Rogovin, another sore-armed pitcher who was shunted to the minors last year, went the route for Baltimore to top Washington in 10 innings of the first game 2-1. Washington took the second 5-2.

6. Rookie Frank Lary of Detroit found his first big league victims in the Cleveland Indians who won 111 games last season. Lary allowed eight hits while the Tigers hung a first defeat on Herb Score, the Indians' rookie hotshot, 6-4.

Alex the Great?

Kellner allowed only five singles. The husky lefthander became the first Kansas City pitcher to go the route this season in a game watched by 19,446 hardy Athletics' fans, who braved the double threat of bad weather and another deluge of White Sox runs. Gus Zernial's three hits helped hang the defeat on Dick Donovan.

Nixon's second successive shutout was a real class job at Yankee Stadium, where singles by Bill Skowron and Eddie Lopat were the only New York hits in a game delayed one hour and 15 minutes by rain. Lopat lost it in the ninth when Faye Throneberry singled, took second on an infield out and scored when Norm Zauchin's single dropped in front of Hank Bauer.

Hoot Evers's pinch double set up the winning run for Baltimore in the first game against Washington. He moved to third on an error by Bob Kline and scored on an infield out. Few of the 22,896 fans were around to see Washington club Ray Moore and Don Johnson for 12 hits to give Johnny Schmitz the nod in the second game.

Ray Boone drove in the first four Detroit runs with a homer and single against his old Cleveland mates to ease Lary's path. After giving a homer to Larry Doby in the first inning, Lary was in trouble only in the ninth when three hits gave the Tribe two runs.

The Giants and Dodgers held another massive tug-of-war at Ebbets Field before the Brooks finally lost their second game in 13 starts. Despite two homers by Willie Mays, his first of the season, Brooklyn took a 5-3 lead into the ninth, when Al Dark's two-run homer tied the score.

Ray Katt's first hit of the year, a three-run homer, started the Giants to their six-run spurt in the 10th, only to have Brooklyn hammer back with five. At the end the Dodgers had men on first and second when Ruben Gomez, the seventh New York pitcher, finally got Carl Furillo on a foul fly. A total of 37 players were used by both sides with the Giants coming within one of tying the record by sending 23 men into action.

Jim Hearn, who started Friday night, was the winning pitcher although he was No. 5 on the scene with Johnny Antonelli and Gomez of the starting brigade still to follow. The loss was hung on Billy Loes, who stopped an early Giant threat in the seventh but couldn't repeat.

Max Surkont saved Pittsburgh from a record-tying losing streak by holding the Phils to eight hits in the opener. Del Ennis's leadoff homer in the sixth ruined his shutout. A heavy rain storm with cold wind and some snow flurries delayed the second game so long it was stopped by the Pennsylvania curfew in the bottom of the eighth with the Phils leading 2-0. It was classed as a "suspended game" to be completed June 28.

'Wonder if We'll Punt on First Down?'

—United Press Telephoto.

It was football weather, anyway, as the bullpen crew of the Boston Red Sox, bundled up against the raw, damp and windy weather of Yankee Stadium, spent a quiet—but shivering—afternoon. The bullpen wasn't needed because teammate Willard Nixon shut out the Bronx Bombers, 1 to 0.

Stanky Sounds as Though Schedule (of Open Dates) Has the Better of Him

By Jack Rice
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

EN ROUTE TO PHILADELPHIA, April 25—"April forecast: Rain, followed by open dates and rust."
—Old Manager's Almanac—

Eddie Stanky, no man to oppose the tender wonders of April showers and blooming flowers, today questioned the National League's right to ignore the facts of life and the weather when arranging its schedule. He speaks as an orphan of the storm.

All clubs play the same number of games eventually, but Stanky dislikes the timing of it. During the early season rush to get set, particularly with pitchers, he feels left out, in games and in the rain.

He picked up a copy of the league schedule, and made a case of it. "I can understand an off day to protect the opening days, at home and away. Okay. In the East, they don't do that. You'll notice the Giants have. . . ."

He started counting, and displeasure increased. "Thirteen consecutive days they can play. Of the first 19 scheduled days, they can play 18. That's what I call a schedule.

How's That, Ed?

There's also what they call geography. "Travel time? I'll concede that," said Western Division man Stanky. Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn — it makes a convenient, early season round Robin.

"But here's the quirk," he said happy as Don Quixote at the sight of his first windmill, "'St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Monday (May 2)—St. Louis at Brooklyn, Wednesday night.' What's Tuesday, that we can't play in Brooklyn? 'Thursday, St. Louis at Brooklyn.' Then we travel all night and all day and Friday, 'Milwaukee at St. Louis, night.' We can't play Tuesday in Brooklyn and have an open date at home."

"Even a rock-head like me can figure this out. Much as I detest doubleheaders, I'd rather double up and have the season start a week later. Six off-days, from April 12 through Tuesday May 3. There's logic, there."

Stanky observed a moment's silence, mourning for open dates instead of games, compounded by rain instead of games, as happened yesterday at Milwaukee.

"It does give valid concern," he said with a flip of the eyebrow for the roll of the phrase, "when you're trying to give everyone a fair chance. They ought to change the cut-down date. Instead of 30 days, make the squad limit effective after 20 or 25 games actually have been played. But they probably won't pay any attention until a guy in California, who has never seen a game, writes a story about it."

Of Hitting and Pitching.

The Cardinals were scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia this afternoon, too late for a workout. April permitting, they will do the unusual and work out tomorrow morning. It's a night game tomorrow but if threatening weather were to cancel batting practice, "it would be three days without a bat in our hand, before we played," said Stanky.

Harvey Haddix was supposed to pitch yesterday. He's No. 1 man by record, therefore No. 1 man in scheduling concern. So Stanky's revised pitching schedule is as follows: tomorrow night, Haddix; and Brooks Lawrence, Luis Arroyo and Haddix on Thursday, Friday and Saturday against the Giants. Haddix probably will go against the Giants with three days rest, so he can go against Brooklyn the following week with four days rest.

Between the Giants and Brooklyn there is a trip to Pittsburgh. Visiting clubs mustn't hang around New York too many consecutive days, and bore the customers and hurt business. Floyd Wooldridge is scheduled to get his first major league start at Pittsburgh. Once he was supposed to get it at Philadelphia, tomorrow night. But Wooldridge has had since last September to learn the virtues of patience, concerning first major league starts.

Trabert Drubs Vic Seixas in Houston Final

HOUSTON, Tex., April 25 (UP)—Tony Trabert's recapture of the national tennis championship this summer was being freely predicted today in the wake of his ninth straight tournament conquest and his sixth straight victory over reigning champion Vic Seixas.

Trabert, national champ in 1953, easily demolished the 32-year-old Seixas again in the final round of yesterday's River Oaks tournament here, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

The young star from Cincinnati, O., demonstrated that once again he is at the peak of his game by ripping off the first 11 games of the match before the sluggish Seixas could win a game. Only as Trabert seemed to ease off after that was the veteran from Philadelphia able to give him a close battle.

Trabert teamed his ground strokes with Seixas's deep shots in the doubles final to defeat Tulane's Ham Richardson and Houston's Dick Savitt, dethroned singles champ, 6-1, 6-2.

Out by a Katt's Whisker

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

It was a close play—and a big one—in which RAY KATT, young Giants' catcher, makes a putout on grimacing DON HOAK of the Dodgers in the eighth inning at Brooklyn. Umpire TOM GORMAN decides the play that followed a throw from strong-armed Willie Mays, who just had caught a fly hit by Junior Gilliam. Mays was a hero earlier, too, belting two homers and Katt also was a star later with a three-run circuit drive in the tenth, giving the Giants their 11-10 victory.

Short-Passing Eagles Blast Simpkins Out of U.S. Soccer Tourney

Chicagoans In Amateur Cup Final

By Dent McSkimming
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

CHICAGO, April 25 — St. Louis's last chance for a national soccer championship this season faded into the murky, damp atmosphere here yesterday as the Chicago Eagles outscored the St. Louis Simpkins at Winnemac Stadium, 3 to 0, in the western final of the Amateur Cup title tournament.

Previously, the Simpkins had been eliminated from the National Open competition by the Los Angeles Danes.

Working the ball up and down the field, and across it, in a bewildering series of short, well-placed passes, the Eagles literally wore down the less accurate St. Louis players.

Scoreless First Half.

While both teams were fresh and eager, the Simpkins were a good match for the all-Polish Eagles. Thus, at the half-time interval, the score was 0-0. But general superiority of the transplanted Poles brought tangible results early in the second half. In the space of a few minutes after the restart, Inside Right Ziggy Mroz and Outside Left Joe Gryzik tallied points, both of which were masterpieces of soccer technique.

On the strength of those two points, the Eagles deserved their victory. The third was something of a gift by the referee, Julius Rietz of Milwaukee. Ten minutes before the close of the game, he signaled a penalty kick against the St. Louis center halfback, Charley Colombo. The official interpreted a cleverly executed clearance by Colombo as "dangerous play" and called a foul.

Many in the crowd of 1000 urged the Eagle's kicker, Alex Kinach, to boot the ball over the goal, feeling that the referee had erred. But, taking no chances on a Simpkins rally, Kinach drove a bullet shot into the net for goal No. 3.

Clean Play by Both Teams.

While a recapitulation of corner kicks is not always a true indication of the trend of the play of the teams, the figures in this case are significant. The Eagles, pressing constantly, earned three corners in the first half and eight in the second for a total of 11 whereas the Simpkins had only one corner kick in the whole game.

Conducting themselves in a manner befitting a national championship semifinal, the players of both teams took pains to observe the rules. Fouls were very few, making it a rather easy task for Referee Rietz who was extremely strict in his rules interpretations.

The Winnemac field is considerably larger than St. Louis teams are accustomed to, and the sod, soaked by an all-morning rain, was soft enough to be tiring to the overworked St. Louis players. The Eagles, more adept at making the ball do their bidding, were able to conserve their energy.

Although they had firm possession of the ball only at rare intervals, the St. Louis forwards were dangerous before the goal. Best shot of the first half was a blazing cross-goal drive by Joe Spica. With Goalie Marian Modlinski far out of reach, the ball struck the far upright, missing a score by inches.

Two of Goals on Headers.

On the other hand, the only truly well-hit shot by the Chicagoans was that penalty kick. Both the 'agles' other scores were headed past Goalie Jack Menke. Time after time, particularly in the first half, Chicago forwards wasted golden scoring opportunities by their inability to shoot.

Defensively, however, they left little room for argument. The covering tactics of Center Halfback Stan Tybor were effective without being too brusque, and his fullback and halfback colleagues were almost never caught out of position.

The Poles were a bit more expert in their short passing game than the Los Angeles Danes, but not nearly so potent.

Colombo, John Traina, Johnny Barrale, Frank Wallace and Spica performed well for the defeated St. Louisans, but the team, generally, did not function as well as it has in other seasons.

Ending Was Different

PERCY BASSETT, taking a nine-count in the first round, came back to win by a technical knockout in the tenth and final round over SERAPHIN FERRER, featherweight champion of France, in their Sunday bout in Paris. Bassett, Philadelphia veteran who was interim featherweight champion while Sandy Saddler was in service, floored Ferrer twice in the ninth round and once in the tenth before the match was stopped.

Two at Indiana Draw Forfeit Of Year's Play

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — Two Indiana University basketball players were ordered by the Big Ten today to forfeit one year of intercollegiate competition for taking part in a basketball tournament at Chicago earlier this month.

The two are Charles Brown and Paxton Lumpkin, former high school stars at DuSable of Chicago who earned freshman numerals at Indiana this year.

In making the decision, Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, however, said if Indiana faculty representatives are petitioned for an excuse of the violation, he would indorse such a petition "because of extenuating circumstances." He said in his letter to Indiana officials he recognized existence of "definite extenuating circumstances." Wilson added:

"The boys were unaware of the rule (which they violated by playing) but had shown some diligence in making inquiry as to whether or not it was proper for them to compete and had been given assurances by the sponsors of the tournament, whom they could presume were well informed, that their status would not be jeopardized."

Brown and Lumpkin, stars of the 1954 DuSable team which finished second in the Illinois state high school tournament, played in a tourney sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union April 9. Admissions were charged to the event.

Giants' Winning Run Scored On Short Fly to Furillo, Who Thought It Was Third Out

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 25 (UP)—Outfielder Carl Furillo and Manager Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers took the blame today for a pair of boners which gave the struggling New York Giants a big psychological lift when they needed it most.

It is hardly likely that the 1955 pennant race will hinge on the Giants' 10-inning, 11-10 victory over the Dodgers yesterday. But even Manager Leo Durocher agreed that the triumph was a "tonic" to his Giants, who have been beset with shaky pitching, a weak bench and a poor start in defense of their world championship.

"This was one game they won't forget for a while," Durocher chortled in the dressing room. The feeling among the Giants players was that by taking two of the three games in the series, they exploded the impression of invincibility the Dodgers had created in their 10 straight getaway victories.

Furillo conceded the Giants what turned out to be their winning run with a mental lapse in the top of the tenth inning. With Al Dark on third with one out, Hank Thompson lofted a medium-depth fly to Furillo. The Dodger right fielder, thinking he had caught the third out, jogged toward the infield with the ball in his hand while Dark raced home with New York's eleventh run. That later proved the decisive tally when Brooklyn scored five times in its half of the inning.

"I'm stupid, go ahead and tell me I'm stupid," Furillo said to reporters before they even could question him after the game. "I could have gotten Dark at home. I thought it was the third out."

Alston didn't think Furillo could have prevented Dark from scoring, but he admitted he guessed wrong when he let Billy Loes pitch to Catcher Ray Katt of the Giants in the top of the tenth with one out and men on second and third. Katt lashed a 3-1 pitch for a homer that touched off New York's six-run outburst.

At that time, Durocher had used up every reserve but a few pitchers. Had Katt been walked intentionally to load the bases, Durocher said he would have sent Pitcher Johnny Antonelli up to pinch hit for Jim Hearn.

"We talked about it on the bench and decided we'd rather pitch to Katt than to Whitey Lockman," Alston said. "If we'd have loaded the bases, Antonelli would have had to hit into a double play to keep Lockman from coming to bat. From the way it turned out, it looks like we should have walked Katt."

Durocher, who before the game was irked for some unexplanable reason and would not reveal his lineup either to the public address announcer or to the press, bubbled joyously after the victory.

"You know, it hurt them more to lose this game 11-10 than if the score had been 11-5," he said. "It bothers you to come that close and still lose. The way it happened it'll give them something to think about."

Bassett Gains T.K.O. in Paris

PARIS, April 25 (UP)—Percy Bassett of Philadelphia yesterday defeated French lightweight champion Seraphin Ferrer on a technical knockout. The Frenchman's manager threw in the sponge in the tenth and last round of their non-title bout.

A partisan crowd of 12,000 which jammed the open-air Parc Des Princes Stadium, saw Bassett win with a two-fisted attack in the closing rounds after trailing on points in the early going.

Ferrer, who started well, went down for counts of five and nine in the ninth round during which he was saved by the bell.

Liston Signed To Fight Brtko In 10-Rounder

Charles (Sonny) Liston, St. Louis heavyweight boxer, has been signed to box Emil Brtko, of Pittsburgh in that city on May 5, Frank Mitchell, his manager, announced today.

Liston stopped Marty Marshall, Detroit, on the Teamsters' program at the Auditorium last Thursday night to avenge the defeat which Marshall had hung on him previously.

The opportunity for Liston to get the Brtko contest came when the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission ruled out Bob Satterfield, Chicago veteran, as an opponent for the Pittsburgh youngster.

"Disparity in experience and the records of the fighters and the consequent conclusion that Brtko would be overmatched in meeting Satterfield at this time," was the reason given the United Press by Paul G. Sullivan, member of the Commission.

Cockell Down to 212 After Hard Workout

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., April 25 (UP)—British Empire Champion Don Cockell sparred five rounds yesterday in a stiff workout in preparation for his world heavyweight title fight with Champion Rocky Marciano.

Cockell, working before 300 spectators, looked strong and threw hard punches. He boxed four rounds with Ron Harmon, a 210-pound London heavyweight and went one round with Bill Mathis, from Oakland, Calif.

Cockell's manager said the heavy is shedding weight rapidly and is down to 212 pounds. He expects to scale 208 for the fight.

Manchester Winner In County Opener, 9-1

Bad weather didn't stop Manchester yesterday in the County Baseball League. Four home runs made things easy for Roger Brauss, Manchester pitcher, who held visiting Olivette to four hits in a 9-1 victory.

Lyn Brommelsick, Bob Ludwig, Roy Baker and Jerry Hawkins whacked the home runs for Manchester. Brauss had two hits.

Seven other County League openers were postponed.

Harper Wins Virginia Open; Ed Furgol Ties for Fourth

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 25 (UP)—Dapper, unassuming Chandler Harper today credited his first major golf triumph in 14 months to terrific iron play that made him "bogey proof."

Playing his irons so well that he almost never left himself with a long putt, Harper stormed home an easy winner in the Virginia Beach Open tournament yesterday and a record-breaker to boot with a 72-hole total of 260—16 strokes under par.

"The irons did it," said the 40-year-old former P.G.A. champion from Portsmouth, Va., who scored his last victory in the Texas Open in February 1954.

Harper, who earned $2400 for his triumph, headed into the final round tied with Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill. Harper sailed over the final circuit with five birdies, 13 pars and not a bogey anywhere for a five-under-par 64, but Oliver was able only to match par 69 and dropped back to finish in third place.

Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., three strokes behind Harper at the start of the last round, shot a four-under-par 65 and wound up four strokes behind at 264 to take second place. Mayer earned $1800 and Oliver $1400.

United States Open champion Ed Furgol of St. Louis tied for fourth place at 266 with Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill. The two stars are not related.

At 267 was Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake and tied at 269 were Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles. Pete Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, was alone at 270 while Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, Ind., was tied with Ted Kroll of Utica, N.Y., at 271.

At 273 were Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del., Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y., and Avery Beck of Kinston, N.C. At 274 was Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., while at 275 were Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., Paul Maguire of Wichita, Kan., and John Serafin of West Pittston, Pa. At 276 were Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., Gardiner Dickinson of St. Andrews, Ill., and Jack Fleck of Davenport, Ia.

Eintracht Club U.S. Champion On Late Goals

LOS ANGELES, April 25 (UP) The Eintracht Club of New York captured the National Open soccer championship yesterday on two goals by Johnny Pinezich in the final six minutes in a contest with the Los Angeles Danes. The score was 2-0.

Pinezich, a recent graduate of Penn State and a sub center forward, booted the goals a minute apart before 6000 fans at the Rancho Cienega Stadium.

Alan King, former English professional First Division star, had a goal disqualified in the first period because the Danes' goalie Sven Engedal, was knocked out of position on King's body charge, a follow-up to his high shot in.

The lineups:

Castellani Is 5 to 1 Choice Over Varona

NEW YORK, April 25 (UP)—Rocky Castellani, who would like another shot at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown, makes one of his infrequent eastern appearances tonight when he battles Chico Varona of Cuba in a scheduled 10-round bout at St. Nicholas arena.

The Luzerne (Pa.), fighter, who now makes his home in Cleveland, is an overwhelming 5-1 favorite for the widely-televised (Dumont) bout.

Another widely-televised (ABC) fight topight will bring together featherweights Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles and Lulu Perez of New York at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway arena. Garcia, who is ranked sixth in the division, is a 2-1 favorite for this 10-rounder. (The bout will be televised by KTVI).

Sports Clinch Rugby Title

The Sports earned a trip to Canada for a match there by clinching the second-half and over-all titles in the Missouri Rugby Football Union yesterday with an 11-0 victory over the Ramblers at Forest Park. The Sports have a 7-0 record with only one game to go.

SENIOR PRELIMINARY DESIGN ENGINEERS
Must be able to rapidly create and develop designs of major systems for large aircraft. Direct and evaluate various design approaches. Co-ordinate and prepare design proposals. Must have recognized creative ability. Ten or more years of progressive responsible aircraft design experience.

DESIGN ENGINEERS
Experienced in airframe design.

FLIGHT ELECTRONIC ENGINEERS

DYNAMICS ENGINEERS

THERMODYNAMICS ENGINEER

STRUCTURES ENGINEERS

WEIGHT ENGINEERS

MATHEMATICAL ENGINEERS

RESEARCH ENGINEERS
Degree in metallurgy. Minimum of 3 years experience involving ferrous and/or non-ferrous metal, preferably in aircraft.

ENGINEERING ARTIST

TECHNICAL ILLUSTRATOR

Welu Tops Quintet With 640

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 25 (AP)—The St. Louis Budweisers' bid for an American Bowling Congress team championship came to grief last night, when the quintet hit 2961, failing to make the first ten.

Brentwood Bowl, another St. Louis team, had one good game, 1031 in the second, but counted only 829 and 869 in the other two for a 2729 score.

Robert Vien of Authorized Brake was the outstanding St. Louisan in the minor events. He followed a 598 in the five-man event, with 600 in doubles and 626 in singles for an 1825 all-events total.

Only one change was recorded on the scoreboard in the past three days, a 1269 doubles by Vic Anderson and John Gilchrist, of Camden, N.J., for tenth place on Saturday.

This trend indicates the probable scoring potential of the rest of the tournament, for most of bowling's big names have had their chances. Standings switches in the remaining 42 days will probably be few and far between.

Len Van Rooyan of Sioux City, Ia., had a fine opportunity to make the all events standings yesterday but failed. He had a 677 in the team firing and a 658 in the singles but slipped to a lowly 477 in the doubles and totaled only .812, missing the top ten by 88 pins.

Pfeiffer's of Detroit continues to set the team scoring with a 3136 total while Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee has held his singles lead of 738 since the third day of the tourney. Other leaders include Harry Zoeller and George Pacropis, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 1365 in the doubles; Fred Bujack, Detroit, 1993 in the all events, and the Fighting Irish of Dayton, O., 2795 in the booster standings.

Schmidt Hurls Omaha to Win

OHAMA, April 25 (AP)—Omaha and Indianapolis split their American Association doubleheader yesterday, Omaha winning the opener, 5-2, but dropping the second, 1-0.

Denver went on a 14-hit rampage to subdue Louisville 13-5 in the first game of their doubleheader, but Al Schroll bested three Denver pitchers in the nightcap to give the Colonels a 4-3 victory.

Willard Schmidt's 5-hit, 7-strikeout performance carried the day for the Cardinals in the first game. Omaha jumped on Southpaw Dick Tomanek for four runs in the fifth inning to wrap up the victory.

The 11-inning nightcap featured a pitching duel between Indianapolis' Hank Aguirre and Omaha's Stu Miller. Aguirre lasted until midway of the eleventh frame, when Reliefer Ted Wilks came on with the bases loaded and retired the two men he faced. Miller pitched nine strong innings. Then was lifted for a pinch-hitter. Reliefer Bob Clear gave up the game's lone run.

Home runs provided most of the excitement in both Denver games. Marv Throneberry hit a grand slam in the eighth inning of the opener to pace the Denver victory. The first three hits in the nightcap were solo homers, two for Louisville in the first two innings and one for Denver in the second frame.

Toledo-St. Paul and Charleston-Minneapolis were rained out.

By John J. Archibald

In the fickle heads of most small fry, "Hoppy" has been replaced recently by Davy Crockett as Hero No. 1, but at Webster Groves both juveniles and elders are just beginning to realize the wonders of Hoppy. This Hoppy is a baseball-type and though he doesn't ride a horse, Webster's Dick Hopkins has turned the early spring campaign into one big base-path gallop.

Hopkins, a left-handed hitting junior, has filled the only opening in the Webster High outfield and Friday he also filled the No. 4 spot in the Statesman batting order. In 23 official at-bats, Hopkins has rapped 14 hits for a .608 average.

Hopkins.

Hoppy has had two home runs, two triples and three doubles, thus half of his hits have been for extra bases. (He has a 1.173 slugging percentage.)

The new Hoppy story isn't to the effect that the husky slugger is carrying the team or anything like that, but it is the surprise element that raises eyebrows of both Coach Froebel Gaines and opposing field leaders. Established stars such as Charley James, Hank Kuhlmann, Jerry Wolff and others have been doing as they were figured while Webster was winning seven of its first eight games, but Webster foes never planned on something like Hopkins in addition.

Why Not $1.95, Coach?

Actually Hopkins gave a brief indication of his talent as a seldom-used reserve last year. In nine times at bat he had seven hits. When Coach Gaines sent out his mimeographed roster this spring, however, he didn't list Hopkins's actual average of .778 last year because he figured it would look like a typographical error. Instead he was listed at a mere .433.

Hopkins was on the Maplewood Post American Legion team last summer, but the Maplewood lineup was pretty well set and Dick usually had to confine his talents to gin rummy during the team's many train trips. He'll be eligible for Legion play again this year, along with a number of other Webster standouts.

New Beaumont Outfield.

Another coach who has had to find outfielders—three of them—is Ray Elliott of Beaumont. Elliott had to replace three power hitters in Leroy Thomas (signed by the Yankees), Pete Davis (Cleveland Indians), and Russ Oesterreich.

The new fly-chasers are Bob Brand, Kent Floyd, and Ollie Sweeney. Of the trio, Brand has done most of the hitting with his .464 average, but Elliott is satisfied with the strong defensive work of all. Floyd, the centerfielder, is especially valuable, according to Elliott.

In an effort to end a string of four years without a Public League championship, Elliott is carrying only 19 players this season. He has often uniformed as many as 35.

"This way I can drill what boys I have on the fine points and give each of them closer supervision," Elliott said. "I will probably suffer for it next season after many seniors have graduated, but we'll let that season take care of itself."

Bert Barth, whose early reputation was as a slugger, is strictly a pitcher at present. Bert is becoming a good one, but rides the bench when not hurling, because he hasn't been hitting often enough.

In winning the first seven games, Beaumont's best hitters have been Larry Goudy .467, Brand, Rich Rogers .444, Rich Krueger .333 and Art Muegler .313.

District's 'B' Track Meet At Principia

The Class B district track meet, a qualifying event for the Missouri state, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 on Principia's Taylor Field.

Preliminaries will be in the low and high hurdles, the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes and the broad jumps. Finals will be in shotput and discus.

Finals in the other events will be Saturday, with field events at 1:30 p.m. and track events a half-hour later.

Country Day is defending champion in the 15-team meet. The other entries are Hazlewood, Fairview, Hancock, Bayless, Chaminade, Thomas Jefferson, Douglass of Webster Groves, Ladue, Valley Park, Pattonville, Eureka, Mehlville, John Burroughs and host Principia.

Miss Rawls Is Tourney Winner

CARROLLTON, Ga., April 25 (UP) — Betsy Rawls today had her first victory along the golfing trail since last autumn.

The Spartanburg (S.C.) miss captured the Carrollton Open yesterday with a near-record score of 218 for the 54-hole tournament. Favored Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., finished second, three strokes behind the winner.

Miss Rawls needed only 75 in yesterday's final round to equal Miss Berg's tournament record. Hampered by high winds that blew across the course all day, Betsy took a five-over-par 77, but it still was enough to defeat Miss Berg, who had 76.

It was the Carolina pro's first triumph since the Fort Worth Open last October and netted her a $1000 check.

Jackie Pung of Cincinnati, Alice Bauer Hagge of Sarasota, Fla., and Marlene Bauer of Sarasota tied with a 74 for the best final round score.

Bracketed at 220 were Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif. Betty Jameson of San Antonio, who won last week's Texas Open, finished among the also-rans with a 235.

Another Bob Murphy In Boxing Picture

BOSTON, April 25 (UP)—Undefeated Bob Murphy of Boston's Brighton section will meet Vic Cardell of Hartford, Conn., in the featured eight-rounder at the Boston Arena May 3.

Since his release from the Army, Murphy has won seven professional fights, all by knockouts. Cardell, knocked out only once in 10 years of boxing, holds a 10-round decision over Carmen Basilio.

Japanese Star Wins World Table Tennis Singles Championship

UTRECHT, Netherlands, April 25 (AP)—Japan's Toshiajki Tanaka and Romania's 37-year-old Angelica Rozeanu won the singles titles in the world table tennis championships yesterday.

Tanaka defeated Zarko Dolinar of Yugoslavia 21-12, 21-9, 21-14 in the men's final and Mrs. Rozeanu won her sixth successive women's championship with a 21-13, 21-5 21-8 decision over Austria's Linde Wertl.

The men's doubles title went to the Czech team of Ivan Andreadis and Ladislav Stipek with a 21-10, 21-7, 21-18 victory over Dolinar and Vilim Harangozo, defending champions.

Hungary's combination of Kalman Szepesi and Eva Koczian carried off the honors in the mixed doubles, defeated Aubrey Simmons, England, and Helen Elliot, Scotland, 18-21, 18-21, 21-18, 21-16.

Mrs. Rozeanu also shared in the women's doubles title, pairing with Ella Zeller to defeat England's Rowe twins, Rosalind and Diani, 21-17, 16-21, 17-21, 21-19, 21-16.

Leah Neuberger of New York lost in the women's consolation final as Japan's Shizuijo Narahara won 21-16, 21-12 in a best-of-three match.

Summer Tan May Compete in Derby Trial

Only Three Easterners In Classic

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—It appeared today as if the East's contribution to the Kentucky Derby will be slim but potent—a three-horse contingent headed by the Belair Stud's mighty Nashua.

The returns were all in Saturday night from Jamaica, where Nashua defeated Summer Tan in a Grade "A" thriller, and from Maryland, where Saratoga easily copped the Chesapeake Stakes. No other colt showed enough to warrant the trip to Louisville where the Derby classic will have its eighty-first running May 7.

Nashua, the future book Derby favorite for weeks, turned in another tenacious, bulldog performance to catch the front-running Summer Tan in the $111,700 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

This was one of the finest horse races anywhere and it assured that Nashua will be the favorite of the Derby day crowd. Summer Tan, who wasn't disgraced a bit in the Wood, probably will rate second choice of the usual Derby crowd of some 100,000. Mrs. John W. Galbreath's speedy colt set the pace in the mile and one-eighth Wood Memorial, only to have Nashua rush up in the final jump and snatch a neck victory in a heart throbbing finish.

Nashua Beat Saratoga.

At Laurel Park, meanwhile, Mrs. Marion DuPont Scott's Saratoga trimmed 10 other three-year-olds in the Chesapeake. Saratoga is the hope of Virginia if trainer Frank Bonsal elects to send him to Louisville to meet Nashua and the others in the Derby.

Saratoga defeated Gee Cohen's Chuck Thompson by two lengths, stepping the mile and one-sixteenth in a fancy 1:43 1-5. Nashua's time in the Wood Memorial, a sixteenth of a mile farther, was also a snappy 1:50 3-5.

The longer derby route of a mile and one quarter unboubtedly will sway the decision of some trainers on whether they want any more of Nashua soon. Saratoga finished second to Nashua in the Flamingo at Hialeah, then ran a poor ninth as the Belair Express took the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Summer Tan was a slight favorite in the Wood Memorial, and Trainer Sherrill Ward said he had tentative plans to fly the colt to Louisville tomorrow.

May Go In Derby Trial.

"He came out of the race in fine shape, and I don't think he'll race again before the Derby," said Ward, although he wouldn't rule out the one mile Derby Trial at Churchill Downs May 3.

Over at Aqueduct Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons made plans to ship Nashua to Kentucky by train either Saturday or Sunday. Mr. Fitz, who has won three Derbies, said he asked Jockey Eddie Arcaro to work the horse at Churchill Downs as well as ride him in the Derby.

Ted Atkinson rode Nashua brilliantly in the Wood, subbing for Arcaro, who is under suspension until May 4.

Chuck Thompson is eligible for the Derby, as is Simmy, who ran third 25 lengths behind Nashua, and Cup Man and Door Prize, other starters in the Wood. They are safer, however, if they remain out of Nashua's way.

Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, the Santa Anita Derby winner, looms as the far west's main Derby hope, while several other starters for the Louisville classic may emerge from the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, Thursday.

Baa! Robinson Says He's Sick Of Being 'Goat'

BROOKLYN, April 25 (AP)—Jackie Robinson said yesterday he was "sick and tired of being the goat" as an explanation of his collision with Davey Williams of the New York Giants in Saturday's game.

"I got hit on the head by Steve Ridzik of the Phillies," said the Brooklyn third baseman. "Jim Hearn threw back of my head Friday night, And Sal Maglie threw at me yesterday.

"Actually I had nothing against Williams. Maglie was the guy I wanted to get even with. At the last minute, I saw Williams in the way and I decided, 'Heck, I'm not going to get out of his way. Let him get out of mine.'"

Robinson bowled over Williams after bunting on a play designed to make Maglie cover first base. Williams was out of yesterday's starting lineup because of a stiff left shoulder and Robinson was sidelined by a sore left knee. Later in the game Robinson was jarred when Alvin Dark ran into him at third base.

"At first I told Dark, 'Okay, if that's the way you want to play, that's the way it will be. Watch out the next time I come into second base,'" said Robinson. "But it's all over now, as far as I'm concerned. I'd just as soon forget all about it."

Katzenmeyer Double Victor in Table Tennis

He beat Art Fiebig, 21-10, 21-12, 16-21, 21-6, in the championship class and Les Mosier, 21-17, 21-18 for the Class A title. Katzenmeyer joined Charley Branson in the doubles but they lost to Jim Walker and Chet Lewandowski, 21-8, 21-16, 21-17.

Detroit Pin Stars Lead in Women's Meet

OMAHA, April 25 (AP)—Detroit entries continued to dominate high-scoring roles in the women's International Bowling Congress tournament yesterday.

Three motor city gals climbed over 1800 in all-events, with Anita Cantaline setting the pace with 1816.

She added 594 in singles and 572 in doubles yesterday for the whooping 650 she posted for the leading Brunswick Bowlerettes team Saturday night. Dee Wroblewski and Elvira Toepfer placed second and third with 1807 and 1802, respectively.

Toepfer nailed third in singles with a 638, edging 636 performances by Detroiters Doris Dailey and Doris Knechtges.

Wroblewski and Marie Shamlock totaled 1163 in doubles to tie for second behind Detroit's Dot Aldred and Helen Shablis, who posted 1211 Saturday.

Saturday's sizzling team action wasn't challenged seriously yesterday. Brunswick's 2885 and Acar Borach's 2850 gave Detroit a 1-2 monopoly.

Wilma Shirley paced St. Louis bowlers in the singles with a 563 series. Margaret Willson and Pauline Fick had 1011 in doubles and DuBowl Lanes, 2619, in the team event.

Al Widmar, Al Brazle Hook Up In Relief and Ex-Brown Wins

SEATTLE, April 25 (UP)—The Seattle Rainiers were alone at the top of the Pacific Coast League today after a Sunday of action so well-balanced it seemed as if it would go on forever.

The Rainiers took both ends of a doubleheader from Sacramento's erstwhile leaders, winning 4-3 in a 15-inning opener and 6-1 in the shortie.

But the 15-inning struggle was only the second longest of the day. Portland beat San Diego twice also, winning 9-5 in a regulation contest and then going 20 innings for a 3-2 win in what should have been the seven-inning game.

Everybody else split. San Francisco beat Hollywood 5-4 and then lost 6-4. Oakland topped Los Angeles 5-2 and then got whitewashed 3-0.

Seattle and Sacramento had a blazing battle between rookie Johnny Briggs and veteran Larry Jansen. It was 2-2 after nine and each team scored another in the fourteenth before Monty Basgall and Rocky Krsnich put doubles back to back in the fifteenth.

Reliever Al Widmar, former St. Louis Browns, got the win and fireman Al Brazle, ex-Cardinal, the loss.

In the second game Jehosie Heard limited the Sacs to four hits in pitching an easy win.

Portland got its record even teed off for two runs in the top of the frame.

But Eggert clouted a two-run homer in the bottom of the same frame to prolong the game and there were no more runs until the bottom of the twentieth when Russ Sullivan singled in the winning counter.

Allen (Two Gun) Gettel kept the Los Angeles Angels on his hip throughout the first game at Wrigley Field and chalked up a five-hit win. Steve Bilko and Bob Usher homered for the two Angel runs and Joe Brovia hit one for the Oaks. In the second game George Piktuzis fanned 10 and gave up five hits in blanking the Acorns. Buzz Clarkson homered for the Cherubs.

MILWAUKEE, April 25 (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced last night they had sent Pitcher Charlie Gorin to the Toledo Sox on a 24-hour recall basis.

Patty Wins Title.

PARIS, April 25 (UP)—Former Wimbledon Champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles won the men's singles in the international tennis championships of Paris by defeating Australian Davis Cupper, Mervyn Rose, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. Patty won 11 of the last 12 games of the match.

Bob Porterfield Only Slightly Injured in Fall Fielding Bunt

Porterfield, a 13-game winner for the Senators last year, was hurt in the tenth inning of the second game of the doubleheader when he slipped coming off the mound to field a bunt by Bobby Young of the Orioles.

He left the game at once and was charged with the 2-1 defeat when Hoot Evers of the Orioles, who had led off the tenth inning with a double, took third on an error and scored the winning run on Gil Coan's single. Prterfield went to the hospital for X-rays and examination by the Orioles's team physician, Dr. Erwin Mayer.

SIROKY LOSES HIGH SLOVAK PARTY JOB

VIENNA, April 25 (UP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's Premier Viliam Siroky has been dropped from the politburo of the Slovak Communist party, Prague radio announced today.

The announcement did not affect Siroky's position as Premier, though it indicated he might be on his way out.

The Prague radio said Siroky was dropped at a Slovak party congress which met in Bratislava to elect a new politburo. The four-day congress ended yesterday.

Three other officials were dropped in the Slovak party purge. They were Marek Culen, former Slovak agriculture minister; Stefan Sebesta, former vice premier of the Slovak provincial government, and Frantisek Zupa, Slovak trade union chairman.

DR. CHARLES E. COCHRAN DIES; PHYSICIAN 51 YEARS

Dr. Charles E. Cochran, a practicing physician for 51 years, died today at Park Lane Memorial Hospital of complications following a fall last Tuesday at his home, 1114 Backer street, University City. He was 75 years old.

Except for five years in Colorado, Dr. Cochran's entire medical career was spent in St. Louis. He had an office in the Paulian building, 1502 Union boulevard, for 30 years, and for the past two years maintained an office at 946 Goodfellow boulevard. Dr. Cochran was born in St. Louis and was educated in public schools here and at the old American Medical College. He was active in Masonic work.

Survivors are his wife, three sons, Robert G.; Ferguson; Paul A., Florissant, and James E. Cochran, Overland Park, Kan., and a daughter, Mrs. William M. Harris, St. Ann. Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Drehmann-Harral undertaking establishment, 1905 Union boulevard, with burial in Valhalla Cemetery.

MAN WHO STOLE TO PLAY PIN GAMES GETS TWO YEARS

Fred H. Bohnenkemper, former cashier of the Germantown Savings Bank, Germantown, Ill., was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary today for embezzlement by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham at East St. Louis.

Bohnenkemper previously had pleaded guilty of embezzling funds from the bank and falsification of records. He was arrested in February after the shortage was discovered in his accounts. His father, Fred J. Bohnenkemper, a retired school teacher, made restitution.

Judge Wham pointed out the embezzlement had been going on for several years and was not the result of impulse or need. Assistant United States Attorney Jack Morris told the court Bohnenkemper had spent most of the money playing slot machines and pinball games.

TRIAL BEGINS IN EQUITY SUIT AGAINST LICHTENSTEIN GROUP

Trial of an equity suit by American Investment Co. of Illinois against David B. Lichtenstein Sr. and several associates, over purchase of stock in Liberty Loan Corp. last July, began today in the court of United States District Judge Roy W. Harper.

The firm contends that Lichtenstein, who was its executive vice president until shortly before the transaction, negotiated on behalf of American Investment and then arranged for his own group to make the purchase.

The price paid for 184,547 shares was shown as $3,196,000. The petition asked that American Investment be permitted to buy the stock on the same terms on which the Lichtenstein group bought it. Lichtenstein still is a director of the plaintiff firm.

HENRY SCHMIDT IS DENIED BAIL, BEGINS SERVING TERM

Henry Schmidt, former business agent of AFL Teamsters Local 682, started serving his 10-year sentence for labor racketeering today after United States District Judge Roy W. Harper denied him bail pending an appeal.

Schmidt was taken to City Jail to await transfer to a federal prison. He and Peter P. Higgins Sr., who also was a business agent for the union, were convicted March 18 of interfering with interstate commerce by extorting $1800 from two pipeline contractors.

Higgins, also sentenced to 10 years, is scheduled to be taken tomorrow to the United States Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., for federal prisoners. He recently suffered a heart attack.

24,000 PERSONS ATTEND POLICE CIRCUS IN DAY

About 24,000 persons attended Police Circus performances at the Arena yesterday, with about 11,000 at the matinee and 13,000 at the night show. Total attendance at the circus so far is about 54,000.

The show will continue through Sunday evening, with nightly performances at 8 o'clock tonight through Saturday, and 6:30 o'clock Sunday, and matinees at 2 o'clock Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Eighty featured acts are included in the two-and-a-half hour show. Proceeds go to the Police Relief Association for the benefit of families of policemen killed and disabled in the line of duty.

Bandung Communique Condemns Colonialism

acquiring higher education are at present denied.

5. The Asian-African conference felt that the promotion of cultural co-operation among the countries of Africa and Asia should be directed towards (1) the acquisition of knowledge of each other's countries; (2) mutual cultural exchanges and (3) the exchange of information.

6. The Asian-African conference was of the opinion that, at this stage, the best results in cultural co-operation would be achieved by pursuing bilateral arrangements to implement its recommendations and by each country taking action on its own wherever possible and feasible.

(C) HUMAN RIGHTS AND SELF-DETERMINATION

1. The Asian-African conference declared its full support of the fundamental principles of human rights as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations and took note of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations.

The conference declared its full support of the principle of self-determination of peoples and nations as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations and took note of the United Nations resolutions on the rights of peoples and nations to self-determination, which is a prerequisite of the full enjoyment of all fundamental human rights.

2. The Asian-African conference deplored the policies and practices of racial segregation and discrimination which form the basis of government and human relations in large regions of Africa and in other parts of the world. Such conduct is not only a gross violation of human rights but also a denial of the fundamental values of civilization and the dignity of man.

The conference extended its warm sympathy and support for the courageous stand taken by the victims of racial discrimination, especially by the peoples of African and Indian and Pakistani origin in South Africa; applauded all those who sustain their cause; reaffirmed the determination of Asian-African peoples to eradicate every trace of racialism that might exist in their own countries; and pledged to use its full moral influence to guard against the danger of falling victims to the same evil in their struggle to eradicate it.

(D) PROBLEMS OF DEPENDENT PEOPLES

1. The Asian-African conference discussed the problems of dependent peoples and colonialism and the evils arising from the subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination and exploitation. The conference is agreed:

(A) In declaring that colonialism in all its manifestations is an evil which should speedily be brought to an end; (B) in affirming that subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination and exploitation constitutes a denial of fundamental human rights, is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations and is an impediment to promotion of world peace and co-operation; (C) in declaring its support of the cause of freedom and independence for all such peoples and (D) in calling upon the powers concerned to grant freedom and independence to such peoples.

2. In view of the unsettled situation in North Africa and of persisting denial to the peoples of North Africa of their right to self-determination, the Asian-African conference declared its support of the rights of the people of Algeria and Tunisia to self-determination and independence and urged the French Government to bring about peaceful settlement of the issue without delay.

(E.) OTHER PROBLEMS.

1. In view of the existing tension in the Middle East caused by the situation in Palestine and of the danger of that tension to world peace, the Asian-African conference declared its support of the rights of the Arab people of Palestine and called for the implementation of the United Nations resolutions on Palestine and the achievement of the peaceful settlement of the Palestine question.

2. The Asian-African conference, in the context of its expressed attitude on the abolition of colonialism, supported the position of Indonesia in the case of West Irian based on the relevant agreements between Indonesia and the Netherlands.

The Asian-African conference urged the Netherlands Government to reopen negotiations as soon as possible to implement their obligations under the above-mentioned agreements and expressed the earnest hope that the United Nations would assist the parties concerned in finding a peaceful solution to the dispute.

3. The Asian-African conference supported the position of Yemen in the case of Aden and the southern parts of Yemen known as the protectorates and urged the parties concerned to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

(F.) PROMOTION OF WORLD PEACE AND CO-OPERATION.

1. The Asian-African conference, taking note of the case that several states have still not been admitted to the United Nations, considered that for effective co-operation for world peace membership in the United Nations should be universal and called for the Security Council to support the admission of all those states which are qualified for membership in terms of the charter. In the opinion of the Asian-African conference the following among participating countries which were represented in it, namely, Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libya, Nepal and a unified Viet Nam, were so qualified.

The conference considered that the representation of the countries of the Asian-African region on the Security Council in relation to the principle of equitable geographical distribution was inadequate. It expresses the view that as regards the distribution of the non-permanent seats the Asian-African countries, which under the arrangement arrived at in London in 1946, are precluded from being elected should be enabled to serve on the Security Council so that they might make a more effective contribution to the maintenance of international peace and security.

3 U.S. BOY SCOUTS JOIN IN MARCH PAST QUEEN

WINDSOR, England, April 25 (UP) — Three American Boy Scouts joined 1000 of their British comrades yesterday to march in review past Queen Elizabeth II.

The Scouts are holders of the coveted Queen's Scout Badge, equivalent to the American Eagle Scout award. Once a year, they march past the Queen on the terrace of Windsor castle.

American Sgt. Robert L. Harper of Gettysburg, Pa., was one of a select group of Queen's Scouts presented to the Queen. He was the only American so honored and won recognition in his capacity as Scoutmaster of London Troop 18, made up of the sons of United States service men stationed here. Harper and Joey and Gerald Berry, sons of a Chosett, Ark., airman stationed here, marched in the parade.

To Striking L. & N. Employees and Their Families:

WHY PROLONG THIS STRIKE?

We are now entering the seventh week of the strike called by the national officers of the ten unions representing the non-operating employees.

The conditions are distressing. You and your family are being hurt. The communities served by the railroad, the mines and factories and farms, are suffering severe losses. Your Company, on which you depend for a good living, is being hurt and when the strike is over, there will be fewer jobs. We have made every reasonable effort to have the strike stopped so that we can go back to work.

Now we learn that false rumors are being circulated concerning the L. & N. management and its policy.

The first is that the L. & N. employees have no contract and they should stay away from work until a contract is signed. False.

The second is that the L. & N. wants "to break the unions." False.

The truth is that there are general collective bargaining agreements covering working rules, wage rates, etc., signed and in effect between the L. & N. Railroad and its employees. While these contracts have not been amended to include the benefits recommended by the President's Emergency Board covering the seven paid holidays, extended vacation periods, and health-and-welfare insurance, those benefits have been granted by the management and are now in effect. The L. & N. Railroad has repeatedly offered to include them in the present contracts. The L. & N. will do this at any time the general chairmen will agree.

The rumor that the L. & N. wants "to break the unions" is completely false. The L. & N. has been dealing with the unions representing its employees on a very friendly basis for many years. The L. & N. has made every effort to settle the present controversy with the national officers as well as with the general chairmen on the L. &. N. property. The L. & N. stands ready and willing to deal with the unions of your choice and the officers you select.

The Southern State Governors requested that the controversy be settled by neutral arbitrators, and in the meantime the strike be called off. This Company has agreed to that request with the understanding that a contract be signed in advance by the unions and the railroads, agreeing to abide by the arbitration. Such a contract would be just as binding on both parties as an agreement that might be written after arbitration. The Company has agreed to make the settlement retroactive to the date of return to work and that condition would also be included in the arbitration contract.

Is there any good reason for prolonging this distressing strike?

President

STOCKS CLOSE UP AFTER MARGINS BOOST SELL-OFF

President Eisenhower's Plan for Atomic Powered Peace Ship Stirs Atomics, Shipbuildings.

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—The stock market staged a good rally today and closed higher afte rselling off sharply at te start following a boost in margin requirements.

The Federal Reserve Board raised margins to 70 per cent from 60 per cent late Friday. Stocks immediately sold lower at the opening today.

Improvement began to appear toward the end of the first hour, and then the rally got underway in the steels, motors, railroads, and atomic stocks.

Associated Press averages of 60 stocks closed up .5 of a point at 165.3. Similar gains were shown by the industrial stock index and rail index while utilities rose .4 of a point.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 1.34 points higher at 426.86 at the close. In the first hour the index lost 2.33 points. The 20 rails advanced 1.09 to 160.20 and the 15 utilities gained .27 of a point at 64.89.)

The market was 41 issues narrower than last Friday at 1210 issues. There were 543 games, 432 losses and 235 unchanged. There were 66 new 1955 higher and 19 new loans.

Stocks interested in development of atomic power for merchant ships were strong after President Eisenhower disclosed plans to send such a ship around the world on a goodwill tour. Bethlehem Steel was up around 5 points at times, and others advancing included Westinghouse Electric, Newport News Shipbuilding and Bath Iron Works.

Near-Record Steels.

Steels forged ahead as the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated production this week would reach 2,316,000 tons. The highest actual production on record was 2,324,000 tons the week of March 23, 1953, the only figure to top this week's estimate.

Among higher stocks at times were U.S. Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, American Machine & Foundry, Servel, Carborundum, Revere Copper & Brass, Santa Fe Railroad, Northern Pacific, Pan American World Airways and Royal Dutch Petroleums.

Lower at times were International Harvester, Boeing, Lockheed, Admiral Corp., Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Stromberg Carlson, Chesapeake & Ohio, Eastern Air Lines and U.S. Gypsum.

The Financial Times Index of London stocks dropped 1.2 points to 183.1 today.

This is the second time this year that the Federal Reserve has required purchasers of stock to increase the minimum amount of their own money going into a deal. On Jan. 4 margins were increased to 60 per cent from 50 per cent, and Friday after the close margins again were raised to 70 per cent. That means customers now can borrow a maximum of 30 per cent if they want to buy on margin.

The move was regarded in Wall Street as another warning against speculation in stocks on margin because of the recently expanded amount of money going into such on-the-cuffs trading.

Brokers wondered whether such a warning was justified when the amount of money used in margin speculation is small compared with the lofty level of stock market prices and with the general record level of business throughout the nation.

passed there has been no essential change in Dulles's situation.

He would enter any conference with Red China under precisely the same handicap, knowing that such a step would mean a wider breach in the Republican party. Partisan politics to one side, the whole Formosa issue has been so inflamed that the Secretary's range of negotiation in such a conference would in any event be extremely limited.

So even though it may cause embarrassment in America's relations with her allies, the Nationalist Chinese veto may be welcome. It takes the direct responsibility off the United States.

But what is becoming increasingly evident is that the United States cannot avoid negotiation in one form or another. Under the direction of Prime Minister Eden, the British Conservatives will declare for a meeting "at the summit" to negotiate on the sources of world tension. Eden has felt that whatever his own evaluation of the worth of such a conference, it is essential in the midst of a national election to try to find a settlement that will avert an atomic war.

The kind of Big Four conference contemplated by Eden would be primarily for consideration of European problems but a discussion of the conflicts in Asia centering on Formosa would certainly not be excluded. Soviet Russia could be counted on to press the claims of Communist China no matter what was written down on an agreed agenda.

To enter another conference as Dulles went to Geneva, with his lips sealed and his hands tied behind his back, would be fatal. If it is not possible to evolve a bargaining position for the United States, then it would be almost better not to enter such a conference. The position of Senator Knowland is at least logical—he wants no negotiation of any kind or condition.

Chou ran into formidable opposition at Bandung. Communist colonialism came in for attack even more severe than the "white colonialism" which, as the conference proved by its very existence, has been largely liquidated.

But Chou showed himself once again to be flexible and shrewdly resourceful. Having failed to unite the conference on a neutralist position, he seized the initiative by making the offer to negotiate with the United States on the tensions in Far East.

It was this same resourcefulness and flexibility that he demonstrated at Geneva which is why he tended to dominate that conference. He is a formidable opponent and it is foolish to underrate his capacities.

Chou does not, of course, operate under the restrictions of public opinion. As the foreign minister of a totalitarian state, he can reverse his policy overnight with little fear of repudiation.

Despite the confinements of public opinion and politics, we must somehow manage to achieve a greater flexibility in our own approach to foreign policy. This means primarily, in the view of this observer, that Secretary Dulles must show greater independence of action. He cannot expect to please everyone at home and at the same time maintain America's position of responsibility and leadership in the non-Communist world. In other words there are hazards of unpopularity which a Secretary of State must risk.

Named to Yugoslav Council.

BELGRADE, April 25 (AP)—By unanimous vote, Yugoslavia's Parliament has elected Col. Gen. Peko Dapcevic, chief of staff, a member of the powerful Federal Executive Council. The council is comparable to the cabinet. Its members have the rank of ministers.

U.S. BONDS LOWER

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — The corporate bond market was narrowly mixed today.

United States Government bonds were generally lower in slow over the counter trading. The 30-year 3¼s dipped 6-32 at 106 18-32 bid and the 40-year 3s at 100 12-32 bid were off 2-32.

United States Government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower in slow over-the-counter dealings. The 40-year 3s were steady at 100 14-32 bid, but the 30-year 3¼s dipped 6-32 at 106 18-32 bid.

Foreign dollar bonds were quiet and changes in the corporate list were generally minor fractions. Railroads tended to gain ground. Utilities and industrials were irregular. Convertible obligations declined.

New municipal bond issues slated for the auction block this week total $116,500,000 compared with $68,000,000 last week. Palm Springs, Calif., offered $1,125,000 school bonds today.

AMERICAN MOTORS REPORT

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—American Motors (Nash-Hudson) reported a net loss of $654,390 for the quarter ended March 31. The loss was after a tax recovery of $934,000.

In the preceding quarter the net loss was $5,460,088 after a tax recovery of $5,410,000.

George Romney, president, said American Motors' operations got into the black in February of this year, and that a "substantial" net profit was earned in March.

These profitable operations, he said, reflected the savings in tooling costs, overhead expenses and other economies that accompanied consolidated volume production. These earnings were not sufficient, however, he said, to offset earlier losses which were incurred primarily as a result of late introduction of new models following the consolidation of Nash and Hudson manufacturing programs.

Romney said schedules for the present quarter call for near capacity operations, and should result in profitable operations for the quarter.

BUSINESS WORLD

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—A proposal to merge Stromberg Carlson Co., radio and television equipment maker, into General Dynamics Corp., builder of submarines and aircraft, was approved Monday by directors of both firms. A spokesman for General Dynamics said Stromberg Carlson shareholders would receive one share of General Dynamics for each share of Stromberg Carlson. Stockholders of both firms will meet June 28 to vote on the proposed merger. General Dynamics directors met here and Stromberg Carlson directors in Rochester.

WHEAT CLOSES LOWER ON CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP)—Small declines were recorded in most grain contracts on the Board of Trade today. Most grains sold off at the start and never were able to make much of a recovery. Old crop soybean futures, however, were in demand, pushing above the previous close at one time.

Brokers attributed the sell off to fairly large receipts of cash grain, limited export demand and a technical setback after last week's advance.

High winds and dust were reported in parts of the southwest over the weekend but this failed to stir up any aggressive demand. Fair weather was forecast for today, tonight and tomorrow.

REFUGEE ACT CHANGES, END OF M'LEOD JOB URGED

Lehman Says Those Heading Project Think Fewer Should Be Admitted.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (UP)—Senator Herbert H. Lehman asked the Senate today to amend the "very faulty" 1953 refugee relief act and eliminate State Department security chief Scott McLeod as its administrator.

Lehman charged, in a prepared Senate speech, that McLeod and others in charge of the project take the position that the fewer refugees admitted to this country the better.

The New York Democrat made it clear his action stemmed from the dismissal of Edward J. Corsi as chief adviser to Secretary of State Dulles on immigration problems. He said Dulles "must yet fully account" for Corsi's ouster.

Dulles has said Corsi was ousted because of administrative shortcomings and because he tried to circumvent the law to set himself up as head of the refugee program. Corsi said, however, that he was fired because of a group of "intolerant" men in Congress and the State Department.

Bill Aimed at Rescue of Law.

Lehman proposed a series of amendments which would take Administration of the refugee program out of McLeod's jurisdiction and place it under a full-time State Department administrator. He said his bill is designed to rescue a law which Congress intended to be "a great undertaking in humanitarianism."

One amendment would drop a requirement that a two-year "security history" be compiled for all refugees admitted to this country. Lehman said it is almost impossible for persons escaping from behind the Iron Curtain to provide such information.

He noted that all would-be immigrants still must pass the "very severe" security requirements of the 1952 McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Job Guarantee.

Under present law, no refugee may be admitted to this country until a United States citizen guarantees that a home and a job are awaiting him. Lehman proposed that religious or other organizations be permitted to make this pledge as well as individuals.

His bill would extend the refugee program four years beyond its present Dec. 31, 1956, expiration date and provide for the entry of an additional 15,000 refugees from Spain and North Africa. Present law permits the entry of 209,000 from western Europe and Turkey.

The legislation also would eliminate the present distinction between World War II "refugees" and "escapees" from Communist countries.

CHINA SICK OF WAR, PREMIER CHOU IS QUOTED AS SAYING

TOKYO, April 25 (AP)—Shozo Murata, former Japanese Ambassador to Manila, today quoted Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai as telling him "the Chinese people are simply siik and tired of war" but "Formosa will be liberated."

Murata said Chou made the statements to him in January, when he visited Peiping for unoffihial trade talks.

"Chou told me he personally feels friendship for the American people," Murata said in an interview, "but he resents the Administration's attitude of dangling weapons before the Chinese. . . . The Chinese feel they are looking at gun muzzles in every direction."

Murata said Chou portrayed the Korea war "as simply forced on us" when United Nations troops drove through North Korea toward Manchuria.

"The Chinese have never been aggressive. They have never invaded anyone," Murata quoted Chou. "The past 100 years they have been torn by civil wars and overrun by foreign invaders. They are simply sick and tired of war—the Chinese people would never give support to any Chinese Government which tried aggression."

LONDON DAILY WORKER IN NEW MONEY TROUBLE

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—The Communist Daily Worker reported today it is in new financial difficulties. The Red organ said it had been forced to discontinue its final morning edition and to adopt an earlier printing deadline "to conserve financial resources."

"This economy, bitter as it is, still does not solve all our difficulties," the Worker added. "We call on the whole leftwing movement to make a sustained effort to increase the circulation of this paper."

The Worker, which frequently sounds such appeals for help, had high hopes of increasing sales when it was the only daily publishing during the recent London newspaper strike. But the paper's printers, whose union is anti-Communist, forced the Worker to limit its press run to the normal 80,000 copies a day.

Explosion of British Tanker.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, April 25 (UP) — An explosion aboard the British tanker Duffield yesterday killed the chief officer and injured three other crew members, two of them seriously. The 10,201-ton vessel was en route from Willemstad to nearby Bullen bay. The explosion occurred on the foredeck.

SALESMEN WANTED 83

OPPORTUNITY for ADVANCEMENT

Is greater for salesmen working for a chain organization. Every one wants to get ahead. Why limit yourself for lack of room at the top?

Our organization is expanding more rapidly than others in its field. We will soon be the leaders in United States and Canada.

During the last year 2 St. Louis men have been promoted to regional manager jobs with a $15,000 yearly salary (names furnished on request). Both of these men had less than 16 months service with us.

We need men for executive positions. If you are under 35, intelligent, neat appearing and eager to get ahead, you qualify. Compensations can be arranged on a drawing account, salary or on a commission basis, according to your needs or desires while you are preparing yourself for a better future.
Immediate earnings in the educational field are greater than in 90% of all sales positions. Several men from the St. Louis area will earn promotion in the next 12 months, why not let one of them be you.

CALL MR. BOEGER
MA 1-1398
BEFORE NOON

AMBITIOUS MEN
21 to 45 years; sincere, reliable, interested in lifetime career in sales or sale management. Car required; no traveling. Sales experience or knowledge of our business unnecessary. We thoroughly train you to assure success. Our average salesmen earn about $105 per week. Above average men earn considerably more. If qualified, promotion to sales management position assured, average annual earnings of $8000 to $12,000. Above average managers have opportunity for extremely high income for lifetime. Perhaps you are in your present position because no better opportunity presented itself at the time. This may be a real opportunity for you. Determine this by phoning Mr. Lejsek, YO 5-3713, from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mon. through Thurs. for personal interview.

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION
Has opening for 3 salesmen for St. Louis area; must have car and sales experience; if selected earnings $110 while training; 2 small sales per week will pay $12,000 yearly; our salesmen average 3 to 4 sales weekly year 'round. Interviews 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., 4467 Olive St.

ARE YOU ONE?
Unlimited earnings based on sales PLUS complete security for 2 men between the ages of 30-50, who have sales ability and creative imagination. Must have car and be willing to travel.

Business District of Clayton Has Doubled in Past 8 Years

City Planning Consultant Says Intensive Commercialization Has Produced Serious Congestion Problems.

The area of the business district of Clayton has more than doubled in the last eight years as a result of frequent rezoning of residential property to make way for rapid commercial growth, a study by the Post-Dispatch showed today.

Aproximately eight square city blocks have been added to the business district during the period and, in the opinion of Russell H. Riley, Clayton city planning consultant, such intensive commercialization has produced serious traffic, parking and other municipal problems.

Former Mayor Alfred H. Kerth, attorney, saw no detrimental results from the extensive zone changes. "I don't think they are sufficiently dangerous to cause any damage," he said.

Traffic Congestion.

Traffic congestion in off-peak hours has resulted principally because the commercial district has grown too large for shoppers to walk from one store to another, it was said.

As the result of zoning revisions, the commercial zone covers an area between Hanley road on the east, Brentwood boulevard on the west, Maryland avenue on the north and Sappington street on the south.

Of six important rezoning ordinances passed by the Board of Aldermen since 1947, three have been enacted over the opposition of Riley. The board will hold a hearing tomorrow at 8 p.m. on the most recent request for zoning revision, affecting the northwest corner of Brentwood and Clayton road. The application seeks a modification of the present commercial zoning law to permit erection of a three-story building to house a bank and offices and to provide off-street parking facilities.

13 Rezoning Ordinances.

Since the present business boom hit Clayton in 1947, the aldermen have passed 13 ordinances rezoning residential areas to commercial use. Estimated cost of new commercial construction since 1945 on these and other tracts is $10,746,500, or 49.9 per cent of all new construction in the city.

Major Zone Changes.

Five major zone changes are: a strip along both sides of Meramec avenue north of Maryland, extending about two blocks in 1948; an area of city-owned property between Topton way and Gay avenue on the south side of Maryland in 1950; five and a half square blocks south and east of the original business district in 1952; northeast corner of Carondelet avenue and Brentwood in 1953, and an area three blocks long between Brighton way and Crandon drive on the north side of Maryland in 1953.

Riley said the most significant of these was the rezoning in 1952 of the L-shaped, five-and-a-half-block area south of the original business district.

A part of it lies between Hanley and Bemiston avenue, reaching from Sappington to an alley between Forsyth boulevard and Carondelet. An adjoining portion lies between Sappington and Bonhomme avenue and extends from Bemiston to an alley between Meramec and Brentwood. Some office buildings have been built, or are under construction there.

The extent of commercial zoning has been "very liberal," Riley said in view of Clayton's area of about two and one-half square miles. He pointed out strong measures to provide off-street parking facilities, wider streets and restrictions on zoning have not been taken.

Alderman William B. Milius has opposed rezoning of many residential properties to commercial use in the Clayton Board of Aldermen. His voice often is the only one raised against the measures.

"I believe there should be a moratorium on all rezoning until the city has employed an outside firm of experts to give us a master plan on how the city should move on the problems of zoning, traffic and parking," he said.

Like Topsy.

"There has been no planning in our rezoning," Milius added. "It has grown like Topsy. Each rezoning ordinance is based on the one preceding it and many of them constitute spot zoning."

It was his view that rezoning residential property to commercial use has done "tremendous harm" to the city. He said residential property values have dropped, traffic and parking bottlenecks have developed and the cost of municipal services has increased sharply despite little increase in population.

Mayor Jule A. Schweig agreed with Kerth, that commercialization has been "good" for the city.

"I feel residential values will stay high for years to come," said Kerth. "New home buyers have been created among the personnel of business firms that have located here."

The Mayor said the recent trend toward office buildings rather than retail stores will help to stabilize the city's economy.

Additional Levels for Lot.

He acknowledged parking and traffic problems have become serious in the city and said: "I hope we can solve the parking problem by building additional levels at the lot now operated by the city south of the courthouse."

Schweig agreed with Milius that rezoning of additional residential property for commercial use should be halted. "We have all the commercial area we need," he said. "From now on, rezoning should be limited to minor adjustments within commercial areas."

"Clayton," Schweig concluded, "is the envy of every other community in St. Louis county."

REFINERY MAKES 4 OZ. OF WATCH OIL A WEEK

ELGIN, Ill., April 25 (UP)—A little refinery here modeled after those in the country's oil centers produces four ounces of the world's most expensive oil each week.

The oil, valued at $7650 a gallon, is a joint produce of research by the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Elgin National Watch Co.

Two drops of the lubricant are the eight-hour ration of watch workers who must use it, and they are enough to smooth the 18,700 jeweled bearings in 1100 watches.

The little refining unit, contained in 10 square feet, has an annual output of four gallons. It's enough to lubricate all the watches manufactured in the United States each year, with enough left over to oil a few thousand alarm clocks.

Research men rate the oil, officially termed LT 71, a giant step forward from the traditional timepiece oils such as neatsfoot and porpoise jaw. It required 16 years of intensive research.

The oil was discovered while the laboratory men were trying to improve M-56b, another oil, and has shown marked resistance to cold.

For this reason, it is expected to be of special value to military operations in the Arctic, since it flows efficiently at temperatures of 100 below zero or colder.

LOCKHEED INTERVIEWERS NOW IN ST. LOUIS

For interview phone Lockheed Representatives John Sarachman and Robert Hawkins at MAin 1-4600 in St. Louis, Monday, April 25 and Tuesday, April 26, between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Why Lockheed in California offers better careers to

Design Engineers

The largest and most diversified development program in the history of Lockheed is under way. It augments Lockheed's production program which already has 13 models of aircraft on assembly lines.

46 major development and production projects are in motion at Lockheed. They cover virtually the entire spectrum of aeronautical endeavor.

The Design Engineer's role is particularly important in this expansion program—because Lockheed stresses Design far more than other companies.

1. No other field of engineering at Lockheed exceeds Design in responsibility or salary.
2. Virtually every engineering executive at Lockheed has a Design background
3. The Design Engineer at Lockheed makes major decisions on engineering problems—after weighing the requirements of the other specialized engineering groups which contribute to the successful development of a plane.

Added to Lockheed's diversified activities, these facts mean more scope for your ability, more opportunity for promotion, more job security with so many projects constantly in motion.

IMMEDIATE OPENINGS FOR:
Design Specialists
Design Engineers "A" and "B"
Associate Engineers—Design
Jr. Engineering
Draftsmen "A"

TO ENGINEERS WHO LACK AIRCRAFT EXPERIENCE:
Aircraft experience is not necessary to join Lockheed. It's your engineering degree and general engineering experience that count. Lockheed adapts your training and ability to aircraft work through its Engineering Transitional Program. Naturally, you receive full pay during the Transitional Program.

Lockheed increases engineers' salaries

Salaries, rate ranges and overtime benefits have been increased. In addition, employee benefits add up to approximately 14% of each engineer's salary in the form of insurance, retirement pension, etc.

LIFE IN SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
Design Engineers work better at Lockheed because they live better at home. Year 'round sunshine, mild temperatures and scenic beauty of the San Fernando Valley provide the ideal background for modern living.

GENEROUS TRAVEL AND MOVING ALLOWANCES
Lockheed pays virtually all moving and travel expenses for you and your family to Burbank, California. Lockheed interviewers have the details.

First Play in Runyon Series Misses Mark

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, April 25.

IF THERE'S any more valuable property for television than Damon Runyon's treasure trove of stories, I can't think what it is. But translating them into television is not going to be easy, as demonstrated by the first one, "Pick the Winner," on display last week.

JOHN CROSBY

"Pick the Winner" is a very good story, indeed, and I settled down to have a very good time of it. But somewhere the sparkle, the snap, the peculiar Damon Runyonesque twist had gone out of it. I suppose the essence of Runyon lies in his point of view, which is decidedly different from just about everyone else's. There's a carefree disregard for law and morality which is one of Runyon's great charms for the rest of us who are constantly hemmed in by those conventions. In a Runyon story, the characters can shoot one another, or rob one another and no one cares very much. Mayhem and larceny are very lighthearted bits of business in the fantasy world of Runyon.

★ ★ ★

IT'S THAT LIGHTHEARTED, almost childlike quality that you've got to maintain or Runyon will crumble apart in your hands. Abe Burrows and Frank Loesser did it very well in "Guys and Dolls," one of the all-time great musicals. The adapter of the first of the Runyon stories on TV—and the director, too—somewhere missed. Not that it was bad; it just wasn't as good as it ought to have been.

"Pick the Winner" is about a gambler, "Lucky" Ferrar, played by Robert Strauss, and his ever-loving doll, Cutie Singleton, played by Vivian Blaine, a graduate of "Guys and Dolls." While Lucky loses one bundle after another on the horses—his pseudonym is anything but accurate—Cutie dreams of some day settling down in a white, rose-covered cottage engulfed in the respectability of marriage.

But matrimony eludes her as persistently as it did Adelaide, the proverbial fiancee of "Guys and Dolls." (I rather suspect Cutie is the inspiration for the character of Adelaide who for years had a psychosomatic cough because she wasn't married.) Somewhere along the line, Cutie and Lucky encounter a professor who is studying the psychology of gambling and who possesses a formidable skill at picking horses.

There are some shenanigans about getting a wad down on a horse that are a little too complicated to go into here and then Cutie and the professor, who, it develops, already owns a rose-covered cottage, depart together in the direction of the altar. I remember this story very well. It was a full-flavored yarn and at the end, it had a twist which made it the story it was. Runyon was always doing that—saving his little surprises for the last couple of sentences.

Somewhere in the TV version, the surprise evaporated. Vivian Blaine, looking wonderfully young and pretty, was just fine as Cutie, but I wasn't especially happy with Strauss, who seemed to be impersonating Jackie Gleason. Still, this is just the first one. There are some delightful stories on the way (the second is on KSD-TV from 10:30 to 11 o'clock tonight) and I devoutly hope they are served up with a little more reverence for the spirit of the late, lamented author.

SPEAKING OF GLEASON, I remember worrying at the time of that big deal that $11,000,000 was so much money it might well cure a comedian of ever being funny again. I'm afraid I'll have to take it all back. Gleason's shows, since that deal, have been funnier than ever. He's a marvelously talented guy, and so are his two assistants—Art Carney and Audrey Meadows.

Come-Back Club for Ex-TB Patients

St. Louis County Group Formed to Help Others in Return to Normal Living

By Mary Kimbrough

A HANDFUL of men and women, whose common bonds are dark days in the past and an uncertain future, have banded together to help hundreds of others in the same boat, many of whom aren't even aware that such help is available.

All of them, the handful and the hundreds, are former tuberculosis patients with arrested cases, now living in St. Louis county. The handful are active members of the Come-Back Club; the rest are potential members.

"There are between 700 and 800 ex-patients in the county alone," said William Bradley, the club's founder. "We want to help them, either by trying to guide them into suitable employment, helping them overcome discouragement or just getting together socially with others who have faced the same problem. We think that when they know about the club, they'll want to come along with us, not only to help themselves, but to help others, as well."

As Bradley points out, the significantly-named Come-Back Club isn't designed to help only its present members. It also has a busy program of assistance to potential future members who today are patients in tuberculosis sanatoriums. One of these days they'll have to face the same problems of finding jobs they're physically capable of handling, and getting back into a normal routine of life after time out for treatment.

The club meets at 7:30 p.m. the last Thursday of each month in the St. Louis County Health Department, adjacent to the County Hospital. All former patients who have been given medical discharges are eligible for membership.

"One of the important phases of our work," said Club President Richard Jenkins, "is to help the 24 St. Louis County residents who are now ill in the Missouri State sanatorium at Mount Vernon.

"We want to do whatever we can to keep them happy and contented while they're in the hospital, so they won't get discouraged and homesick and become what we call 'walk-outs.' You know, there's no law that says they have to stay there, but if they do walk out and rejoin their families before they receive medical discharges, they're just endangering their own lives and endangering the health of the public.

"So we send them handicraft materials to help them keep busy, and then they can sell the finished product for a little spending money. Some of those patients at the 'san' don't even have money to buy stamps, so we want to give them all the assistance we can."

As a result of the club's work thus far, Jenkins said, six St. Louis county patients have banded together to make gifts of leather which they can sell. The club recently sent them a contribution of $10 to buy the materials.

BUT when those 24 are termed arrested cases and are permitted to return to their homes, the Come-Back Club wont' forget them. Club officials encourage ex-patients to take up a hobby or a light activity of some kind until they are strong enough to look for a job. They obtained a piano for one former patient who was an excellent musician, hoping he could enjoy playing until he could get back on his feet and go out and look for work. Now, the man has started teaching piano in his own home and an entirely new career, one he had not dreamed of, has opened up for him.

Bradley also found a new kind of work as a result of his illness, one he especially likes because it helps control spread of the disease. He is an X-ray technician at St. Louis County Hospital.

Formerly employed by a wholesale fruit and produce dealer, he first became ill in 1936, and since then has spent more than five years in hospitals in three different periods of treatment.

"You feel as though the world has come to an end when you hear the news that you have tuberculosis," he said. "That's one reason I like this work. I take the chest X-ray and when the patients find out the bad news, I can encourage them a little by talking to them about the 'san' and preparing them for their hospitalization. I show them pictures of the grounds and the buildings and tell them about the parties and the good times as well as the treatment."

Jenkins, still convalescing from his illness, doesn't know yet what kind of work he will enter. A welding foreman before he became ill, he is reluctant to go back to that kind of industrial work for fear he might again become an active case.

"My wife and I found out the same time that both of us had tuberculosis," he said. "We had to go to the sanatorium and leave our five children behind. Fortunately, I owned my home and my mother could care for the children or I don't know what we would have done.

"It was hard for us, but we went into the hospital knowing that we could be cured and could come home again."

ANOTHER leader in the Come-Back Club is Clarence Parsons, who spent approximately a year in the Missouri State Sanatorium. A construction worker before he became ill, he is out of the hospital, but as yet unable to look for work, and his wife is working until he can get a job.

Bradley, who founded the Come-Back Club in 1951, also has been a leader in a state organization of former patients, and personally wrote 1800 letters to ex-patients asking them to seek legislative support of expanded facilities at the Mount Vernon institution.

"But as important as that is, we feel the work with arrested tuberculosis cases is just as vital," he said. "We know what it's like to leave your family and give up your job in order to seek treatment. We know what all of these men and women have gone through, and if we can help them re-establish themselves in the community, we will have done a great deal.

"But we also have another dream, and that's a center where former patients could be put to work. Maybe it would be a craft shop, where they could follow a hobby. Or it would be a wonderful thing if we could establish a factory where men and women who have gone through the same rough times could work together and earn a living for themselves and their families. That would mean a good future instead of the uncertainty they face now.

"The important thing is to keep them busy and happy. Inactivity is one of the worst things for a former tuberculosis patient. He sits and broods and worries about what will happen to him and his family.

Fix It Yourself

Warm Weather Problems.

MAYBE, what with all those bombs they've been shooting off all over the world, things will be different this year, but our guess is that spring will bring summer and summer will bring warm, humid weather to a large portion of this fair land. Warm, humid weather, of course, means all sorts of headaches around the house unless you've made the necessary provisions.

Bureau and desk drawers are almost sure to stick a bit in summer unless you coat all the wood with shellac or varnish and then apply a coat of wax or paraffin to the edges of the drawers. The same thing goes for window sashes, but here the cure is to either paint or coat with linseed oil the edges of the sash and rub some paraffin or wax in the groove of the frame where the sash moves.

Doors are apt to become sticky and hard to work at this time of the year, and the remedy is to be sure that all four edges of the door are well protected with paint. This goes for inside doors as well as outside doors and for screen doors as well as ordinary doors.

Water pipes, cold-water storage tanks, water pumps and flush tanks are apt to sweat in warm weather and make the basement damp and mess up floors. Water pipes and storage tanks can be insulated with insulation made for this purpose. For flush tanks there are special liners that can be placed inside the tank to prevent the sides sweating, pans that fit under the tank to catch the water from the sides and pipe it into the bowl, and special pipe hookups that run hot water into the tank to prevent the sweating.

FIND out what your partner wants most from marriage and work to satisfy it, says James Worksham in his "Art of Persuading People." Hosts of marriages are wrecked because of neglect of this simplest of all rules of persuasion. For instance, women—far more than men — desire to hear "I love you." This surely requires no superhuman effort.

Louis Lyons says in Nieman's Reports in the best article on journalism I have ever read that journalistic writing moves on active verbs, next on objective nouns, lastly on adjectives. In creative writing you can stop and describe the scenery with adjectives, etc., but in journalistic writing, you can't. You must follow what the Queen said to Alice in Wonderland, "Begin at the beginning, go on to the end, then stop." I'm doing that right now.

Answer to Question 3.

Read the biographies of the leading men who have made and are making the world in which you live. The best I've read in years is Grove Patterson's "I Like People" — the delightful autobiography of a man who rose from newsboy to president of the Toledo Blade and was voted by his colleagues "the best news editor in the United States." Rich, stimulating, informing.

What Is an Inferiority Complex?

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

EVERY sane person has some feelings of inferiority. There is, therefore, a real truth as well as a facetious jibe, in the remark that "An inferiority complex is sometimes just a sound set of values."

A child understands, as early as he can understand anything, his own inferiority and inadequacy. In the beginning he can't even eat without help. Someone has to put his food in his mouth. When he can walk, he can't open the door because he isn't tall enough to reach the knob. He can only stand and yell until somebody comes to his rescue.

What is an inferiority complex, then? Inferiority feelings become a complex when they get tied up with a lot of unrelated feelings and irrelevant ideas and when they begin to influence the individual in all sorts of ways that have nothing to do with his actual inferiorities. Such a complex is unpleasant as it is common. Albert thinks he may have one, but he isn't sure.

1. I don't like competition and always try to avoid it.

2. People have sometimes insinuated that I carry a chip on my shoulder.

3. I have occasionally felt that I got into trouble by being over-critical of others.

4. I have to resist a temptation to boast or brag about myself.

5. I am eager for compliments or words of appreciation.

6. I get into arguments frequently and often am carried away by them until I begin to talk loudly and even denounce the other person.

7. I am much more easily embarrassed than are most people I know.

8. I worry greatly about little things I have said or done that no one else seems to consider important.

9. People claim I am over-sensitive and take offense when none is intended.

10. I live in the future to a considerable extent and day-dream more than I really think I ought to.

★ ★ ★

ALMOST ANYONE would answer yes to one or two of those, and it would probably be unimportant, but if you have to answer yes to four or five of them, the chances are you have let your feelings of inferiority get the best of you. What are you going to do about it?

First, admit frankly to yourself that of course you are below average or inadequate in some respects. Everyone is. This is called "facing reality."

Then list the things that you can do better than others. Be sure you compare yourself with all others of your own age. Pick out a few of your strong points that are most useful and work to improve them. Don't expect to transform yourself in a week. Be satisfied with gradual improvement.

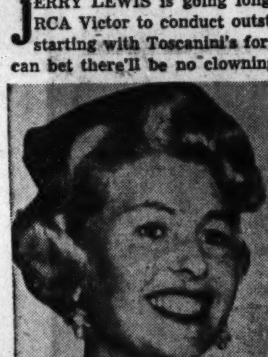

That's really all there is to it.

HELEN TRAUBEL writes that she starts rehearsing her Broadway play, "Pipe Dream," written by Rodgers and Hammerstein, in September. This is a far cry from the Met, but Helen has conquered several new worlds since leaving opera.

Bob Crosby called to say his wife June is home from the hospital but confined to bed, so he is still chief cook and bottle washer. In the evenings Bob has written a song called "Learn to Pray Every Day." "And I also signed my daughter Kathy's TV contract because she's under age, and at school in Switzerland," he concluded his report.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

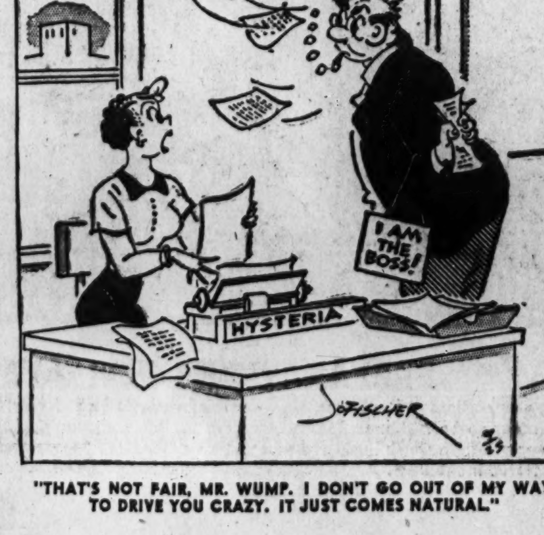

A MAN from Milwaukee, high among the Alps in Switzerland, decided to try some of the famous Swiss cheese in its native habitat. The waiter at the inn he was patronizing didn't understand much English, but the Milwaukee gent put on an elaborate pantomime, explaining precisely the kind of cheese he wanted—holes and all.

"Ach, ja!" beamed the waiter finally, and hurrying off to the kitchen, came back with a slab of rich, succulent cheese that made the Milwaukee citizen gurgle with delight.

"Ja, ja," agreed the waiter. "Iss very special, this cheese. Iss what you call eemport. We get him all the way from Wisconsin!"

Crying at Night

By Frances Ilg, M.D., and Louise Ames, Ph.D.
Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

"MY 17-month-old boy poses me quite a problem every now and then," a mother writes. "Ordinarily we have very little trouble with him. He has very regular habits: Sleeps 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.; eats well; plays happily alone or with others. He was quite irritable for a few months until he learned how to walk at 16 months, and feed himself at 13 months. He likes to be independent.

"He has just about a free run of the house and plenty of room to explore and amuse himself. He has been fussy teething; he now has 16 teeth and is cutting his molars. He has been quick in learning to talk and is starting to put words together. All this is by way of background.

"THIS IS WHAT baffles me. Every few weeks he has a siege of several nights when he is absolutely impossible. He wakes up and screams inconsolably for hours. I never let him cry for more than a few minutes when he wakes up like this; but I can find no way to comfort him except to stand holding him. He won't accept a bottle; doesn't want to be changed. He just wants me to stand and hold him—all night! Even if I sit down with him he bellows indignantly. A night light doesn't help. I've tried giving him a cuddly toy to take to bed with him. He welcomed it, but a week or so later the same thing happened.

"I know that certain things bother him: The sound of airplanes, the sound of a high wind, a sudden change to colder weather. But I can't do anything about these! When he acts this way, I am actually helpless. He fights so violently that I literally can't put him down. If this occurred regularly, I would attribute it to habit, but it is a very occasional thing and never happened until he was 14 months old. For that reason I haven't tried to scold him or let him 'cry it out.' I would certainly appreciate any suggestion you might have. Is this something that I can help him through or is it normal for a child his age? There is a new baby on the way so I am doubly anxious to keep my little boy happy."

★ ★ ★

FIRST OF ALL we would note that your son seems to be developing very normally and at a good rate. Also all new phases of behavior do seem to bother him briefly as they come in—walking, feeding himself, cutting his teeth. Thus you can believe that this is only a somewhat temporary problem which should before too long resolve itself. Night waking of this type is quite common between 15 and 21 months and often drops out after that.

Since he is so sensitive to sounds, you might try letting him sleep with his windows closed, though probably this will not make too much difference.

Once he is awake it is best to go to him as soon as he cries. Then you do, of course, have to figure out things that will quiet him. Try food other than a bottle—food which he can clutch in his fist as he cries, such as crackers or dried fruit. Often you can get such a child interested in lights, or in water play.

You might find that he might be less demanding if someone other than you would go to him—that is assuming that you could get him to accept another person.

Start of Fund Raising for Polio Fight

By Victor Cohn

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT was elected governor of New York in 1928 and four years later, in 1932, defeated Herbert Hoover for the presidency. For the first time in history, a man who could not walk had become the leader of a great nation.

Only the life of St. Ignatius of Loyola is close to his. A rich young Spanish noble of the sixteenth century, Loyola's legs were shattered by cannon fire. He turned to the Catholic priesthood, traveled lame over many countries and founded the Jesuit order.

Crippling made Loyola. Did polio make Roosevelt? The debate has already been started by his biographers. Roosevelt when he got polio at 39 was in a million things—politics, law, the insurance business, charities, hobbies, sailing, fishing. He wanted to do everything and be everything, and had a new idea every minute.

"He began to read, he began to think, he talked, he gathered people around him," his friend, Louis Howe, testified. "His thoughts expanded, his horizon widened. He began to see the other fellow's point of view. He thought of others who were ill and afflicted and in want. He dwelt on many things which had not bothered him much before. Lying there, he grew bigger day by day."

Eleanor Roosevelt calls the illness "a blessing in disguise," for it gave him strength and courage he had not had. "He had to think out the fundamentals of living" and learn patience and persistence.

His powers of self-control, already great, were hardened. Deciding on a long course of treatment, then waiting years for results, taught him to make a decision, then forget it. During the war, says Mrs. Roosevelt, this proved "a salvation."

Polio freed him from many little burdens. It made those who wanted to see him come to him. It let him escape doing anything he did not want to do. He dropped out of "society."

From the waist up, he became strong. He developed tremendous confidence. Optimism. Fearlessness.

"There are times when I doubt if Franklin might ever have been President if he had not been stricken," said Howe.

This seems most important. Whether polio made him President or not, it unquestionably added an element to his greatness. He developed compassion, understanding and feeling for the underdog, the downtrodden and afflicted. He himself became an example to all the afflicted.

Those around him never thought of him as handicapped. Friends and enemies had to deal with him as a whole man. Thus, he became an extraordinary example.

Amazingly, when he was President few Americans realized how helpless he was. His technique of public movement was like sleight of hand.

In a rare gesture, newspapers ignored his handicap. Until his last months reporters never mentioned that he used a wheelchair. Photographers shot him only in "normal" positions.

Actually, President Roosevelt was often carried from place to place by a strong attendent. At White House dinners, he was lifted from his wheelchair to the table before the guests entered.

To get out of a chair himself, he had to lift each leg with his hand, click his braces on, then—keeping his legs stiff—thrust himself up. He had to stand tilted forward a bit, delicately balanced. If he tipped too far, he would fall.

On his campaign tours he had to go through this at every whistle stop. He wore capes, indoors and out, because bathrobes and overcoats were too hard to put on. He could not get dressed or undressed alone.

Yet he was the most active President we have ever had. He went to Africa, Egypt, Iran, Russia, Hawaii and the Aleutians in wartime. He flew over oceans, conferred with Winston Churchill in mid-Atlantic, and joyfully rode tossing warships in roughest weather.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT LOOKS ON AS HIS FRIEND, BASIL O'CONNOR, CENTER, IS SWORN IN BY JUDGE E. A. CONGER AS A TRUSTEE OF THE ROOSEVELT LIBRARY AT HYDE PARK IN A 1941 CEREMONY. WHEN ROOSEVELT BECAME GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK, HE TOLD O'CONNOR: "YOU'LL HAVE TO RUN WARM SPRINGS NOW."

"Long before 1933," wrote a biographer, "he lived the words, 'The only thing we have to fear is fear itself.'"

In World War II, wherever he went he toured hospital wards. "You'll make it, brother," he would say. "Good morning doctor," he kidded a Marine lieutenant who had helped amputate his own leg at Saipan. "I understand that you are quite a surgeon. Well, I happen to be a pretty good orthopedist myself."

Adm. Ross T. McIntire—his physician from 1933 on—says you could "actually feel the wave of hope" that swept hospitals "as shattered men saw not merely the President but another human being once struck down."

Roosevelt, finally, did not stop at his own victory. He left the means for others to help themselves, too. His bond with polio sufferers remained close, and closest always with the patients at the broken-down spa where without hesitation he had plunged into the waters.

Okay, said O'Connor, and began to sharpen both the business management and the medical treatment.

Keith Morgan, a million-dollar-a-year insurance salesman became money-raiser. Warm Springs grew, and its methods grew. Franklin Roosevelt, his friends say, grew there, too. His horizon had broadened at Warm Springs in the '20s and early '30s. He talked to neighboring farmers and little business men—"Ed Doyle up there on Pine mountain," "Unc Henry Kimbrough with his little bank."

He never stopped going to Warm Springs. In 1931 he built himself a simple six-room house there, white clapboard, green shutters, rambler roses climbing the porch columns, tall Georgia pines overhead.

It became a second White House. He swam in the pool, tossed a water polo ball back and forth, then got down to work on expanding the New Deal, while the hour was ripe. He received calls there from Paris, London, Berlin, when war began threatening. He worked there and rested.

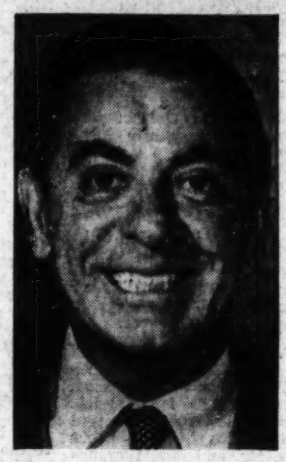

★ ★ ★

HE ate breakfast in bed, read detective stories, went to the pool for treatment, drove his little car, took a nap, made a cocktail, puttered with his stamps and visited always with fellow patients.

But when Roosevelt was elected President, the new polio center at Warm Springs was broke. Bills had been piling up. Suppliers were writing for their money, and Warm Springs could not pay for its pots and pans.

Morgan approached Carl Byoir, big-gun New York public relations man. One of his clients was Henry L. Doherty, multi-millionaire oil and utilities man, and one of the "money changers" Roosevelt was lambasting. Doherty, it was thought, might head a drive or give money or both.

At Thanksgiving, 1933, Doherty and Byoir visited Warm Springs. Some sort of celebration was discussed.

EDDIE CANTOR, WHO SUGGESTED THE MARCH OF DIMES.

"The President's birthday! A President's birthday ball held all over the country," someone said.

There are some differences in memory over who voiced the idea. Byoir generally gets credit. Byoir at any rate went to work. He had barely a few months until the President's birthday, Jan. 30. But his products were something to sell. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the country's new hero. Infantile paralysis.

In name, Doherty headed the "National Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday." Byoir did the work. He got Wiley Post, the one-eyed round-the-world flyer (who was to die in an Alaskan crash a year and a half later with Will Rogers), to zip him around the country in Post's "Winnie Mae." They hopped from city to city, distributing mimeographed puffery.

On the evening of Jan. 30, 1934, the citizens of New York, Washington, Chicago, Newark, Palm Beach, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other cities danced at the first birthday ball, Roosevelt who was 52, broadcast: "This is the happiest birthday I have ever known."

Doherty presented a check for $1,016,443 to O'Connor, proceeds from the birthday-ball celebrations. The President got thousands of letters, many from polio victims forgotten in back bedrooms for years. Then '35, '36, '37. The birthday balls got bigger. Big-city hotels and country schools furnished ballrooms.

Jan. 30 in New Deal Washington became a second New Year's eve, particularly after George E. Allen, the presidential jester, took charge in 1936. He enlarged the Washington affair to include every large hotel. Dancers overflowed into lobbies and corridors.

Allen decided the balls "needed glamour," so asked Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to send Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor. M-G-M said they were on location, and sending them "would cost us $80,000." Allen phoned W. S. Van Dyke II, the talented director, and F.D.R. admirer, and Van Dyke threatened to resign unless M-G-M surrendered.

Harlow, Taylor and Ginger Rogers arrived. Eleanor Roosevelt toured the hotels arm in arm with Ginger, behind yowling police escorts. The gracious Mrs. Roosevelt also invited the stars to the White House, and their luncheon there became an annual affair.

"This movie star thing," one of Allen's associates remembers, "grew like wildfire," The biggest stars of the day came—Jimmy Stewart, Joe E. Brown, Jeanette McDonald, Fredric March, Janet Gaynor.

IN 1937, after a few leaner years, the net proceeds again topped $1,000,000. George Allen and Morgan set out for Hyde Park to present the check to F.D.R. Their car broke down on the way, and, Allen claims: "I became the first hitch-hiker in history with a million-dollar check in his pocket."

Roosevelt was re-elected in 1936. He carried all but two states (Maine and Vermont "seceded from the Union"). Nevertheless it was a hard-fought, bitter campaign. Although the 1937 Birthday ball was again to reap more than $1,000,000, it was obvious that it was necessary to begin to dissociate the polio movement from the personality of F.D.R. As of January, 1938, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was established.

The problem in late '37, however, was to broaden the January, '38 appeal. The idea of asking people to send money to the White House had been considered. Eddie Cantor was among those who attended one meeting in Los Angeles. Cantor suggested seeking radio plugs.

"We could ask the people to send their dimes directly to the President at the White House," he said. Then he added a phrase that was to perform money-raising miracles: "We could call it the March of Dimes!"

Some disliked any further White House tie-up. O'Connor said, "Let's ask." He phoned Grace Tully, presidential secretary. "Check it with the President and see if he'll stand for it," he asked. The Boss said, "Go ahead."

Cantor put the appeal on the air. The Lone Ranger addressed small fry. George Allen told Ira Smith, White House mail chief, "You may get a trickle of dimes."

★ ★ ★

TWO days later Morgan in New York summoned Tom Wrigley, the new organizations public relations man. "Get down to Washington," he said, "We're in trouble."

There—as Wrigley tells it—Marvis McIntyre, a presidential secretary said, "You fellows have ruined the President. All we've got is $17.50. The reporters are asking us how much we've got. We're telling them we haven't had time to count it."

Wrigley suggested a switch to home-town addresses. "The damage is done," McIntyre replied. "The President has got his Dutch up and insists he'll see it through."

The next morning about 10 o'clock the White House called New York again. The first truck had come in that morning with 23 bags of mail.

"Everybody's taking a holiday," New York was told. "The mailroom is swamped. There are mail trucks and bags all over the place. Nobody can find the official mail."

There were 30,000 letters that day (compared with a normal 5000) 50,000 the next day and 150,000 the third day.

Eleanor Roosevelt could not find the replies to an R.S.V.P. invitation. Desks, offices, corridors were buried in mail sacks for days. Loose dimes were easy to handle. The troublesome ones were those fixed with gummy tape, baked into cakes, jammed into cans, imbedded in wax and glued into profiles of the President.

A total of 2,680,000 dimes was received—$268,000 worth—in this first March of Dimes.

Many of the letters bore warm personal greetings to F.D.R. Many people told how little money they had, but said they'd always be willing to give a dime for a good cause like polio. Many added, "Be sure and give my regards to the Missus."

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

EAST-WEST had much the better of the bidding in the following deal.

East, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

	♠KQJ4 ♥A105 ♦84 ♣KJ86
♠63 ♥732 ♦AQJ65 ♣1072	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠— ♥KJ864 ♦K1072 ♣AQ53
	♠A1098752 ♥Q9 ♦93 ♣94

North-South were using a weak jump overcall, but this hand did nothing to illustrate the touted shutout value of that technique. The bidding went:

East	South	West	North
1♥	2♠	Pass	4♠
4N.T.	Pass	6♦	Pass
Pass	6♠	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

It is easy to see that East-West couldn't have made the six-diamond contract—but that simply points up the case against the weak jump overcall. East unquestionably had his neck out when he overcalled the four-spade with with four no-trump, but it was a shrewd type of stretch. For all East could know, the opponents might be able to make four spades and there might be either a good save or a perfectly sound spot for East-West at the five level. Moreover, under the circumstances it was extremely unlikely that either opponent would be able to double the response West elected to make to four no-trump — the very nature of the two-spade jump would keep North from knowing whether his partner had any defensive strength, and South would be equally in the dark about North's defensive potential. West's leap to six diamonds was simply a case of putting full credence in his partner's powerhouse bid of four no-trump (which, incidentally, was not a Blackwood bid asking for aces.)

The closest question about the bidding is whether or not North should have doubled six diamonds. Certainly, he had cause to feel that the contract would be far from ironclad. When he passed, South had little choice but to save against the threatening vulnerable slam.

The outcome was that East-West collected 700 points by defeating the spade contract four tricks, whereas they could not have made their own contract against even fair defense.

Miss Whitaker Fiancee Of Louis Busch Hager

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

ANNOUNCEMENT is made today of the engagement of Miss Mary Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Clarke Whitaker Jr., of Camden, S.C., to Louis Busch Hager, son of Mrs. Webster Tilton of Cooperstown, N.Y., and Palm Beach, Fla., a former St. Louisan, and the late Louis A. Hager Jr.

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.
MRS. FLANIGAN . . . TO ATTEND WEDDING.

The engagement will be celebrated next Sunday at a small family party, which Mr. and Mrs. Tilton will attend, at the New York home of Miss Whitaker's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Clarke Whitaker III.

The wedding will take place Saturday afternoon, June 4, in the Episcopal Church of Camden, with a large bridal party in attendance. The reception will be given at the Whitaker home. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Tilton will give an elaborate dinner party, with dancing on the terrace, at Cool Spring Plantation, a colonial landmark which they have acquired for the occasion.

Numerous relatives of Mrs. Tilton, who was Miss Alice Busch, plan to go south for the event, among them Mr. and Mrs. John Flanigan, Pasadena, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Hermann, St. Louisans, cousins of the bridegroom, who will all be members of the wedding party.

Miss Whitaker, who has visited the Tiltons at their Palm Beach home, is a graduate of Garrison Forest School, Pikesville, Md., and Bennett Junior College, Millbrook, N.Y. She spent last year in Europe. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Caleb C. Whitaker of Camden and Mrs. Francis M. Coogan of Phillipsburg, N.J.

Mr. Hager is a grandson of Mrs. August A. Busch of Grant's Farm and the late Mr. Busch, and of Mrs. Louis A. Hager and the late Mr. Hager. He is a nephew of Mrs. Drummond Jones, Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein, August A. Busch Jr. and the late Adolphus Busch III.

Now serving in the Navy, with the rank of teleman, on the U.S. Fulton at New London, Conn., the bridegroom-elect is a graduate of Choate School, Wallingford, Conn., and the University of Virginia. He belongs to Chi Psi fraternity and the Racquet and Tennis Club, New York.

Mrs. Tilton has been here for a week, visiting her mother at Grant's Farm. She will depart Wednesday for New York and, after the party will return to Cooperstown. She will be in Camden for a week before the wedding in which Mr. Tilton is to be best man.

Fathers' Day at Briarcliff Junior College.

Among St. Louis fathers who made the trip were John Gamble Burton, 10048 Litzsinger road, Ladue; Karl Koehler Vollmer, 20 Upper Ladue road; Henry Belz, 53 Portland place; William O. DeWitt, 11 Upper Ladue road, and Robert McNeely Cochran, 6 Upper Ladue road. Miss Barbara Burton, Miss Mary Vollmer, Miss Mimi Belz, Miss Joan DeWitt and Miss Jane Cochran are all members of the freshman class.

Included in the Fathers' day program was attendance by fathers with their daughters at classes in the morning; a campus "field trip;" participation in a varied sports program featuring tennis, swimming and softball, and attendance at the revue, "Continental Springtime," presented by the college swimming club.

The men were guests both at a luncheon with their daughters and at a Father-Daughter dinner which was followed by an informal musical program. In the evening they attended a performance of "Father of the Bride" staged by the Briarcliff Drama Club.

Grupp-Pettibone Wedding Next Month.

THE marriage of Miss Rose-Marie Whiteside Pettibone to Ens. Frederick Grupp Jr., whose engagement was announced last December, will take place at 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of May 7 at St. John's Church, Leesburg, Va.

MISS HULLVERSON . . . TO BE BRIDESMAID.

The bride-elect, a descendant of several old St. Louis families, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Samuel Pettibone of Homewood Farm, Middleburg, Va. They will give a garden reception at their home after the ceremony.

Among Miss Pettibone's attendants will be Miss Mary Ann Hullverson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Hullverson, 4714 South Broadway. The young women, graduates of Washington University, are members of Delta Gamma sorority.

Miss Hullverson spent the Easter holidays with the bride-to-be in Chicago where she is living. A few days before the wedding Miss Hullverson will fly East to attend some of the pre-wedding festivities.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Frederick Grupp of Eddington, Bucks county, Pa., and Mrs. Twadell Grupp, attends Naval Officer Candidate School, Newport, R.I.

MEMBERS of the junior class at John Burroughs School will give their annual promenade for the seniors of the school from 9 until 1 o'clock Friday night. The gymnasium will be transformed into an elaborate setting suggested by the play, "Teahouse of the August Moon." The decorations were designed by Martha McHaney and Janet Depping.

General chairman of the prom is Wallace Ruwitch, president of the junior class and speaker of the assembly. Every junior serves on one of the committees, chairmen of which are Alice Abel and William A. Borders Jr.; Beverly Hardcastle and Roger Levy; John Gerlach; Marjorie Thieme and Alan Esserman; Carl Beckers; Sarah Straub and James G. Conzelman Jr.; Barbara Clark and Kevin Morrin Jr. and David Moran.

Chaperones will be the parents of the class officers, school administrators, the president of the Board of Trustees, parents of the designers, grade chairmen and the junior class faculty advisers.

After the formal dance an open house for the juniors will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Powell B. McHaney, 2 Ridgemoor, Clayton. The seniors will be the guests at a similar party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sim Beam, 52 Middlesex drive, Brentwood.

Married in France

THE romance of a French girl and a St. Louis boy stationed with the Army in her home town in France, culminated in their marriage there this morning. The bride is the former Miss Joelle Marie Richeux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Louis Richeux of 10 Rue Marechal Joffre, La Roche-Sur-Yon; the bridegroom is Lt. Thomas Guthrie Nangle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Nangle, 5092 Westminster place.

The ceremony, by coincidence in St. Louis Church, was performed by Father Devineau, a French priest who is chaplain of La Roche Medical Depot where the bridegroom is unit commander of the 7788th Army unit. The wedding breakfast was given in a hotel.

Letters to the Nangles from both the bride and bridegroom failed to mention the name of the maid of honor. Best man was Lt. Harold J. Traverse Jr. of Cleveland, the bridegroom's roommate for four years at John Carroll University, Cleveland. Lt. Traverse's mother and his fiancee, a Miss Touhy of Cleveland, attended the wedding and several friends of the bridegroom's family, on European trips, expected to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Nangle will meet their new daughter-in-law in the fall at which time they will be abroad.

The bride, educated in France, has studied English for seven years. Lt. Nangle, a former student at Western Military Academy, Alton, is a graduate of St. Louis University High School and John Carroll. He has one sister, Mrs. Walter C. Schmieder, and two brothers, John J. Nangle Jr. and Richard Patrick Nangle who lives in New York.

The bridegroom will be released from duty in La Roche June 1, and will be transferred to the Army comptroller's office in La Rochelle, France, as soon as a replacement arrives from the United States. After a year he plans to return with his bride to St. Louis and to attend law school.

My Day

Figures on How Much U.N. Costs Us

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.

MAY 1 is always marked as Child Health day in this country, and I have been asked to remind people to think especially on that day of children who are victims of cerebral palsy. These children are more numerous than we think, and need remembrance by the general public.

Without treatment and education they will be helpless to meet their difficult lives, and much research needs to be done in this particular area. When you are asked for your contribution during your local cerebral palsy drive, bear in mind the special plight of these particular children.

Another important contribution to the general area of healthy, normal and loved children has been made by the work of Mrs. Margaret Sanger, and the story of her life is now told in the newly published book, "The Margaret Sanger Story," by Lawrence Lader. In many areas of the world her work may not seem very important; but when you go to regions where food is scarce and populations teeming, you realize that she has tried to meet a very difficult situation. She has carried on her work in the belief that it was extremely valuable and important to mankind.

AN INTERESTING little pamphlet on the United Nations has come to me in the past few days which I want to pass on to my readers. I am often asked how much it costs us in the United States for the support of the U.N. The pamphlet gives official figures for the fiscal year of 1955, and covers the specialized agencies and such contributions as are made on a voluntary basis to the U.N. as well as the administrative budget.

The total United States contribution to the U.N. fund is $13,407,390, or 8 cents per capita. Contributions to specialized agencies are: For UNESCO $3,153,500; for WHO, FAO, ILO, ICAO, ITU, WMO and UPU (in the last three, the figures include both regular appropriations and voluntary contributions made), the total is $10,894,300, or 6 cents per capita, making in all, 14 cents per capita that we are paying. A little of this should be deducted, because the United States takes back into the Treasury about $1,800,000 in income taxes from the people working for the U.N. and an unknown amount from those working in specialized agencies.

IN ADDITION, in 1955, we made voluntary contributions to the U.N. technical assistance program. Assuming that Congress appropriated the full amount that was authorized, it would amount to $17,957,621. The U.N. reconstruction agency received $19,000,000; U.N. Children's Fund, $8,334,000; U.N. relief and works agency for Palestine refugees in the Near East (that is in the Arab countries), $23,063,250—or a total of $68,354,871, which is 42 cents per capita.

Our grand total per person per year, for 1955, was 56 cents. In contrast, our military budget is nearly $400 per person per year.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

I AM 20 years old and have been married 16 months. I have tried to make a go of our marriage, but I just can't seem to do it. His mother comes before me and we are constantly having arguments about her. I told him I want him to love his mother but that I should come first in his life. He doesn't want to do anything for me. I left him once and then came back because I thought I might be at fault, but the same thing started all over again. His mother started bossing me and trying to run our lives. She treats her son as though he were a baby. At one time I loved him very much but have no love for him now. I just pity him because he is a spineless man who will never grow up. Do you think I am doing the right thing in leaving him and trying to start over? J.K.

No, I can't say you should leave him, even though I can understand how you might lose a great deal of your love and respect for him because of his spineless deference to his mother over his wife. But you want him to love his mother and be thoughtful of her, so why not try it without those constant arguments and see if your marriage can't be a little happier? I don't blame you for being mad on occasion when you feel you're being neglected, but instead of jumping in with both feet into a family quarrel, try to hold your tongue and your resentment may fade a little. Instead of considering her your competition for his affections, make your home so happy and yourself so important to him that he will want to defer to you and grow out of the mama's boy stage.

Dear Martha:

TWO YEARS AGO a friend of ours lost her husband. She is a girl in her middle thirties and my husband and I are in our fifties. We more or less have taken her in. I am very fond of her and I have told her some personal things which she tells my husband. There isn't a day she doesn't stop by to see me. I like her and enjoy her company but I don't like people who carry tales and I find it hard to be nice to her. I believe she is just a trouble maker. JOSEPHINE.

In two years she should have overcome much of her grief and loneliness in the loss of her husband and I think you have done far more than your share to keep her so close to you for that long. But now that you have found out she isn't to be trusted, stop telling her anything you don't want broadcast, and start making excuses why you can't be at home when she wants to call. You'd be smart to ease off this close association.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Diana: The boy usually provides the transportation, even though the girl pays for the tickets. He also buys refreshments afterwards unless the girls want to carry out the backward theme throughout the evening and either go together to a restaurant where they can pay for the refreshments as a gag or invite several couples to the home of one of the girls to raid the ice box after the dance.

June brides will find many of their questions on wedding etiquette answered in Martha Carr's free pamphlet, Guide for the Bride. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Diet Experiment

By Josephine Lowman

HOW about this? Rats now are teaching us what to eat for breakfast, and I don't mean the rat (myself) who will not let you have your egg fried or allow you heavy cream on your cereal if you are overweight.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I am really writing about a very interesting experiment which was conducted recently at The Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood, N.J. This was sponsored by Mrs. Beatrice McKinley and her class in nutrition. The idea came from Dr. Julie Weber Gordon, of the New Jersey State Department of Education.

Three white rats had the leads in this little drama, which highlighted in a way the students could actually observe, the importance of good nutrition. Two of the rats were given a diet of pulverized doughnuts and coffee while the third was fed a diet consisting of orange juice, wheat and dried milk.

★ ★ ★

THE TWO RATS who ate doughnuts and drank coffee died, while the third thrived. That should make a lot of you who rush off in the morning with a skimpy breakfast quake in your boots.

Over and over again experiments with animals and humans tell us the story of what correct eating can mean in health and energy, in prolonging the youthful portion of life and appearance.

Whole grain products, orange juice and eggs, the breakfast foods, are an essential part of good nutrition. Of course, if you get adequate amounts of these during the day at other meals that is fine. But you are very apt to miss wheat and eggs unless you have them at breakfast. You are much more likely to drink your milk at other times.

★ ★ ★

SURVEYS ALSO HAVE SHOWN that there is a big mid-morning slump in energy when you go to work, or start your day's activities, without an adequate breakfast.

If you gain weight easily, or overweight is a problem, you can take your egg poached or boiled rather than fried, and add skim milk rather than cream to your cereal. Those, with orange juice, will supply you with a low calorie meal and an impressive part of the day's essential foods.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

DEAR MRS. POST: I have been dating a boy steadily for the past three months. Every time he sees me he tells me how nice I look, or that my hat is becoming, etc. I have been using the old stand-by "thank you" for an answer which is beginning to sound rather stale. What else can I say to let him know that I appreciate his compliments and that I am glad he is pleased with my appearance.

Answer: You might say, "Thank you, John, you're always so appreciative of my appearance," or "I'm very pleased that you like my hat, or dress, or whatever."

He's Got Foothold in Do-It Trend

St. Louisan Gardner Smith Invented Kit for Making Children's Sandals

By Clarissa Start

A COMEDY show recently poked fun at the do-it-yourself trend by depicting a man constructing his own violin with plywood, a cat, and instructions by Stradivari. This may be mildly exaggerated, but there is no doubt that more and more ambitious projects are being attempted by resourceful do-it-yourselfers. For instance, this summer, many a mother and father will be making shoes for their children with a do-it-yourself sandal kit so simple that the work could be done by the children themselves.

The do-it-yourself sandal kit, known as the Kan-Do, is the invention of a St. Louisan, Gardner Smith, who admits that it was the selfmade items in every other field that started him thinking.

"Shoes today are so simple, just a few straps and a sole," he says, "that it offers a wonderful opportunity for people to make them at home. I thought it would be a fine thing if I could work out a little sandal that parents could make themselves.

The result was the sandal kit which consists of foam rubber soles, leather tops and plastic laces. There are four styles available, one with a buckle type decoration, one with a butterfly bow, one with a simulated moccasin type flap front, and one, a strictly tailored sandal, presumably for rugged types. For little girls there are matching handbags. Colors range from delectable pastels to tans and slate grays.

"I made them colorful because children love color and to a child's eye, color is much more vivid," Smith says. "If you remember your own childhood, you'll recall how much more colorful the world around you seemed. I added the handbags because little girls love to have everything just like mother's and many mothers wear matching sandals and handbags."

GARDNER SMITH, ST. LOUIS INVENTOR, DEMONSTRATES HIS DO-IT-YOURSELF SHOES TO MRS. GLORIA SANDERS, HER DAUGHTER, DEANNA, AND JAMES FOX.

This is not Smith's first invention. In the shoe and leather business since World War I, he patented a successful innovation whereby non-leather heel covers could be embossed while in the plastic stage to look like various grains of leather. This was called the Kantskuf process and was put into use by the du Pont company. Before World War II, Smith was in the manufacturing business, making women's sandals, but had to sell his factory when such materials as rubber and cork were placed on the critical list.

Foam rubber, of a type developed in the past three or four years, is used for the sole of the make-it-yourself sandal.

"We use ⅜-inch soles, thicker than the average sandal sole because it keeps the child's feet up out of the dirt," Smith says. "The whole sandal is so light that it floats but maybe you'd better not emphasize that, because it'll give the kids ideas and water isn't good for leather."

★ ★ ★

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF GIRL'S SANDAL AND BAG FULLY ASSEMBLED.

And if you're too lazy to make 'em yourself, they'll sell them to you, already made up.

Smith is especially proud of the fact that his sandals are durable enough for the most active member of the stub and scuff set. He has had some experience as a parental shoe purchasing agent. Up to now his greatest claim to fame has been that he is the father of former child prodigy, Eleanor "Snooky" Smith, who made headlines and a movie in the late '30s, is now a happily married 20-year-old.

Whether Smith will be known in the future as the man who started parents shoeing their children remains to be seen. So far, his sandal kits are confined to children's sizes 8 to 12, but a Southern manufacturer has indicated an interest in buying the idea and extending the do-it-yourself plan to misses and women's sizes.

This should silence the husband who sneers, "Is that all there is to those silly shoes? Why you could make them yourself."

Before long, his wife may be able to retort, "The joke's on you, buster. I did."

International Pattern

MME. LaFAURIE is considered a true Parisian designer by Parisian designers themselves as well as by the smart, internationally known women who are dressed by her. The three-piece suit reflects her reputation for quiet elegance and clothes which are wearable, for it can be made in a variety of materials. In white linen, pique or worsted, it is especially chic with a camisole in solid color or polka dots. However, the distinction of cut and styling suggests other fabric possibilities and combinations such as taffeta, heavy silk, sharkskin or suiting wool to be worn with either a matching or contrasting camisole. The skirt, pleated in one direction, can be done easily at home, since the pattern includes all the perforations and information for doing a professional job.

The Dean Speaks Up

A Fling at Hollywood Name-Dropping

By Adele Starbird

IT has been brought to my attention, not too subtly, that what this column lacks is a bit of Hollywood gossip.

Dean Starbird

Now it happens that my family and I have had a few glancing encounters with the great of the movie industry — what the French would call the haut monde of the cinema — but modesty has thus far inhibited my indulging in the gentle pastime of name-dropping. But never let it be said that a proud reticence prevented my giving all for the column. So here goes!

Humphrey Bogart and Burgess Meredith called at my office one day. They were wearing trench coats, they were tired, and not at all glamorous. They were quiet and pleasant, well-bred and very likeable. I can't remember what we talked about during their brief visit.

I had sent word to the sororities and the independent women's groups that the two movie stars would arrive at a certain hour, and the wide staircase of the Women's Building was packed solid with girls clear up to the landing, about five abreast. Mr. Bogart and Mr. Meredith waved to the girls, but didn't have time to meet them, for which I was sorry. It seemed such a waste, if you know what I mean.

★ ★ ★

MY NEXT ITEM is the fact that the sister-in-law of my sister-in-law, Mrs. John K. Broderick Jr. of this city, is the godmother of Lucille Ball's famous baby.

I don't know what that makes me, something pretty far removed, I fear. A little like Balzac's silly references to "my cousin, the King," because his wife had a remote and unacknowledged connection with a branch of the Bourbons.

★ ★ ★

LAST YEAR my nephew John and his roommate, both juniors in college, were spending a brief vacation at a hotel with the father of the roommate. In the elevator they met Debbie Reynolds and her mother. They said they were going to the game, and would she like to go with them?

"May I?" she asked her mother.

"No," was the firm reply, "you have to study."

The boys said that they were coming back to their hotel suite after the game, and perhaps she could join them for bridge if she had finished her lessons, and to this her mother consented.

Upon their return they found a message from her: She was through studying. She might be a famous actress, but she was just a young girl subject to rules, a young girl eager to be with other young people.

THE LAST NAME I shall drop is that of Mary Wickes of stage and television fame. She has played here in "Showboat" and in "New Moon" at the Municipal Opera; she is currently on television with Ronald Colman in "Halls of Ivy."

"I am proud to know Mary. I admire her character and personality as much as her talent. She is one person whose enthusiasm is always fresh and unstudied; somehow she manages to combine effervescence with dignity and poise. She is just as amusing socially as professionally. Her success, which came almost unsought, has gone neither to her head nor to her heart.

She is coming to St. Louis with her mother, Mrs. Wickenhauser, for a visit toward the end of this month. Maybe she will give me a few tidbits of Hollywood gossip for the column!

New Tip-Top Bread

Words, Wit and Wisdom —By William Morris

The Painless Path

SURELY one of the pleasantest and easiest ways to enlarge your vocabulary is to develop an interest in the stories behind words — the strange, meandering paths followed by many of our everyday words from their earliest origins to their present-day meanings.

That very word "meander," for example, is a common item in the daily speech of most of us. How well I recall my mother urging me to "stop meandering and come straight home from school!" Years later I was charmed to learn that this same phrase might well have been on the lips of a Grecian mother more than 2000 years ago.

For, you see, our word "meander" comes quite directly (no meandering about this particular deriviation) from the Greek name of a river Malandros, which wound aimlessly through the fields of Phrygia. Thus our present-day meaning of meander —to ramble or wander idly along.

Once you develop a curiosity about how words originate and how they come to have their present meanings, you'll find—believe it or not—that the exploration of a dictionary can be great fun and far more rewarding than many other hobbies.

A number of readers have asked, as does Mrs. Robert Hubbard of Grasslake, Mich., for information about books about "where words come from and how they are made," and I am happy to be able to report on a number of excellent popular books on this subject, which the dry-as-dust scholars rather forbiddingly label "etymology."

For young people there are two excellent books, "Words," by Margaret Ernst (A. A. Knopf, New York), and "The First Book of Words," by Samuel and Beryl Epstein (Franklin Watts, New York). Each is a sound, attractive and inviting introduction to the wonderful world of words.

Grownups will especially enjoy "Word Origins and Their Romantic Stories" (Grosset & Dunlap, New York) by the dean of American language authorities, Wilfred Funk, whose monthly word game is one of the most popular features of The Reader's Digest. Here you will find thousands of fascinating oddments of word lore, served up with grace and relish by one of the acknowledged masters of the craft.

Still another Margaret Ernst book—this time with incomparable illustrations by James Thurber—is "In a Word," which, while more limited in scope than the Funk book, is no less delightful to read.

Something Different

Mushroom Sauce

Extra-rich mushroom sauce is quickly made if you add canned mushrooms to condensed cream of mushroom soup. Use about a quarter cup of the liquid from the mushrooms for diluting the soup and a little soy sauce for extra seasoning. One excellent way to use the sauce for a lunch or supper dish is to pour it over halves of hard-cooked eggs, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and paprika and heat in a moderate oven until bubbly and topping is lightly browned.

Fresh Pineapple and Grape Cup

One medium pineapple, shredded, sugar, one tablespoon fresh lemon juice, one and one-half cups white grapes or strawberries, lemon or orange ice.

Combine pineapple, sugar and lemon juice. Let stand several hours at room temperature. Arrange in sherbet glasses in alternate layers with grapes. Top each with a scoop of lemon or orange ice. Yield: six to eight servings.

Romano Cheese

Romano cheese, used widely in Italian dishes, may now be obtained in six-ounce wedge-shaped portions. Grate only as much of the cheese as you are planning to serve at the time; cover the rest tightly with cellophane wrapping or aluminum foil and refrigerate until needed

Today's Pattern

From now through the end of summer, you'll give thanks for this pretty fashion! Simple, soft—so flattering! Try a crisp cotton for busy daytime wear; in rustling silk print.

Pattern 4646: Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 takes 3⅝ yards 35-inch fabric.

Kitchen Arithmetic

Stretching Hamburgers

You can stretch that hamburger meat if you add soft bread crumbs and milk, along with your regular seasonings, to it. Make into patties and be sure to cook them slowly; these patties should be on the well-done side. Add a few tablespoons of water to the drippings in the skillet, after you have removed the cooked patties, bring to a boil and pour over the meat.

Ideal Weight

Body build is important in determining ideal weight, nutritionists say. It is necessary to take bone structure, as well as height, into consideration.

DOES
SHOW SIGNS OF NEGLECT?

Perhaps you don't need a magnifying glass to see that an unhealthy scalp condition is damaging the appearance of your hair. Just a quick glance in the mirror tells the sad tale! Your hair looks worse now than it did a few months ago—doesn't it? Continued neglect won't help it, either!

The danger signs of neglect are easy to spot: Dry, scraggy looking hair—a scalp with that "dead-man's" pallor—discomfort caused by dandruff. Heed these warning signals—do as thousands of others have done—see Thomas.

Thomas hair specialists provide a carefully planned, precise, invigorating treatment. They purge your scalp of embedded dandruff. Their energizing, stimulating treatment seems to wake up your lazy scalp—it looks rosy and vital, and feels like a million dollars!

Thomas alone offers you "know-how" based on 34 years of success—six million gratifying treatments. Come in today and see for yourself just how this reliable treatment works—and see how it can help you to have healthier hair, a happier scalp! No charge for consultation or advice (in private). Come in at your convenience—no appointment is necessary.

CHAPTER TWO

TOM ORLAND, young United States Customs inspector, was hastily changing clothes in his trailer, parked at Seaside Gardens. He was also listening intently to the confusion in the trailer park. Residents were shouting directions to the police, who were calling to each other. Sirens were sounding.

Tom smiled. He was anxious for his partner, Brad Thurston, to return and make a complete report.

"Brother, that was a close one." Brad exclaimed.

"You're telling me," Tom agreed. "I aged about 10 years while that gal was going through the trailer. Would sure have spilled the beans if I hadn't crashed out of there."

"Think she saw you?" Brad asked.

"I'm sure she didn't. I took care of the flash first. Then I rushed her, in the dark. Hope I didn't hurt the kid."

"Never mind about that now. What happened anyway? How did you get trapped?"

Tom and Brad sat down at the dining table and conversed in low tones. "Jerry and I trailed 'em all the way from Jacksonville," Tom told him. "They stopped at a little eating joint late in the afternoon. It looked like my chance. Jerry dropped me off near the trailer. No one was in sight. I got in without any trouble, the key fit perfectly.

RONNIE HALLAM, is in Florida with her aunt, MARTHA HALLAM, of whom she knows very little. While her aunt makes a phone call, Jonie parks their trailer, unlocks it and is startled by a man who runs from it.

"I laid low until they got rolling again. Then I gave the joint the old vacuum treatment. I went through that trailer inch by inch. Didn't turn up a thing. Just the usual household equipment, clothes and stuff. Not a piece of paper or a hint of anything to help us. A complete washup."

"And you didn't get a chance to ditch 'em?" Brad asked.

"Not a chance. They only stopped once after that, and then the girl didn't leave the wheel of the car. It wasn't dark and I had to stay put. I couldn't risk it. I thought I'd surely get a break when they went into the office, but only the dame went in. The rest you know."

"Well, we got nothing, but we had to try it," Brad said. "That tip we got in New York was too important to pass up. Of course, you were protected legally, but if the gal had grabbed you and held on, we'd be on a spot. They'd pull us both off the case and start all over again."

"What happened out there?" Tom asked.

* * *

asked them to call the police.

"THE gal was pretty plucky. She told the neighbors just what happened and She didn't faint or anything, but her aunt almost keeled over when she got to the trailer and found out she'd been hauling a man.

"Then bedlam broke loose as you could hear. Everybody running around in circles and getting in the way of the gendarmes.

"It would have been funny if I hadn't been so worried. We've got to walk on eggs from now on."

"Yeh," Tom agreed. "We sure will."

"She's a knockout," Brad said enthusiastically. "Got looks and class and ——"

"Yeh, I know," Tom said, "But what's she look like? I want to knew when I run into her. I didn't get much of a chance for a description."

"About 20 or 21. Brown hair, blue eyes, comes about to my shoulder. I got a good look at her in the office."

"Who's gonna work on the gal?" Tom asked.

"Not me," Brad told him. "I'll try the dame. If I can wangle a passing acquaintance. You take the Jane."

"Not me," Tom countered. "You can have her."

Brad smiled. "Wait until you see her. You may change your mind."

"I still don't want her. Maybe I can charm the Hallam dame. Maybe she's the motherly sort. I'm the good, clean American boy type that appeals to them."

* * *

BRAD'S arm shot out like lightning and he shoved Tom off the dining bench and half way across the trailer.

"Quit clowning. We've got work to do. Get out there and take a look at the gal right now, then you'll know her. If she's going to recognize you as the trailer burglar it might as well be now."

"O.K." Tom said getting up from the floor. "But I'll still give you the Jane."

"This is the pitch," Brad continued. "I'm a nut on fishing. You're a novelist. That's why we're here."

"I got it. Keep the home fires burning. I'm going out and have a look."

When Tom left his trailer, most of the excitement had subsided. A few of the residents were in groups, talking about the trailer burglar. The police had gone. Tom went to the office where Ezra Dowell, the manager, was talking to a group.

"She said he looked like a football player," Tom heard him say. "Thought he had dark hair. That's all the description she could give."

"How did he get in the trailer, anyway?" a bystander asked.

"Mrs. Hallam couldn't figure that one. Nothing in the trailer was taken as far as she could find. It's a queer one. I don't like it. Gives my place a bad name. It'll be in the paper, too," Dowell said.

Tom joined the group.

"Hi, young feller," Dowell said. "Where were you when we had the scare?"

"I guess I was asleep," Tom replied promptly. "My buddy came back and told me about it."

He listened to the conversation for a time, then said good night and walked away. Tom went to the boardwalk, and sat on the bench near Martha Hallam's trailer.

The trailer windows were open and he could see someone moving about inside. The trailer was still coupled to the Cadillac and hadn't been spotted for utility connections, but the lights had been turned on.

Tom tried to hear the conversation inside the trailer, but could distinguish only a word here and there. He got up and walked down the boardwalk. As he passed the trailer, Jonie came out.

Tom hurried back to his own trailer. "I saw the girl," he told Brad.

"I'll take her. You can have the dame."

Southern Winds to Warm the Area

Weather conditions as of 1:30 a.m., C.D.T., April 25. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Southern winds are scheduled to warm the St. Louis area tonight and tomorrow bringing temperatures to the 70s tomorrow afternoon, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren said today. A low of 55 degrees tomorrow morning was predicted.

Increasing cloudiness Wednesday accompanied by mild weather and possible showers with temperatures in the 70s Wednesday afternoon also was forecast.

High temperature yesterday was 64 degrees at 6 a.m. with the mercury dropping to 50 by 10 p.m. Low this morning was 49 at 4 o'clock, coldest recorded temperature since April 9. A total of .61 inches of rain fell in the 48-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, bringing this year's rainfall to 9.70 inches to date. Normal is 11.15 inches.

High temperature in the nation yesterday was 101 degrees at Laredo and Alice, Tex. Low this morning was 19 degrees at Mullan Pass, Mont. Missouri temperatures ranged from 43 at Kirksville to 52 at Malden this morning.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

IN THE plant kingdom, as well as in the animal kingdom, the members are divided into various groups. A large group, such as the trees, may contain smaller groups known as families.

The pines, the oaks, the laurels and the maples are among the tree families.

The highly important pine family includes members which are green during the entire year. Besides several kinds of pines, there are in the family firs, spruces, junipers, hemlocks, cedars, sequoias, larches and others.

* * *

THE LEAVES of pine trees usually have the shape of needles, and the needles range in length from a quarter of an inch to more than an inch. We are in the custom of thinking of leaves as broad, and it may seem wrong to class a pine needle as a leaf, but that is done by scientists.

It is usual for trees to have seeds in pods, or in the midst of fruit. Date trees, for example, have a sweet covering for the long seeds. Apples usually have sweet fruit around the seeds, but when we come to lemons the fruit around the seeds is sour enough!

In the maple family, the seeds are inside small objects known as wings. When the wind catches hold, the wings are likely to travel for some distance.

* * *

PINE TREES, on the other hand, produce pine cones. The seeds are located in the midst of the scales in the cone. Sometimes a pine cone is seven or eight inches long. On the other hand there are short pine cones, such as those of the short-leaf pine, only about two inches long.

LEAVES OF A JUNIPER TREE.
